SHE GOT INTERESTED.

Daughter of the Mayor of Goshen, Ind., Marries Relative of Cecil Rhodes.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Herbert Rhodes Harrison, miniature painter, a relative of Cecil Rhodes, to avoid notoriety incident to his sudden marriage with Miss Wilhelmina Walk, daughter of the Mayor of Goshen, Ind., September 22, to this city, has taken a trip to Europe. Miss Walk was originally engaged to Paul Foster, a wealthy automobile manufacturer of New York City. The marriage was to take place in New York about two months ago.

Miss Walk was on her way to New York when she was informed by a telegram that Foster had been killed in an automobile accident. She proceeded to New York to the funeral. Miss Walk then came to this city to recuperate. She met Herbert Rhodes Harrison.

As she learned of the Bohemian life Harrison had led; how he had served with Rhodes for several years in Africa and since had been painting miniatures in this country, Miss Walk became interested.

Harrison and Miss Walk went to the City Hall and took out a marriage license September 22. The following day they were married by Rev. William Bower. Now the couple have sailed for Europe for an extended tour.

M'CALL IS MUM.

He Won't Talk of the Inquiry.

It is Reported That He Has Refused to Restore Those Campaign Funds.

New York Life Insurance Company Lost on Chicago and Alton Bonds.

New Idea in Banking to be Put in Force at Chicago Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was reported today that Aty.-Gen. Mayer had made a demand upon John A. McCall that he return to the treasury of the New York Life Insurance Company the $50,000 which he contributed to the Republican campaign fund. It was further stated that McCall had peremptorily refused to make restitution. Aty.-Gen. Mayer was at his camp in the Adirondacks today and could not be reached.

McCall said to a Herald and Los Angeles Times reporter: "I do not care to discuss any matters now before the legislative committee until my testimony is completed."

Hughes in his examination this week is expected to bring to light further facts relating to the deal in Chicago and Alton 3 1-2 per cent. refunding bonds, by which the New York Life Insurance Company lost $600,000, as told in the testimony elicited before the committee last Wednesday.

It became known today that it was owing to the refusal of the savings banks of this city and throughout the State to purchase these bonds, although a bill had been jammed through the Legislature adding these bonds to the list of savings-bank securities, that the insurance company realized a loss, instead of a profit.

PASTOR MOORE'S LEAGUE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—At the conclusion of a sermon in which he denounced the management of the great insurance companies tonight, Rev. A. Lincoln Moore, pastor of the Riverside Baptist Church, announced that at a meeting to be held tomorrow in the offices of Attorney A. Judson Hyatt, in Nassau, he would head a league that would have for its object the bringing to the notice of the proper authorities the alleged misdeeds of the officials of the several insurance companies which are now under investigation by the legislative committee.

Hyatt stated that the league would request the resignation of John A. McCall and Vice-President Perkins, and also force that result and compel the officials to restore trust funds diverted to any alleged unlawful purpose.

NEW IDEA IN BANKING.
PROFIT-SHARING PLAN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An original idea in banking, a profit-sharing plan, will be put in form tomorrow when the Mutual Bank will open. Depositors and stockholders are to share alike in the profits. Under the plan which is cooperative, the bank is to pay 3 per cent. on savings deposits and 3 per cent. to stockholders, and then the profits are to be divided equally between depositors and stockholders.

Officers and directors take the position that the depositors are the backbone of the bank, and that the policy of profit-sharing will promote closer business relations between the bank and its patrons, with mutual benefit.

The organization of the new bank has been accomplished with view to inspiring public confidence through the prominence of its officers and directors. Each of the stockholders, directors and officers is identified with large business concerns and has assured standing. The Mutual starts with a capital stock of $250,000 and a surplus of $50,000.

SWITCH ENGINE'S JUMP.

Locomotive Hits Caboose on Adjoining Track and Causes Three Men's Death.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Oct. 1.—A switch engine in the yards of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad jumped the track early today and smashed into a caboose on an adjoining track. Two men were instantly killed and a third was so badly injured that he died in the hospital a few hours later.

NO "GERMAN-AMERICAN."

Politician Gets Rebuff from the Kaiser That Will Startle the United States.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An amusing story is going about at the expense of the American politician who was recently received in audience by the Emperor. This representative in drawing up the usual request for an audience, described himself as "German-American," imagining that such a designation would be pleasing to the Emperor. This, however, was not the case. The Kaiser instructed that the request be returned with a message as follows:

"His Imperial Majesty, the Emperor recognizes and appreciates highly a German or an American, but such a thing as a 'German-American,' according to the imperial view, does not exist. If, therefore, you will make your application either as an American or as a German, it will doubtless be granted."

TOKIO FIRE BURNS FOR HOURS.

STARTS IN ARMY STOREHOUSE FROM UNKNOWN CAUSE.

Twenty Temporary Buildings are Burned With Contents—Large Portion of Goods Had Been Removed. No Loss of Life—Miss Roosevelt Arrives at Shimonoseki.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Oct. 1, 6 p.m.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A fire which broke out in an army storehouse at Hiroshima at 1 o'clock this morning and burned for over three hours destroyed twenty temporary buildings, together with their contents, consisting principally of provisions and clothing. The cause of the fire is being investigated.

A large portion of the clothing having been removed to a new storehouse before the fire, the extent of the damage is believed to be comparatively slight. There was no loss of life.

MISS ROOSEVELT'S WELCOME.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Oct. 1, 6 p.m.—Miss Alice Roosevelt arrived at Shimonoseki this morning, and went aboard the steamer Minnesota without going ashore. The Minnesota left for Yokohama at 11 o'clock. Miss Roosevelt was welcomed by numerous steam launches, decorated with Japanese and American flags, and the harbor presented a lively appearance until after the Minnesota cleared.

A later telegram from Hiroshima said that the fire was still burning at 1 o'clock this afternoon. In addition to the twenty buildings containing clothes and provisions, seven others filled with fodder were destroyed. Although the buildings were constructed of light material, they contained an enormous amount of stored goods, and the structures, being of inflammable nature, the flames were difficult to extinguish, despite the desperate efforts of the troops.

The fire was discovered at 1 o'clock and spread with great rapidity. It was probably of incendiary origin. The loss in variously estimated at from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000.

TWENTY PERSONS DROWN.

HELSINGFORS (Finland) Oct. 1.—The Swedish steamer, Njord and the Robert collided Saturday evening near Hveen Island, in the Sound. The Robert sank. Twenty persons were drowned.

NO BUDAPEST PARADE.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 1.—The Prefect has issued an order prohibiting the torchlight procession which the Coalition parties and the Socialists respectively anounced yesterday would take place October 3.

HAY AND LOOMIS.

Late Secretary Had Strange Idea.

Thought Most of the Charges in the Bowen Case Were Pointed at Him.

He Disagreed With Even "Mild Censure" of His Assistant Secretary.

Correspondence on Subject is Made Public by the President.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—In correspondence between President Roosevelt and Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, made public here tonight, the President says that Secretary Hay disagreed with him on even "mild censure" of Loomis in the Taft report on investigation of the charges brought by Bowen, formerly Minister to Venezuela, and adds that Secretary Hay strongly condemned Bowen's course. The President quotes Mr. Hay as declaring that most of the charges were really against himself (Mr. Hay) "and not against Mr. Loomis at all," and that Mr. Bowen knew that. The statement made public is as follows:

"In order to make known the real facts concerning a widely-current misapprehension representing certain views of the late Secretary of State, Mr. Hay, the following correspondence was given to the Associated Press today:

"'DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

"'Washington, D. C., Sept. 25, 1905.

"'Dear Mr. President: For some time past, there have appeared in various newspapers, including some of the journals published in New York, statements more or less direct to the effect that grave differences of opinion existed between yourself and the late Secretary of State, Mr. Hay, concerning both myself and the action to be taken by you on the findings and report of Secretary Taft in the matter of the charges made against me by Mr. Bowen, a former United States minister to Venezuela. I will cite a case in point:

"'Not long ago, a responsible New York paper, to which, I am reliably informed on the best authority, Mr. Bowen has been freely offering material for use, printed the following paragraphs:

"'Practically the last official act of Mr. Hay's life was to visit the White House for the purpose of urging the President not to dismiss Bowen and to dismiss Loomis, but learning the President's mind was made up, he went away with his message unspoken.

"'Mr. Hay thoroughly disliked and distrusted him (myself,) and told the President so, but was unable to produce any effect on the President's mind.'

"Similar suggestions, more or less hostile in form, have so frequently appeared in the public prints that I am constrained to inquire whether, in so far as you are aware, they are supported by any basis of truth.

"I do not know what private conversation may have taken place between yourself and Mr. Hay concerning me and my course of conduct while connected with the public service, but I do know from Mr. Hay's own lips something of his opinion concerning Mr. Bowen, and I know full well both the unfailing courtesy with which Mr. Hay received my many suggestions concerning departmental matters and the personal cordiality which he always manifested toward me.

"In December last, I went to Mr. Hay's house and told him I expected to resign from the department within the course of the next eight or nine months. He was good enough to say: 'I am very verysorry forthis; I have always hoped you would remain in your present position as long as I remained in the Cabinet.'"

"On other occasions, both before and since that time, Mr. Hay accorded me seemingly convincing proof of his confidences.

"It may interest you to know that, at Mr. Hay's request, I spent at his home what proved practically the last hour of his life in Washington. Having upon that occasion indicated to me fully and lucidly as was his wont, what he wished my two colleagues and myself to do in the lines of departmental action and the policy to be carried out during his absence, he referred to the recent Bowen episode, with much feeling. Among other things, he said he was disgusted with Bowen beyond expression; that vanity appeared to be a disease with him, and that he was both disloyal and untruthful, and had been treacherous not only to him (Mr. Hay,) but to the country.

"In view of this conversation, to which I have adverted in the briefest possible manner, it is difficult to believe that there is any truth in either of the foregoing paragraphs which I have quoted, or any others which have been printed of similar import.

"As I am very soon to retire from the public service, I trust you will not feel that I am not unduly, or improperly trespassing on your time with this rather personal matter.

"Respectively and sincerely yours, [Signed] FRANCIS B. LOOMIS."

The President's letter is as follows:

OYSTER BAY, September 27, 1905.

My Dear Loomis: In answer to your letter of September 25, I desire to state in the broadest and most emphatic manner, that the statement you quote as appearing in certain newspapers; and especially in certain New York newspapers, as to the supposed differences of opinion between myself and the late Secretary of State, Mr. Hay, in respect to the action taken by me regarding Mr. Bowen in connection with the charges against you is not merely without foundation in fact, but is the direct reverse of the truth.

You were appointed as the Secretary of State on Mr. Hay's suggestion and request. He never spoke to me about you save with respect and cordial appreciation of the services you were rendering, and he expressed to me very great regret that you were going to leave the service, and stated that he had hoped that you would stay as long as he did, and that he would find it difficult to get any one in your place whom he would like so much.

Mr. Hay expressed himself very freely on the occasion of his last visit to Washington, as regards the action taken by me on the report of Mr. Taft concerning the charges made by Mr. Bowen against you. Not only did he express himself about Mr. Bowen to me in the language you quote him as having said at about the same time in speaking of Mr. Bowen, but he also condemned Mr. Bowen in much stronger terms than those which you quote him as having used, and dwelt particularly on the fact of what he called the treachery and disloyalty of Mr. Bowen to the government and to him (Mr. Hay,) repeating again and again that most of the charges of Mr. Bowen were really not charges against you at all, but against himself (Mr. Hay,) and that Bowen, of course, knew this.

Moreover, Mr. Hay used about Mr. Bowen stronger language of condemnation that I have ever heard him use about any other man who had served under him. But this was not all. Mr. Hay then did what he very rarely did. He expressed his strong dissent from the action I had taken in indorsing Mr. Taft's report as regards even the censure of you, which it contained, stating that he disagreed with Mr. Taft and myself on this point, and felt that you were in no way whatever censurable, and that the only action that had been called for was the dismissal of Mr. Bowen and the announcement of your entire vindication.

Very truly yours,

[Signed] THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

FOR THE "BEAUTY CUP."

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Trixie St. Clair was today chosen to represent California in an athletic competition for "the beauty cup," to be awarded at the physical culture exhibition, Madison Square Garden, October 9.

PANAMA WILL PAY HER LIABILITIES.

Republic is Prepared to Offer Colombia One Million Dollars in Full of Any Responsibility She May Bear in Latter's Foreign Debt.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Republic of Panama is prepared to offer Colombia $1,000,000 in full of any liability she may bear in connection with the $16,000,000 foreign debt which Colombia contracted while Panama was a member of the Colombian federation. Panama agrees to make this payment as the price of independence. She desires to establish amicable relations with Colombia, and to enter into commercial relations with her, and rather than contest the legality of Colombia's claims, makes this proposition.

Negotiations have been entered into looking to a settlement of the question of foreign indebtedness on this basis, and the agreement, if reached, will be made in Washington between the representatives of Colombia and Panama, the United States acting as a mediator.

The vital interest of the United States in the transaction lies in the fact that certain foreign countries are holders of Colombian bonds, and have been bringing pressure to bear to force the almost bankrupt country to meet at least part of her obligations. Panama's offer to help will serve to appease foreign creditors.

Colombia proposes, also, to offer to sell to the United States Providencia and San Andres, two islands off the coast of Panama. The Colombians feel that if the United States will pay a good price for the islands, they will be in part recompensed for the loss caused to them by Panama's defection.

INVITED BY THE CHIEF.

John Mitchell of United Mine Workers to See the President Tomorrow.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.]

SCRANTON (Pa.) Oct. 1.—By invitation, President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers will, Tuesday next, call on President Roosevelt. He does not know particularly what the President wants to see him about, but it is surmised here that it is to look over the possibility of averting a strike in the anthracite region next spring.

SULTAN AIDS GERMANY.

Right to Establish Naval Station on the Island of Thasos an Important Gift.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PARIS, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to a well-informed correspondent in Constantinople, the Sultan has granted to Germany the right to establish a naval station on the island of Thasos, and has given to a German company a concession of all mines on the island. It is added that negotiations are proceeding between the Porte and the German Anatolia Railway Company for a loan to the Sultan of $500,000 with which to cover expenses of the forthcoming jubilee and pay the State functionaries a month's salary.

It seems that Germany, whose attempt to interfere in Morocco has resulted practically in failure, is now again turning attention to the Near East. If the report that she is to have a naval station in Thasos is true, no one can foresee what complications may result.

Thasos, only ninety miles northwest of the Dardanelles, is an ideal place for such a station, and the establishment in the Egean of a center of German power would hardly be regarded with equanimity by other countries of Europe. It is feared that Germany's policy of friendship toward Turkey has at length borne fruit which will give her a preponderant position in the Near East.

BAD COLLISION ON SOO LINE.

FIVE PASSENGER CARS THROWN DOWN EMBANKMENT.

One Person Killed and Five Seriously Injured—Train Was Nearly Empty, Having Discharged Most of Its Passengers—Airbrakes on Stock Train Did Not Work.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Oct. 1.—The Soo Line passenger train from the East leaving the Union Passenger station, collided with a Chicago, Great Western fast stock train at the North-street viaduct. The force of the collision sent five of the passenger cars down a twenty-five foot embankment. One passenger is dead, and five were seriously injured, while a score or more were slightly bruised.

That no more were killed or injured is due to the fact that the train was nearly empty, having discharged the greater number of its passengers at the union station here.

The dead:

MRS. CLARA M. GROFF, Minneapolis.

The seriously injured:

MRS. DUTCH, Minneapolis.

MRS. THOMPSON.

H. S. MOORE, Montreal.

MRS. WILKINSON, Minneapolis.

MR. MARTIN, Minneapolis.

Of the injured, there are six men and two women at the hospital. Of these, it is feared two or three may die. Martin, who has a fractured skull, is in a critical condition.

Twenty were treated at the union depot by surgeons, and nearly all of them were able to go to hotels or continue their journey to Minneapolis.

W. E. Haskell, who is among those slightly injured, formerly owned the Minneapolis Times, but is now connected with a Boston newspaper.

The direct cause of the accident was the failure of the airbrakes of the stock train to work. The Soo-line passenger train had just left the depot for Minneapolis, and was crossing the Chicago, Great Western tracks, about four blocks east of the station. The track at this point runs along a high embankment. The fast Great Western stock train, coming along at a pretty good speed, struck the passenger train in the middle. The Pullman coaches were hurled over the embankment, landing upside down in a wrecked heap, twenty-five feet below. The wreckage caught fire, but it was extinguished promptly.

A squad of police and all the hospital ambulances, along with a large corps of surgeons, were on the spot in a short time, and the injured were quickly taken from the wreck to this city.

ALIMONY CUT OFF.

Reputed Divorced Wife of Los Angeles Contractor Stranded in Somerville.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON (Mass.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Beatrice Long, divorced wife of John T. Long, a Los Angeles contractor, is stranded in Somerville after spending several years traveling in Europe, owing, as she says, to her husband having suddenly cut off her allowance of $150 a month alimony last February. She says she will try to return to California as soon as possible, to fight for alimony. She was divorced two years ago, and though, at that time, the court did not order him to pay alimony, he agreed to pay her $150 a month.

She took her boy Leonard to Germany, and placed him in a preparatory school called Franklin College. She then sailed for England, but when the allowances stopped, the school directors turned out the boy and shipped him to New York. Mrs. Long hurried to America, and after locating her boy, came to Somerville, where she is now staying with her husband's niece, Mrs. James Coyne, Chestnut street.

ALAMEDA FLOODED.

Vessel Firm Upon Jagged Rocks.

Abrahamsen Goes Down to Ascertain the Extent of the Damage.

Great Hole Torn in the Floor Plates and She is Gored Amidships.

No Danger of Sinking, but She May be Pounded to Pieces by the Sea.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—With engine-room flooded and water swashing through the hold with the surge of the sea, no attempt was made today to pull the stranded liner Alameda from the reef off Fort Point. It is now practically admitted that the jagged rocks have torn a great hole in her floor plates forward, and that there is a big hole from the same cause in the bulkhead compartment abaft the enginerooom. The underwriters and owners practically have agreed to dismantle the steamer. Everything movable in the ship's furniture will be taken off, and this is a tacit admission of abandonment, although further efforts will be made to float her.

Diver Abrahamsen went down alongside this evening to ascertain the extent of injuries and her position on the rocks. As the greatest damage is to the floor plates, it will be necessary to remove the entire cargo before the full extent of the damage can be determined. About the only thing the diver could do was to fix, in a general way, her position on the rocks. She seems to be bedded firmly, and from the fact that she makes no list, it is thought that she is cradled between two rocks or ledges.

From the rapidity with which the hold has been flooded as the cargo was removed, it is thought that when she ran on the reef her floor plates forward were ripped off, and that when she settled aft, another great rock gored her amidships. If the latter is the case, to attempt to pull her off would result in ripping other plates from frames.

There was only about thirty feet of water aft when she struck, and as the stern has settled three or four feet since, the steamer is resting practically on the bottom. There is no danger of her sinking, the greatest danger is a heavy sea that will pound her to pieces. With this in mind, the work of dismantling the vessel and discharging the cargo is proceeding as rapidly as possible.

MAY BE SAVED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—There is a bare possibility that the steamer Alameda, which went on the rocks near Fort Point yesterday may be saved. Capt. Metcalfe, the local representative of Lloyds, today made an examination of the stranded vessel, and tonight cautiously admitted that there was some prospect of floating her.

Today the greater portion of the saveable frieght was removed on lighters and brought into the city. The work is proceeding tonight. Ever since the Alameda struck on the ledge during the fog, the weather conditions have been very favorable. The sea is smooth and the wind light. It is conceded that a change to severe weather would mean the immediate destruction of the steamer.

From the fact that water pours in and out of the hold with the changing of the tide, it is thought that her bottom has been badly perforated. A diver will tomorrow make an examination of the extent of the damage done, and then plans for floating the steamer will be put into effect. Thousands of persons visited the scene of the disaster.

SANTA BARBARA ASHORE.
HER PASSENGERS LANDED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—The steamer Santa Barbara, which left this port for Seattle yesterday, went ashore early this morning on the sharp rocks at Del Mar on the coast of Mendocino County. A heavy sea was running at the time, but fortunately assistance was at hand, and the sixteen passengers were quietly landed. They were brought to San Francisco, tonight on the tug Sea Foam. The crew and officers remained with the steamer. The cause of the accident has not yet been made clear.

The steamer grounded at 4:15 o'clock a.m., when all of the passengers were asleep, and the first intimation they had of the trouble was when the steward awakened them. None of the passengers knew how the steamer ran ashore. They said that when they came on deck it was dawn, and there was sufficient light for navigation.

The Santa Barbara is 600 tons and valued at $80,000. She is owned by J. R. Hanify of Sausalito, Cal. Hanify telephoned to this city tonight that he had received news from Del Mar that the Santa Barbara had been pulled off the rocks and was being brought to San Francisco by the steamers Point Arena and Pomo. She is expected early tomorrow morning. The Santa Barbara was commanded by Capt. Frank Zaddart.

FIFTEEN PERSONS DROWN.

"HSIESHO" STRIKES MINE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1.—[By Asiatic Cable.] The coasting steamer Haiesho, plying between Shanghai and Tien Tsin, struck a mine yesterday morning, ninety miles south of Shantung Promontory, and was totally destroyed. Fifteen persons were drowned, including Engineers Mauchan and Muir. The passengers and a portion of the crew were rescued by two passing steamers. Seventy-one of the survivors have arrived here. All the foreign passengers were saved.

EFFICACY OF PRAYER SEEN.

DOWIE A SHINING EXAMPLE OF HIS OWN THEORY.

Sends Message from El Paso to Flock Announcing Triumph of Mind Over Matter—"Faithless Masters" Who Stick Like Plasters May be Moved Without Disasters.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Alexander Dowie is a shining example of his own theory of the efficacy of prayer, according to a dispatch from him at El Paso, read at the Tabernacle at Zion City today. The message reads in part:

"Let me give thanks in the presence of all for wonderful personal deliverance. Smitten down last Lord's Day night with what seemed to be the hand of death we have come out of the Valley of the Shadow of Death, and seem the stronger for the trial through which we have passed. Mind has triumphed over matter, and spirit has triumphed over mind, and we realize today that the spirit of God is omnipotent."

Considering the fact that Dowie was completely paralyzed on one side a week ago, the result of overwork, the news of today made a wonderful impression on the people of Zion City. There was singing of Te Deums and great rejoicing at the services where four thousand persons had gathered to hear the word from their Overseer. With renewed ardor, they contributed of their goods to the new Mexican plantation scheme.

TAFT IN CHICAGO.

Party Did Not Leave the Cars and City, Therefore, Did Not Entertain.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—William Taft, Secretary of War, and his party arrived in Chicago this afternoon. The private cars in which the party is traveling were switched into the Harrison-street station, where they were attached to a Baltimore & Ohio special that left here for Washington at 7 o'clock tonight.

During the short stop in Chicago, none of the members of the party left the cars, and for that reason no efforts were made to entertain them as guests of Chicago.

PLATT AGAINST HIGGINS.

The New Yorker Back at His Old Stamping-grounds. Naming His Choices.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—United States Senator T. C. Platt, who arrived from Washington, said tonight, in the course of an interview: "I am against Gov. Higgins for another term."

He declined to say who is his favorite for the position.

Senator Platt said the selection of a ticket had not been decided upon.

"Who is your candidate for United States District Attorney?" the Senator was asked.

"I am for Robert C. Morris," was the reply, "first, last and all the time."

Senator Elsberg has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the district attorney's position.

"What do you think of him?" the Senator was asked.

"The President told me last night that Elsberg was not a candidate. The only other name I have heard mentioned is that of James R. Sheffield."

The Senator was asked if he had heard of the meeting between Odell and Woodruff, where Woodruff was said to have been promised the Republican nomination for Governor, next year, if he would make the run for Mayor this year.

To this the Senator replied that he had not, and added: "It is a question whether Mr. Odell could guarantee that, and even if he could, whether he would keep the guarantee."

RIKSDAG ELECTIONS.

Dissolution of Union Exercised Little Influence During Campaign in Norway.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 1.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Elections for the members for the second chamber of the Rikesdag, which were held during September, have just been concluded. The question of the dissolution of the union of Norway and Sweden exercised little influence during the campaign, the predominant factors being the extension of the franchise and the adoption of proportional representation.

The result shows a decided majority against the latter issue, indicating that there will be another deadlock in the Riksdag, as the First Chamber stands committed to the proportional system. The members of the Left have a small majority in the new chamber. The Socialists hold fourteen seats, having gained several.

PALMA'S LIFE IN DANGER.

Attempt to Drown the President of Cuba.

Wedges Driven Into Bridge Over Which He Passed.

Gomez on Way to the United States Capital.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HAVANA (Cuba) Oct. 1.—[By West Indian Cable.] An attempt to assassinate President Palma by drowning has been made. Details of the plot came out only today, however, and then by accident.

The correspondent for the New York Herald and Los Angeles Times made inquiries as to why the President was not using his special car to travel to and from Havana, as has been his custom, and was informed that recently wedges had been found driven into a bridge over which he passed, the wedges being so arranged that had his car struck them at anything near its usual speed, it would have been thrown into the water with him. Fortunately, however, the car was running slowly, and passed over the obstructions in safety.

The danger was not recognized until afterward. Since that time, President Palma has been driving the seven miles to his home, always accompanied to secret-service police. President Palma will not leave his summer home for several days.

GOMEZ ON HIS WAY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States, this afternoon said he could not believe that Gen. José Miguel Gomez, who sailed yesterday from Havana for New York, was on his way to this country to lay before the President serious allegations against the government of Cuba, bearing on the recent elections, and to ask the intervention of the United States.

Gen. Gomez, who has withdrawn as a candidate for the Presidency against President Palma, asserts that the Cuban government, by the use of force, has made the popular elections a farce in Cuba.

YELLOW FEVER IN THE SOUTH.

TWENTY-THREE NEW CASES AT NEW ORLEANS.

Three Deaths Yesterday, Making a Total of Three Hundred and Ninety-one to Date—Five New Cases at Vicksburg—Natchez Also Reports Five Sufferers.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—Yellow fever report to 6 p.m.: New cases, 23; total, 3023; deaths, 3; total, 391.

New foci, 4; cases under treatment, 227; discharged, 2405.

FIVE CASES AT VICKSBURG.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICKSBURG (Miss.) Oct. 1.—Five new cases of yellow fever, and no deaths, was the report up to 6 p.m. today. Several hundred people left the city last night and today.

FIVE AT NATCHEZ.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NATCHEZ (Miss.) Oct. 1.—Of the five new cases of yellow fever reported up to 6 o'clock p.m. today, three are white and two colored. The official report shows the total cases to date to be 97; total foci, 27; total deaths, 5; under treatment, 39.

PAY OF THE ARMY.

Gen. Dodge Points Out That Enlisted Men Can Now Save Their Money.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—The report of Francis A. S. Dodge, the Paymaster-General of the army for the last fiscal year, points out that the enlisted men have now every chance to put away money for their own savings by the deposit system, which guarantees them absolute safety. During the year, the amount deposited by the men was $1,-521,020, making the total amount since the establishment of the system, $26,-239,246.

Gen. Dodge states that the present law against permanent appointments in the staff corps and departments will result, in course of time, in all the grades in the pay department being filled by officers detailed from the line. He recommends that the law be amended so as to limit details to vacancies occurring in the grade of captain, for which captains of the line should be selected, as now, and that all grades above captain should be made permanent appointments.

The amount expended on account of the pay of the army during the year was $21,561,132.

The last complete pay schedule for the army was paid by Congress thirty-five years ago, and the report contends that it is not sufficient for the demands of our times. The fact that the army is underpaid, the report adds, makes it impossible to recruit out of such classes as might be wished.

BROKE UP PRIZE FIGHT.

NEWPORT (Ind.) Oct. 1.—Sheriff J. Stephen this afternoon broke up a prize fight by appearing at the ringside in the woods near the Indiana-Illinois State line. "Kid" Hubert of Kansas City and Carl Anderson of Hammond, Ind., the principals, were in the ring when the Sheriff appeared and announced that everybody was under arrest. The crowd of 300 made a break for the woods. Anderson and his manager, "Kid" Hennessey of Danville Ill., were handcuffed together and brought here. Hubert, who was stripped for the fight, escaped with the crowd.

DROWNED WITH HER BABE.

LEICESTER (Mass.) Oct. 1.—Mrs. Mary O'Hare of Cherry Valley, 45 years of age, walked into a pond in the rear of her home early today with her eleven-months-old baby in her arms. Both were drowned. No cause is ascribed for the tragedy.

CARPENTERS' BETTER PAY.

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—Tomorrow 6000 carpenters in Boston and vicinity will have their wages advanced 25 cents per day. The change becomes operative under a decision of Judge G. L. Wentworth of the Municipal Court, as arbitrator, about a month ago.

WIDOW IS WILLING.

Wedding Instead of Breach-of-Promise Suit, if She Soothes the Doctor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

M'KEESPORT (Pa.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The breach-of-promise suit for $25,000 brought by Dr. W. Campbell, formerly of Kansas City, against Mrs. Rose Breitenreiter, the wealthiest widow in McKeesport, will not be called for trial, according to both litigants. Mrs. Breitenreiter did not wish to go into court and have the courtship paraded before the public, hence she met Dr. Campbell with the purpose of compromising the case. The eyes of the physician conquered her for the second time, and now there is a reconciliation.

Final conditions for the settlement will be made tomorrow, and if they are satisfactory there will be a wedding instead of a sensational breach-of-promise suit. Mrs. Breitenreiter said today that she had never refused to marry Dr. Campbell, and was willing to become his bride if the preliminaries can be arranged to her satisfaction. She lives in one of the most beautiful homes of the fashionable residence district. She is the mother of four children.

Dr. Campbell says a financial consideration is necessary to soothe his feelings.

SAVED FROM THE SEA.

Sailor Charles Anderson of the Battleship Alabama Has Thrilling Fight With Death.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] To many navy men have come many startling experiences and narrow escapes from death, but one of the most thrilling adventures of all who have been rejected by the sea is that of a sailor of the battleship Alabama, flagship of the second division of the North Atlantic fleet, which, in company with her consorts, came into this port today.

One of her men was carried seventy-two feet under water by a thirteen-ton anchor, freed himself of a bowline, and rose only to strike the barnacled hull of the immense battleship. Then, strangling from the long immersion, he struck out blindly to clear himself of the hull, only to bump against the rough bottom again, and he was held there by the bilge keel. That a man should undergo such an experience and still survive seems almost incredible, but the man is alive, and was one of the first of the Alabama's crew to come ashore after the vessel had made port.

Charles Anderson, a seaman, who is described by his officers as one of the most active, willing and obedient of the crew, is the man who had the experience, and it was E. N. Wager, a companion, who dived under the keel and fetched him up unconscious.

FLASHES FROM THE WIRES

A Winnipeg, Man., dispatch says Baron Komura and party passed through Calgary yesterday. The trip toward the West has been without important incident. The train is due to reach Vancouver at noon today. Large delegations of Japanese from Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria will greet Baron Komura upon his arrival.

Peter McIntyre, a private in the Coast Artillery, was killed last night in the barracks at Fort Totten, Whitestone, L. I., by Private William Synder. The men quarreled during the day, and Snyder, early in the evening, was heard to say in a saloon near the fort that he had to hurry back to the barracks, as he had to kill McIntyre before midnight. He carried out his threat by plunging a bayonet into McIntyre's back.

An Edna, Tex., dispatch says a party arrived in town late yesterday from the Allen Pasture, where the negro Monk Gibson was located, reports that several posses are in hot pursuit and are being augmented, and a capture by midnight is deemed certain. Bloodhounds have been placed on Gibson's track. The officers will not be allowed to take possession of the negro, and the general opinion is that he will meet death at the stake. H. H. Vasley, a brother of Mrs. Conditt, the murdered woman, stated that it was the request of his father and mother, made last night, that the men be pleaded with in evept of the capture being made to spare him.

STEAD TO ZEMSTVOS.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The Chronicle this morning publishes W. William T. Stead's first speech to the Council of Zemstvos and Municipalities at Moscow. The speech was mainly devoted to the answering of objections to the National Assembly project by comparisons woth the American and British constitutions, while at the same time vigorously criticising the omissions in and defects of the scheme. Stead placed the highest value on the project, however, claiming that it was a tremendous advance toward complete liberty.

BERLIN ELECTRICAL LOCKOUT.

BERLIN, Oct. 1.—A conference of the locked-out electrical workers and their employers today lasted nearly seven hours, but so far as known no agreement was reached. Herr Von Schultze, president of the government arbitration bureau, valiantly but vainly appealed to the companies to honor the lockout, so as to accentuate the dispute. The strikers are keeping perfect order, and their committees have appointed special policemen to prevent disturbances.

"KID" M'COY'S VICTORY.

REDDING Oct. 1.—A pugilist known as "Kid" McCoy was given the decision, last night, in the eighth round against Alvaredo, who fouled by striking the referee. During the row following the announcement of the decision, a pistol dropped from a spectator's hands to the floor. It was accidentally discharged, and the bullet struck Ed Leonard in the breast, inflicting a flesh wound, but not seriously. The incident will close prize fighting in Redding.

WAGE EARNERS BUSY.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Oct. 1.—In its last quarterly bulletin published today, the State Department of Labor calls attention to a marked improvement in trade which began in the middle of 1904 and has continued uninterruptedly. The department says that now there are relatively fewer idle wage earners in New York than there were even in 1902, the most prosperous year of the decade. In the other large cities building operations are well above the average.

Honorary Member of the American Press Humorists Tells the Boys and Girls at Sunday-school a Story. Dollar Apiece to Ragged Ones.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John D. Rockefeller was the central figure, this morning, at the rally of the Sunday-school of the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church. The auditorium was filled with people, young and old, and Rockefeller spoke as follows:

"Well, boys and girls, I welcome you here with the older folks. We welcome Dr. Hagar (the assistant pastor) from his vacation, and we welcome all the others of our friends who have been with us.

"We must welcome Mrs. Rockefeller, too. She's here today. You know she has been sick and couldn't be with us for most two years.

"I don't know very much about Christian Science, but I do know that she's been taking the absent treatment; that for two years she's thought of us every day, and I'm sure we've thought of her.

"Now I want to ask the reason why we come to Sunday-school every Sunday. Is it to play marbles, boys? Do you girls come to sew baby clothes? Now tell me quick," and the Oil King stooped a little lower and became confidential.

"I'm going to tell you a story. There was once a little boy, just like you down there in the front row. He didn't like things as they were. He dreamed one night that he had made a world where there was no Sunday-school. He thought that he liked it. He thought in his sleep that it was a beautiful place, but he soon began to miss something. There was something lacking. He took the matter to heart. Somebody asked if he had made that world, 'Yes,' he answered tearfully, 'but I'll never do it again.'"

The story brought down the audience, old and young alike. The applause was deafening. The children jumped up and down in their seats and stamped on the floor.

Upon arriving at the church, he met two urchins, brother and sister, on the sidewalk. He patted each on the back, gave them a dollar apiece, and urged them to accompany him to Sunday-school, but they refused. They were clad in ragged clothes, and said they "Didn't like to be with those stuck-up kids."

ALL TAKE CHEW.

PULPIT VS. "HIGH FINANCE."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Prominent Protestant Episcopal clergymen of this city, among them the Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington, rector of Grace Church, have sided with the Rev. John Marshall Chew, whose resolution denouncing high finance was frowned down by Bishop Potter last Thursday in the diocesan convention. From the Church of the Good Shepherd at Newburg, N. Y., of which he is rector, the Rev. Mr. Chew today made public this letter:

Dear Mr. Chew: I have just read in a newspaper the text of your admirable and altogether timely resolutions, and regret to see it stated that your motion to have them adopted failed for lack of a seconder. I very seldom leave a convention before the last word has been said, but in this instance I did so because of an engagement at Grace Church. Had I been there it would have given me much pleasure to second your resolutions.

Faithfully,

[Signed] W. R. HUNTINGTON.

The fact that the Rev. Dr. Huntington is rector of the church which was formerly directed by Bishop Potter and that his congregation includes some of the wealthiest men in New York is regarded as significant.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] October 1 was ushered in with light rains and fall temperature, but at noon the sun broke through the clouds, the skies cleared, and balmy weather prevailed for the rest of the day. Pleasant days, with cool temperature, are predicted for some days to come. The maximum temperature recorded today was 76 and the minimum 46. Middle West Temperatures: Alpena, 74; Bismarck, 66; Cairo, 82; Cheyenne, 60; Cincinnati, 84; Cleveland, 74; Davenport, 72; Denver, 64; Des Moines, 70; Detroit, 72; Devil's Lake, 60; Dodge City, 70; Dubuque, 68; Edmonton, 52; Escanaba, 72; Grand Rapids, 70; Green Bay, 70; Helena, 60; Huron, 70; Indianapolis, 78; Kansas City, 70; Marquette, 74; Memphis, 82; Milwaukee, 74; Minnedosa, 58; South Platte, 72; Omaha, 70; Rapid City, 64; St. Louis, 74; St. Paul, 70, Sault Ste. JEWISH NEW YEAR.

With thousands unable to find room in the synagogues, and over thirty extra rooms rented to provide quarters for the worshipers, the second day of the Jewish New Year observance came to a close at sundown. According to rabbis in charge of the various congregations of Chicago, this was the most memorable New Year's festival ever celebrated here. The ordinary congregations of the orthodox church in this city have been swelled in the last year by nearly eight thousand persons, many of whom have come to Chicago in the last six months from Russia.

In addition to the regular services in the synagogue, the annual ancient custom of gathering at a river, where the sins of the preceding year are washed out by the purifying influence of the waters, was carried out. Over three thousand people assembled on the banks of the Chicago River, where portions of the Hebraic text and the ritual of the Mosiac law were rehearsed by the penitents.

OVERTHROW OF MADDEN.

Emphasizing its recent overthrow of Martin B. Madden in the Chicago Federation of Labor, the anti-machine faction triumphed again today, and prepared to invade the Illinois State Federation of Labor. Delegates to the State convention at Danville, October 17, were elected, all of the Madden men on the ticket being defeated. The delegates are prpared to fight any proposition that has a Madden earmark.

CONTRACT TRACTION CAMPAIGN.

Robert E. Burke and his county Democracy allied themselves with Mayor Dunne, and inaugurated a campaign to secure the adoption of his contract traction plan, and compass the destruction of the Harrison organization. Orators vied each other in telling of the beauties of the Dunne contract plan, and depravity of the men who opposed it. A climax was reached when Axel Gustafson suggested that halters be used in intimidating Aldermen who opposed the Mayor. The eagerness of the orators to praise Mayor Dunne was only equaled by their anxiety to denounce Harrison. They indulged in what they declared was the "mangling of his political corpse."

LOUISIANA COTTON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS (La.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Louisiana cotton is believed to be practically ruined as a result of a severe Gulf storm today. Sugarcane is also laid flat.

JOKE ON "UNCLE JOE."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANKAKEE (Ill.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Speaker Joseph G. Cannon was mistaken for a Methodist preacher in Tussola, when Asa Swayze stepped up to Cannon, and, pulling his coat sleeve, led him aside. He had a marriage license in his hand, and stated that he wanted to have the ceremony performed as soon as possible. The Congressman listened until Swayze was finished, and then said he could not accommodate him, as he was not a preacher.

"Why," exclaimed Swayze, "aren't you Rev. Mr. Goodspeed?"

"No," replied Cannon; "you are mistaken in the man."

GENERAL'S DEFENSE IS MERE STUPIDITY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Oct. 2.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Daily Mirror asserts that Capt. von Lossburg, who was attached to the staff of the American army in the Porto Rican and Philippines campaigns and who recently, on behalf of Emperor William, observed the British maneuvers defense from London, has sent a confidential report to the Emperor severely criticising what he alleges to be the incompetency of British generalship, characterizing Gen. French's defense of London as mere stupidity, and declaring that any continental army of 300,000 men could reach London three days after landing at Hull.

Gen. French in reply denounces Capt. von Lossburg's criticisms as worthless.

REMARKABLE ROAD ON COLUMBIA RIVER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Hill and Mr. Elliott of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific haev ordered the building of a remarkable railroad down the north bank of the Columbia River from Wallula to Portland. It is to have an absolutely down grade, with the grade going upstream not exceeding two-tenths of 1 per cent. Further than this, the curvature is to be kept within 2 per cent., and the roadbed is to be kept at least five feet above the high-water mark of 1894.

President Hill said here last night that this grade down the Columbia will enable the hauling either way of fifty full cars, loaded, in one train, whereas the most powerful locomotives can haul only fifteen carloads over the Cascade Mountains. A large part of the freight for Puget Sound will be hauled down the Columbia and north from Vancouver, though that route is 100 miles longer than the direct route across the Cascades.

President Hill snubbed the State Railroad Commissioners yesterday, declining to meet Commissioners Fairchild and McMillin, directing that they must discuss traffic matters with his traffic officials.

North Coast Railway Company has been incorporated at North Yakima by Tacoma, Seattle, Yakima and Spokane men, including former Gov. McGraw and James A. Kerr, one of the Northern Pacific attorneys at St. Paul. The incorporators show it to be a Hill corporation.

Robert Strahorn, one of the incorporators, announced today that the company will build additional railways in Yakima Valley, including one through Cowlitz Pass; also another railroad through Natchez Pass. These are the only available passes through the Cascades, clearly indicating the purpose of Hill roads to occupy the passes ahead of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, or any other new line.

The St. Paul road had surveys through Cowlitz Pass, and controls the Tacoma, Eastern Railroad, now building toward the pass.

FIGHTING AT ERIVAN.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The Times correspondent at Erivan, Trans-Caucasia, says that firing between Tartars and Armenians took place Sunday afternoon, in front of the Governor-General's quarters, and that a few persons were killed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIM

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two hundred books in the Carnegie library at son were seized yesterday by the lector of customs on complaint the books contain indecent il tions and unwholesome reading trary to British laws. Two book been already condemned, and th ance are being inspected. Perso sponsible for the importation books are liable to a fine of $2 The books recently arrived from Paris, being intended for son's many French readers, wh chiefly French-Canadians.

The action of Collector caused a big sensation throug Klondike. It is yet uncertain w the officers of the library kn the character of the books. TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lewis Jerman, who spent nineteen years in Manchuria and Siberia in service of the Russian Company, declares the Amur region one of the richest gold sections in the world. He believes Manchuria's wealth will be developed rapidly now that peace is over, and Manchuria is assured protection from roving bands of Chinese. Jerman is preparing for exploiting parts of Manchuria for gold. Being familiar with many languages, he was employed to obtain information from numerous foreign and native prospectors. One Chinaman made several trips to Kamchatka, finding Northeast Siberia has auriferous streams, which he believes will yield handsomely before exploration of John Rosen's Northeast Siberian Company are completed.

SARAH STILL AGROUND.

HANNAH COULDN'T MOVE HER

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Northern Commercial Company's steamer Sarah, which left Dawson, September 25, is still stranded. She has grounded fifteen miles below Circle City, and is still stranded. She has 150 passengers and a large cargo, including live stock for Fairbanks. The steamer Hannah, bound from St. Michael to Dawson, worked two days trying to get her off.

Hannah had over a hundred passengers, being thus compelled to proceed on the voyage. The Sarah's cargo and stock will have to be lightered. It is believed she will be floated before the ice forms.

The steamer Hannah left Dawson for Fairbanks today, being the last steamer down the Yukon. At Fort Gibbon, the cargo and passengers will be transferred to Tanana boats, and she will return to Dawson.

Capt. Newcombe is breaking the previous record for Yukon navigation. He commanded the Susie on three round trips between Dawson and St. Michael, and has made two trips on the Hannah. On his return from Fort Gibbon, he will have five and a half trips to his credit.

Collector Busby Has Ideas About Illustrations.

San Jose Forced Bankruptcy. Steamer Aground.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two hundred French books in the Carnegie library at Dawson were seized yesterday by the collector of customs on complaint that the books contain indecent illustrations and unwholesome reading, contrary to British laws. Two books have been already condemned, and the balance are being inspected. Persons responsible for the importation of the books are liable to a fine of $200 each. The books recently arrived direct from Paris, being intended for Dawson's many French readers, who are chiefly French-Canadians.

The action of Collector Busby caused a big sensation through the Klondike. It is yet uncertain whether the officers of the library knew of the character of the books. The collector is one of the most vigorous British officials ever sent into the Yukon. It was he who required the hauling down of the American flag in the disputed territory near the summit of White Pass, several years ago.

FORGER CAUGHT, WHO MADE A HAUL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Locked up in police headquarters, with his full confession in the possession of Capt. John McCauley, is the young man who, by means of a forged check last Wednesday, obtained from the National City Bank securities valued at $359,080. He was arrested today on his way to church.

Four hours later he broke down, and in a flood of tears told the complete story of his crime. Capt. McCauley tonight had in his possession more than one-half of the stolen securities. The remainder have been located, and will be in his hands tomorrow morning.

MURDER OF A VETERAN.

WILLIAM H. BOOTH KILLED AT HILLSBORO, OR.

Was on His Way Home When the Crime Was Committed—Base of His Skull Crushed, Knife Wounds in Neck, and One Eye Protruding from Its Socket.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 1.—A special to the Oregonian from Hillsboro, Or., states that William H. Booth, a veteran of the Civil War, was murdered last night. It is presumed for the purpose of robbery.

Booth was on his way home when the crime was committed. He was found shortly afterwards with the base of his skull crushed, two knife wounds in his neck, and one eye protruding from its socket.

A young fellow who has been loafing around town several days, is suspected of the crime, and a posse is searching for him. Booth apparently made a terrific fight before he succumbed.

A special to the Oregonian from Hillsboro, Or., states that Sheriff Connell and a deputy captured Sydney Brugger, the murderer of W. W. Booth, who was found dead on the streets of Hillsboro yesterday. Brugger is a boy 15 years old, and was captured at the home of his grandmother, a few miles from Hillsboro. The boy, in a conversation, stated that he heard money jingling in both Booth's pockets, and set upon him for the purpose of robbery. Brugger is said to be a degenerate, but has never before developed any harmful tendencies.

"DRESS SUIT CASE."

SHIPPING CLERK ARRESTED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BOSTON, Oct. 1.—The first arrest in connection with the finding in the harbor of Winthrop of a suit case containing the torso of a woman on whom the medical examiner states an illegal operation has been performed, occurred today when the police took into custody, on suspicion of being an accomplice in the case, William A. Haynes of No. 52 Chamber street, West End, this city. This arrest is said to have been made on statements made by Samuel A. Wingfield, who told the police that he had a friend who had cut up a body.

Haynes was examined at length by the police, and while he denied the accusation and claimed that his friend had confused it with his being on a coroner's jury, he was locked up. Haynes is a clerk in a shipping office. Wingfield was also held as a witness.

MICHAEL SHIELDS' SUICIDE.

CUTS THROAT ON TRAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Oct. 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A man, supposed to be Michael Shields, aged about 50 years, who was well dressed and apparently of prominence, killed himself by cutting his throat in a Texas and Pacific passenger train between this city and Dallas this morning. On his person was a letterhead from J. Shields, Treasurer of Kern county, Cal.

The man boarded the train at Dallas, and was hanging on the steps when the brakeman asked him where he was going. He replied: "El Paso," and the brakeman told him that he had better go in the car if he did not want to be hurled under the wheels and killed.

"I haven't but one life to live," he replied, and this was the last seen of him until he was found here in the toilet-room of the car, which he locked, with a terrible gash in his throat.

Hydrogen and Oxygen Percentage, in Water.

PROVO (Utah) Sept. 3, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If my question is a proper one, will you please reply in The Times. I am informed that water (two of hydrogen to one of oxygen) is made up of 11.11 per cent. hydrogen and 88.89 oxygen. How this can be puzzles me.

Cordially yours, J. B. F.

ANSWER. Your information is approximately correct. It is a right which any worker has to ask another questions, nevertheless there is great satisfaction when one solves a problem alone. Under the law of definite proportions, if any chemical compound be examined—"we find that the compound always contains exactly the same proportions of its constituents." Or, "Any given chemical compound always contains the same elements in the same proportions by weight." Take separate portions of the two gases—oxygen and hydrogen—mix them together and shake them indefinitely. A mechanical mixture, only, is obtained. With the electric spark added, however, a definite chemical compound is formed known as water. As by you stated, "two of hydrogen to one of oxygen" is expressed in the shorthand of chemistry in the formula H_2O, the molecule of water. "When the elements exist in the free state their atoms unite to form molecules. The formulae which we use to represent compounds are intended to represent molecules, just as the symbols of the elements are intended to represent atoms." Knowing the weights of the atoms which make up a molecule, we know the weight of the molecule. It is the sum of the weights of the atoms contained in it. The atomic weight of hydrogen is 1. The atomic weight of oxygen is 16. We will now proceed with the solution of, and answer to, your question, that is to say: The atomic weight of hydrogen being 1, and water containing two proportions thereof we have hydrogen 2. The hydrogen, added to one proportion of oxygen 16, and our product of the two equals 18, the molecular weight of water.

It is therefore plain that two-eighteenths of water is hydrogen. Two eighteenths expressed in the form of percentage would be, 200 divided by 18 gives 11.11 for hydrogen. One hundred per cent., minus 11.11, leaves 88.89 per cent., oxygen. In other words, one-ninth of water is hydrogen.

Molybdenite and Graphite.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 4, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In my small work on mineralogy I find—"Molybdenite and graphite are frequently difficult to determine." Will you please give me some information on the subject?

Yours truly, (MISS) A. T. C.

ANSWER. The "small work" you allude to should be replaced by a better authority. The Ceylon variety of crystallized graphite is somewhat like molybdenite. That of Alaska, Canada and the United States is of a darker color.

Molybdenite is composed of 60 per cent. molybdenum, and sulphur 40. It is molybdenum bisulphide. It is found, natively, imbedded in or disseminated through quartz, gneiss, granite, zircon—syenite and other crystalline rocks, in flat hexagonal tables. "With a cleavage parallel with their terminal planes; generally massive with a foliated structure, or in scales." Color, that of fresh-cut metallic lead. Luster, metallic. Laminae, highly flexible, but not elastic. Leaves a metallic-gray trace on paper, a greenish streak on porcelain. Yields to the nail. Unctuous to the touch. Hardness, 1. Dissolves in boiling sulphuric acid, evolving sulphurous acid.

Graphite (that of Ceylon especially) occurs in kidney-shaped concretions, or in imbedded, foliated, or granular masses. Color, iron or dark steel gray. Luster, metallic, somewhat sectile. Soils paper and the fingers (as does molybdenite.) Laminae, flexible. Streak, black and shining. Not very brittle. Of uneven and granular fracture. Pure graphite, in composition, is carbon, though usually that of commerce is contaminated with iron, silica, alumina, etc., especially the amorphous variety. B.B., graphite is infusible. It is unaltered by acids, while molybdenite is soluble as stated, and b.b. on charcoal, it is also infusible. Molybdenite gives off sulphurous acid and covers the charcoal with a white-yellowish incrustation. The sulphuric acid solution of molybdenite is blue in color.

Radium—Ores and Process.

YORK (Pa.) Aug. 30, 1905.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Where can ores of radium be obtained in commercial quantity? How are the salts obtained from such?

Yours truly, D. S.

(York Collegiate Institute.)

ANSWER. Thomas A. Edison is quoted from the Philadelphia North American as follows: "Radium is likely to be as cheap as coal one of these days, when it is discovered in sufficient quantities. Up to date it is outrageously expensive. I have been hunting high and low for it all over the country for several months." He is furthermore quoted as having "found some in New Hampshire in iron ore, but in such small quantity that it was not worth while to try and get it out." The metal radium has not been obtained native, or otherwise, as yet and it is doubted that it will ever be found native. Probably the salts of radium may some day be formed synthetically, but never "as cheap as coal." Carnotite, a double vanadate of uranium and potassium, occurs in quantity near Moab, Utah. In Colorado, not far from Grand Junction and in the Unaweep district. The high grade mineral being of a canary-yellow color with some 55 per cent. uranium trioxide. The pitchblende of the Kirk and Wood mines near Central City, Colo., is the finest obtainable, running up to 83.71 per cent. of uranous and uranic oxides. Much of the carnotite can be concentrated, but the separation of its combined salts is costly. There is a good opening in the field named to obtain commercial ores in quantity, if concentrated.

To form the salts of radium from pitchblende (and probably from pure carnotite) the method as given by the "Lancet" follows: "Operations for the extraction are commenced by crushing the pitchblende, and then roasting the powder with carbonate of soda. After washing, the residue is treated with dilute sulphuric acid; then the sulphates are converted into carbonates by boiling with strong carbonate of soda. The residue contains radium sulphate, which is an exceedingly insoluble salt. The soluble salts are washed out, and the residue or insoluble portion is easily acted upon by hydrochloric acid, which takes out, among other things, polonium and actinium. Radium sulphate remains unattacked, associated with some barium sulphate. The sulphates are then converted into carbonates by treatment with a boiling strong solution of carbonate of soda. The carbonates of barium and radium are next dissolved in hydrochloric acid and precipitated again as sulphates by means of sulphuric acid. The sulphates are further purified and ultimately converted into chlorides, until fifteen pounds of barium and radium chloride are obtained by acting upon one ton of crushed pitchblende. Only a small fraction of this mixed chloride is pure radium chloride, which is finally separated from barium chloride by crystallization, the crystals from the most radioactive of the solutions being selected. In this way the crystals ultimately obtained are relatively pure radium chloride of a very high degree of radioactivity." There are perhaps seventy-five minerals carrying uranium. Those stated are the principal commercial ones.

MONEY OUT OF NOTHING.

It Is a Perfectly Feasible Undertaking When All Things are Considered.

[London News:] How to make money out of nothing. It seems almost an impossibility. But to make money out of nothing—that which people call worthless and representative of nothing as far as monetary value is concerned—is really, after all, a perfectly feasible undertaking, all things considered.

I saw a man yesterday, writes one of our representatives, making a living, nay, possibly a fortune, out of the things one kicks on one side and dismisses from his mind as being unworthy of further consideration. A sardine tin, an old boot, a piece of rope, or a festering bone—these are things most of us would usually go out of our way to avoid. But not all. An eminent personage once said, "Dirt is but matter in the wrong place"—a very true remark. Thus, the sardine tin and the boot, the old rope, and the unlovely bone are but matter in the wrong place; to restore that matter to a useful position in the world's economy is to give it a monetary value, and conducted on the right lines, in this way money may be made out of nothing.

Within hail of Blackfriars Bridge, on the Surrey side of the Thames, Charles Murrell deals with "nothing" to the extent of a thousand tons a week, provides labor for quite a small army of men, and finds it a very remunerative business indeed. In a large yard close to the bridge vans arrive almost every minute of the day. Some are from the Southwark Borough Council, others from the Bermondsey Borough Council, the London County Council or the City Corporation. All are loaded with the proceeds of the dust bin or the sweepings of the many streets, all seething with complex micro-organisms, of aerobes and anaerobes. The former have the power to take up the oxygen from the air, the latter secure oxygen from the organic substances, which are thus split up into simpler compounds by the abstraction of such oxygen. Each load is weighed, and then tipped on a huge grill, men falling to work immediately with long forks sorting the rubbish out.

The "boss," the man in charge, is paid fivepence per load for all the refuse he deals with, and out of this he has to pay his men. Obviously, he could not live on this, so in addition he is permitted to take the proceeds of the sorting. One man seizes upon the sodden rags, another on the bones, a third and fourth on the iron and the cardboard, whilst a stray tin can is seized by a fifth. By the process very little is left beside ash, and this has long since tumbled through the grid into buckets on an endless chain which convey it overhead to a cylindrical sieve forever revolving at an angle of about 15 deg., and through which, at different meshes, the ash and the "breeze" fall through, the first to be used in brickmaking, the second to be burnt to generate the heat wherewith to bake the brick.

It was not long ago that all this sorting and sifting was accomplished by women who sat waist high in the filthy garbage sorting by hand that which is now dealt with mechanically. It is possible, though, that by the present system fewer treasures are retrieved. I learnt yesterday of a woman, over 70, who used to sort at this selfsame heap, who had practically been born on the works, and who carried on her unsavory work with her fingers glistening with gem rings rescued from the dust from time to time. When the order came that women's work was to be discontinued the old lady retired and set her daughter up in a refreshment house.

But I digress. In a corner yesterday I was shown a small mountain of tin cans, apparently useless matter in the street, that realize 25s per ton in the bulk. This pestiferous mass was fetched by East End merchants and subjected to intense heat in their factories. By such means the tin adhering to the iron was saved, and the metal converted into "new" sheet iron. Three years ago, Mr. Murrell used to pay 5s per ton to have the stuff taken away, but people eventually came and offered to take it away for less, at last for nothing at all. Here was evidently something of value, and in the end the factors were glad to give 25s for that which previously they were paid five shillings to take away.

Cardboard is worth £2 per ton, and zinc pails, baking tins, and the like about ten shillings. Jars, clinker and such stuff is used for road-making, but these represent the unprofitable side of the business, money having to be paid to others to take it away.

So everything has had thus far a selling value. Next there comes the paper, which goes into a big furnace on the spot, and the "soft core," which is conveyed by barges to the marshes by the Thames estuary. Of course, nothing offensive remains in the yards, the Public Health Act ensures this, but it is held that whereas to cremate rubbish is in a sense a good thing, from a municipal and economic point of view it is much better to profit by the treasure that lays in the dust bin, proving, in a word, it is possible to make money for the ratepayers out of nothing.

LOOKING FOR A DOG.

Search Extends Over Hundreds of Miles to Find a Scotch Terrier.

[Seattle Times:] Somewhere between Missoula and Forsyth, Mont., is a little Scotch terrier dog, belonging to Ira A. Nadeau, general agent of the Northern Pacific at Seattle. Mrs. Nadeau is at Bismarck, N. D., waiting until the division superintendent of the railroad at Glendive locates the dog, or until Mr. Nadeau can get a trace of the household pet through diligent telegraphic inquiry.

A fourteen-inch dog lost in a stretch of territory 465 miles in extent does not cover up much of the landscape, but all along the line Northern Pacific officials have been requested to keep an eye out for the animal, and train crews, as they whirl through the valleys, will view the scenery anxiously for a glimpse of the missing canine.

Mr. Nadeau's Scotch terrier has been in the family of the general agent ever since puppyhood four years ago. It is a pet, and when Mrs. Nadeau and her children started for Ann Arbor they took the dog with them. They intended to make an indefinite stay and did not like to leave the dog at home, where he might become too intimately acquainted with the railroad world through frequent trips with Mr. Nadeau to his downtown offices.

The dog was a good traveler until he reached Montana and then he tired of life on the rails. In some way he eluded Mrs. Nadeau and escaped from the train. He was seen at Missoula and missed at Forsyth, 465 miles away. At Glendive Mrs. Nadeau appealed to the division superintendent for help in locating the dog, and from Bismarck she telegraphed to Mr. Nadeau.

A few days before Mrs. Nadeau started East friends from Bismarck called here and urged her strongly to make a stop in the Dakota town. When the Scotch terrier slipped out of the car into the Montana scenery Mrs. Nadeau remembered the invitation and now she is camped at Bismarck receiving bulletins from the hunt.

At the Northern Pacific general offices Mr. Nadeau has opened a file labeled "Dog," and a new series of telegraphic correspondence has been commenced on the subject of the missing Scotch terrier. From division superintendent to water boy and back through the long list of track walkers, station agents, train crews and dispatchers, the Montana force of the Northern Pacific is out looking for the stray animal.

A Case of Pronouns.

Tommy Mulligan of the seventh grade was absent from the classroom for one entire day. It would appear that he had played truant, for unknown to Tommy his teacher had spied him trudging homeward with pockets bulging suspiciously when she, too, was homeward bound that afternoon.

But Tommy brought a note of excuse the next morning, which, of course, would prove that he had been detained at home legitimately. The writing was hardly that of a feminine hand, and the note appeared to have been written laboriously and with much blotting; furthermore, the penmanship seemed to be strangely familiar to his teacher. The note read as follows:

"Dear teacher: Please excus Tomy for not comeing to school yestiddy, he cudnot come I tore my pants.—Mrs. Mulligan."—[Philadelphia Inquirer.

A GREATER BETHLEHEM.

Dana Bartlett Plans for Some Important Expansions.

Four "Betterment" Stations to be Placed Soon.

Will Occupy a Field to be Abandoned by Church.

As an offset to the news printed in yesterday's Times, showing the distressing conditions prevailing in the most congested parts of Los Angeles, and the need of prompt measures to combat this growing evil, now comes the news that one of the finest and most extensive institutions working for the betterment of the people—the Bethlehem Institution—is to greatly increase the scope of its work.

Bethlehem is to reach out from the now well-established plant down in the heart of the Eighth Ward. The skillful planning of Rev. Dana Bartlett, who has shown such eminent fitness for this sociological work, will place Bethlehem institutions at Dolgeville, at the Arcade station, on East Fifth street, and in the vicinity of River station, over in the heart of the Southern Pacific yards district.

Probably no city of its size in America will show such an extensive plan for institutional work.

At Dolgeville the Bethlehem Institution has a lot, 100x200 feet. Here it is planned to erect a building on the rear of the lot, to cost probably $2000, and to lay out the front of the lot as an open-air gymnasium and outdoor recreation grounds. Eventually this space will be used for a larger building, as the work expands in what is destined to be a manufacturing town of much importance.

Bethlehem No. 2 will be located at the northwest corner of Railroad and East Main streets—the present site of the Third Congregational Church. This will, doubtless, become second in importance in this chain of institutional work. The Congregationalists who have been holding this place for many years past, have agreed to turn over their property to the Bethlehem organization, for a payment of $4000, as they intend to move their church society over into the vicinity of the new Southern Pacific car shops. When the railroad men moved their work to the new district, nearly all of them found new homes in the same vicinity, so that the Third Church found its membership a long way from its building.

But right at the old church site Dana Bartlett saw the chance for a great institutional work, and he has grasped the opportunity. The old building is to be moved back to the rear of the lot. This is an auditorium, 40x40 feet. This will give a space of 50x50 feet in the front of the lot for the erection of a three-story structure, to contain baths, coffee club and lodging rooms.

Within easy walking distance of this center are more than 1000 men living and engaged in daily labor. Here is a field which Mr. Bartlett and his assistants think is well worth cultivating. It is here that they would expend $10,000; and they are looking for philanthropic citizens who are willing to help them in the enlarged Bethlehem project.

In close proximity to the Arcade station, on Fifth street, would its promoters establish the fourth Bethlehem institution, on lines similar to those of the other two. Here it would be accessible to hundreds of railroad and street car men, and a special effort is to be made from this place to reach the young men just coming in from the country districts.

It is the belief of the Bethlehem workers that a little kindly interest manifested in the young man just as he comes from the rural districts to take up life in the busy city, surrounded by all its temptations, will keep him in the path of rectitude, and that this should be a work of prevention as well as reclamation.

In all three of the city institutions it is the purpose of Mr. Bartlett to conduct employment agencies; and the general purpose of the institutions is to supply worthy men accommodations, not as a charity, but for such a payment as they are able to give, and to raise their social life to a plane vastly higher than that in which they would drift in the ordinary lodging-house, or on the streets, where they would otherwise seek diversion.

The Arcade depot proposition, it is planned, will cost $25,000, and Mr. Bartlett declares he can make a showing which will assure a 4-per-cent. return on money loaned him for this philanthropic work.

For all of this work more help is needed, and with the remarkable showing which the first Bethlehem Institution has been able to make under the management of Mr. Bartlett, it would seem that men of means who have an interest in the betterment of urban life could well afford to aid the new projects.

Just at present there is great activity at Bethlehem. The various night classes will be formed this evening. Much of the work on educational lines this year will be carried on at the Stimpson-Lafayette Industrial School building, which has recently come under control of Bethlehem.

The night school includes classes of Mexicans, Russians, Italians and Japanese. A Bible school for the Russian children has just been established for Sunday afternoons, under the direction of Rev. M. Teichreb, a German Presbyterian minister. The first meeting brought together sixty Russian children, and it is estimated that at least 125 children will be gathered into this school.

Many social activities are planned for the winter at Bethlehem. The most important of these plans is a two weeks' educational and musical congress, at which the very best talent in the city will appear, night after night.

Mr. Bartlett has met with a generous response from many artists, each agreeing to give their talents one evening for the entertainment or elevation of the people within the circle of Bethlehem's influence. The public-school management has agreed to help in the carrying out of this educational project. The congress is to be carried on under the auspices of the literary society of Bethlehem.

A phase of the industrial side of Bethlehem which is to be opened within the month is a wood yard in the basement of the Men's Hotel. It is necessary to have some kind of a test for the men who apply to Bethlehem for aid, and this is designed to determine whether they are really willing to work.

It is designed to start in this industrial work at first simply with the wood yard, and to develop it as the calls for help increase during the winter season.

The Men's Hotel is kept constantly filled, and two cottages are now being fitted up for cheaper lodgings. It is not the design to simply gather in the men who want a night's lodging, and then will pass on; but the institution aims to make itself really helpful to those who are striving to better their conditions, and who can remain within its influences long enough to imbibe some of the stimulating energy of which the Bethlehem Institution is the practical exponent.

DRIVEN OUT BY FIRE.

Occupants of Temple Street Roominghouse Forced to Flee in Scanty Attire.

Clad in their night dresses and wild through fear, panic-stricken men, women and children fled at 3:40 o'clock yesterday morning from a burning lodging-house at Temple street and Bunker Hill avenue.

The fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp in the dining-room, and so quickly did the flames spread through the lower portion of the house that the lodgers were compelled to flee for their lives, leaving all of their effects in the burning building.

Upon retiring Saturday night, Mrs. L. Long, the landlady, left a lamp burning dimly in the dining-room. While all of the occupants were wrapped in slumber shortly before 4 o'clock, the lamp exploded and scattered burning oil throughout the room. The flames spread to other portions of the house and ate their way to the roof before the arrival of the fire department.

It was necessary to deluge the entire building with water before the flames could be checked. The damage to building and contents amounted to about $1000, with $400 insurance.

BAD STREET FOR AUTOS.

Car on New Line on West Eleventh Street Wrecks a Big Machine.

Eleventh street appears to be a dangerous thoroughfare for automobilists. Since ground was first broken for the new electric line, over six months ago, many autoists have gone into the ditch and minor accidents have been numerous. Yesterday afternoon the first accident in which a car figured occurred. The new electric line was opened yesterday morning, and about 2 p.m. an automobile which was going south on Union avenue was struck by a west-bound car and overturned. The auto was occupied by a party of four, and one woman was badly bruised. The machine was wrecked. Members of the party left the scene and refused to give their names.

WOMAN "ANGEL," MASTER BAND.

CHIAFFARELLI HAS BIG CROWD AT THE CHUTES.

Fine Organization of Italian Music Men Brought from the East by Artistic Milwaukee Woman—Warm Welcome of Chiaffarelli and the Old Favorites.

Mrs. T. L. Raipa and her Chiaffarelli band drew an audience of 8000 people to the Chutes yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Raipa is a "lady angel." Lady angels are better than the male kind; chiefly because they are more constant. And Mrs. Raipa is a model specimen of her class. A handsome, gray-haired woman, stylishly gowned, she watched the enthusiastic initiatory proceedings with an artistic eye that had a businesslike flash in its dark deeps. Folk thought Mrs. Raipa a friend of the big director's; but she is more, for her commercial sagacity has held the band together, brought it out from Milwaukee intact, and saved all of its Italian members, on their tour, from going to pieces on the rocks of American commercialism. She is an earnest American woman with money and a devotion to music. She will stay here—as long as the band stays. She keeps in the background, though, and if you see her it will be by chance.

Chiaffarelli's band is a splendid organization, well instrumented, working well under its director, and possessed of several unusually brilliant soloists.

As for Chiaffarelli, he is about the same Chiaffarelli as when we last saw him. In a general way he looks healthier; his adipose lines have disappeared, and his figure sat naittily in its neat new uniform yesterday. His face is fresher, smoother, his smile is as child-like; but his eyes are the same tired eyes as of old, eyes that blaze in demoniac fury under the excitement of his music, and afterward blink listlessly and wearily, with the old dark circles beneath ever bespeaking the intense mental strain.

He was welcomed enthusiastically, and after the second number, "Il Lamento del Bardo," by Mercadante, his audience rose to his magnetism. Hats flew in the air, women clapped until their gloves split, and bravos mingled with simple western huzzas and festive acclamations.

Musically speaking, one of the triumphs of the day, and indeed one of the biggest triumphs ever scored here by a band, was Chiaffarelli's rendition of the andante from Mendelssohn's Fourth Symphony. The interpretation, in its wonderful artistic spirit, was made perfect by the beautifully-harmonized brass of the band, playing together not only as a unit, but with the same mellow richness and depth of tone that characterizes a great organ's pedal register.

Taddeo, the trumpeter, possesses a great, true tone of dramatic brilliance and consummate ease of production. Looking absentmindedly toward the circle-swing as he played the "Aida" music yesterday, the trumpeter shaded his rich brass voice from the delicate strength of a breath to the ringing power of a high fortissimo, and with surety, purity, and even indifference as to the labor of it all. Taddeo looks neither dramatic nor poetic. Instead he is a dark, chunky little man, with a mustache motor-manesque rather than Neapolitan, and the tiniest goatee—no bigger than your thumbnail, a little cushion for the silver mouthpiece of his cornet.

Croce, the trombone, is another unusually good player. Carelli, former solo clarinet with Ellery at the latter's last visit is solo clarinet with Chiaffarelli's force.

Ab direction Chiaffarelli has improved since his departure from Los Angeles. Watch him now, and you will see that he is exactly "on the beat." At least he was yesterday. And his men follow him with wonderful fidelity.

No criticism of the band would be just without a word of commendation for the splendid little kettle-drummer, a hairless-faced boy with glasses, who looks to all the unworldliness like an Andover theological student. He was last here with Creatore, and he gets as much melody as though his drums had ten notes instead of two.

The team work of Chiaffarelli's fifty men is great. Half a hundred of them on the musical charge at presto speed and battle din—and the stop in the tenth of a second, and all stillness—and before another tick, once more the allegro-fortissimo—another beat ere the instant has died, and a second silence, with the plaintive little note of a single oboe rising dreamily from the audible quiet—again a stroke, and the voices of the brass exploding as a simultaneous battery of musical artillery; such precision, delicacy and temperamental fire make real music.

As always, Chiaffarelli dominates with a master hand. He works terrifically, and the sweat, pouring in streams from his red face, melted his collar fifteen minutes after the opening number yesterday.

On Tuesday evening the band will inaugurate its series of classical concerts in Chutes Theater.

AT THE CITY'S GATES.

BOYLE HEIGHTS.

Mrs. Ferdinand Wheeler of No. 129 N. Boyle avenue, achieved a local triumph for the Stars and Stripes, Friday evening, when her patriotic drama "The Building of the Flag," was enacted under the direction of the Stanton Woman's Relief Corps, of which she is patriotic instructor. The hall on South Spring street was aflutter with many flags; and veterans, and sons of veterans, and members of all the W.R.C.'s in the city, as well as old army nurses, and many of the visiting ministers of the Methodist conference filled it to the utmost capacity, the spirit animating one and all being enthusiastic loyalty for the national emblems. The flag was built stripe by stripe, red and then white, blue field; and then the forty-five stars. The G.A.R.'s laid on the red stripes, the first being placed by Comrade Salada, a blind veteran, the red telling the tale of sacrifice. He was followed by Chaplain Erwin, ninety-four years of age; Dr. Bartlett, Maj. Powell, Mr. Cutting, George Copelin, and Joseph Coleman. Division Commander George W. Conart, Christian Haag, J. H. Medler, T. B. Glass, Mr. Burkhardt, and Stanton Corp's little soldier boy, Theodore Leroy Miller, represented the Sons of Veterans, and laid the white stripes. Greeted by cheers, the beating of drums and a chautauqua salute four grand old army nurses, Addie Miller, Julia Hibbard, Grace Lawrence, and Margaret Hayes, reverently laid the blue field and later placed the stars representing their chosen States. The stars were set in their regular order by the members of the Relief Corps and their placing was accompanied with many witty flings.

MRS. FERDINAND WHEELER,
Patriotic Instructor of Stanton W.R.C., who planned the "Making of the Flag."

The seventy-second birthday anniversary of Mrs. Sofia Joneson was celebrated Friday by a gathering of friends at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Albert Havermale, on City View street. Mrs. Joneson was the recipient of many tokens of friendship and congratulations from old-time friends.

Mrs. Lucy Beckwith of Sabetha, Kan., has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Lura Beal of No. 548 North St. Louis street, and on Friday started for Oakland where she will visit her son.

Miss Caroline M. Burrell and Henry S. Bennett of Columbus, O., were married on Tuesday evening at No. 210 Boyle avenue. The rooms were artistically decorated with smilax and cut flowers. Rev. T. C. Miller performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Samuel Rees was hostess at a reception given to the Young Men's Bachelor Club in the club rooms, No. 1975 East First street. Music was furnished by the Mandolin Club of the association and games were played. Light refreshments were served.

SOUTH LOS ANGELES.

Members of the South Main Street Methodist Church are in a quandary as to who will serve them this coming year as pastor. The request for the return of Pastor Bell, according to prominent members of the church, was not made formally to Presiding Elder Adkinson. The membership, however, declare that if the preacher had been returned to them by the conference they would have been willing to stand by him. There is a possibility, it is said, that Rev. Charles Scott, a recent graduate from the University of Southern California will be appointed to the charge. The church has suffered a severe blow by the desertion of its pastor, and is only now recovering. Prof. Tully C. Knoles of the University of Southern California is serving until a successor is appointed.

PICO HEIGHTS.

There is every reason to believe the Methodist conference now in session will return Rev. D. B. Loofburrow to the Methodist Church for another year. During the fiscal year past the membership has increased and the financial status of the church has improved. The report presented to the conference by the pastor was encouraging and showed a healthy growth, a large average attendance and a good financial condition.

Miss Bessie Ray Gilkey of San Diego, who has been visiting in Chicago and New York for the past six months, is the guest of Mrs. W. F. McGann of Dewey street.

THE NORTHWEST.

Assurance is given from the office of the City Engineer that the paving of West Temple street will be commenced soon. The Temple-street Improvement Association has charge of the matter. The street will be paved from Bunker Hill avenue to Union avenue. Before this work is done, however, there is a probability that conduits for telephone and electric-light wires will be laid. A petition to this effect is now before the Council and the companies concerned will be urged to complete the work before the paving is begun. Storm drains will be laid throughout the northwest in order that inconvenience and damage from flood waters during the rainy season may be averted.

Miss Emma Fariss and John O. B. Bodkin were married on Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Emma Fariss, No. 1042 Temple street. The bride is an only daughter and is a beautiful and attractive young woman. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Bodkin of this city. The ceremony was performed beneath a canopy of greenery starred with clematis. Wedding bells were pendant from the arch. A white dove held in its beak a lover's knot of white tulle. Miss Edna Winnen, a cousin of the bride, played the wedding march from "Lohengrin," and W. Pond sang "O Promise Me." The bride wore a gown of white silk made en traine and trimmed with real point lace and wore a lace veil. Miss Annette Boyland was maid of honor and P. J. Bodkin was best man.

EAST LOS ANGELES.

There is much interest taken in the proposed plan to move the City Hall to a site offered to the city on Main street adjacent to the soon-to-be-erected postoffice. A. W. Ewing, whose home is on Avenue 24, declares the citizens of East Los Angeles are unanimously in favor of the proposed change. E. M. Morrison, a Park Commissioner, whose home is at No. 109 Avenue 23, has also expressed himself as heartily in favor of the proposition. Others say that as the city is building rapidly toward Pasadena, the logical site for the City Hall is near the Plaza. The plan has the genuine support of the citizens of this side of Los Angeles.

A meeting of the East Main-street property holders will be held on Tuesday evening at No. 2607 East Main street to discuss plans for the paving of East Main street from the Los Angeles River to Eastlake Park. A large attendance is anticipated, as the question is of widespread importance.

The funeral of Mrs. Cora Belle Frenz was held on Sunday afternoon at the family home on Downey avenue. Mrs. Frenz was well known in East Los Angeles, where she had hosts of friends. She was the wife of Stanley Frenz. She was ill for more than seven years and was an invalid for three years. Rev. W. F. Irvine, a former pastor of the Baptist Church, conducted the service, and the scripture and songs selected by Mrs. Frenz before her death were used.

Miss May O'Donoughue will resume charge of the choir of Sacred Heart Church for the coming fall season. The choir has been enlarged by the addition of several members. A special mass was sung on Sunday evening.

UNIVERSITY.

A large delegation from the Southern California Conference visited the new University buildings Saturday afternoon at the invitation of President Bovard. The guests were greatly pleased with the remarkable improvements made during the past year. During the afternoon dainty refreshments were served in the gymnasium by the young ladies of the Y.W.C.A. President and Mrs. George F. Bovard entertained at a dinner party Saturday evening in honor of Bishop and Mrs. J. F. Berry. Among the guests were Dr. Smythe of San Francisco and Rev. E. A. Healy, pastor of the University Methodist Episcopal Church.

New apparatus has arrived for the University gymnasium and will be installed immediately.

A goodly number of new students registered during the past week, and more still are expected today.

Rev. I. L. Spencer and son, Wendell, have taken their residence at No. 912 West Thirty-sixth street. Rev. Spencer will shortly build a new home on Thirty-second street.

A three-room cottage in the rear of No. 4028 McClintock street was partially destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Bechelle, who is the owner of the property, estimates the loss at $800.

Friday evening the Epworth League of the University Methodist Episcopal Church will give a reception to the new students of the University.

THE SOUTHWEST.

The paving of West Washington street has been completed between Normandie avenue and Union avenue. The well-paved thoroughfare is a convenience long desired. The work of paving between the tracks of the Los Angeles Railway Company will not be done until work is finished on leveling of the tracks. There is a movement on foot for more street lights.

Rev. M. McConnell delivered an illustrated lecture before the members of the Sunday-school of Christ Episcopal Church on Wednesday evening. The subject was "Scenes from English and European Cathedrals." Miss Maud Davies sang "The Holy City."

Miss Katharine Slevin has returned from a three months' trip to San Francisco and is located at No. 1105 South Hill street.

J. P. Delaney and family who have spent the summer at Avalon have returned and are at home at the family residence, No. 2122 Oak street.

The olive orchard, opposite Sunnyside, fronting on Vermont avenue, the property of W. E. Hughes, consisting of eighty acres, will be platted into quarter-acre and half-acre lots and placed on the market immediately.

Mrs. W. Charles Crawford, a charming young matron from Sydney, Australia, who has been visiting her mother-in-law Mrs. Hugh J. Crawford of No. 1837 West Twenty-first street, will leave today with her husband for San Francisco where they will visit relatives before leaving for their home. On Monday evening Miss Mary Holmes gave a party in honor of Mrs. Crawford at No. 1118 South Grand avenue. Miss Jessie Lotspeich assisted the hostess in entertaining the guests. Progressive games were played and scores were kept on dainty hand-painted cards in the form of hearts.

Frank L. Kennedy and wife, of Chicago, are visiting Mrs. W. Taylor on West Adams street, who have just returned from an extended trip to Salt Lake City, Yellowstone Park and the Northwest.

M. Kammermeyer has returned from Catalina and will assume the direction of Arend's orchestra. He is located at No. 1344 Albany street.

Miss Flora P. Howard has returned from London, Eng., where she spent nine months in educational work. She will reside at No. 1302 South Figueroa street.

William E. Neff has returned from New York.

Rev. C. N. Queen after attending the General Congregational Association of Churches at Pasadena is visiting friends in the Southwest.

UNION SQUARE.

Activity in real estate throughout this section is noted by several good sales and by plans outlined for the erection of business blocks and substantial dwellings. S. Buhr has purchased the northwest corner of Twenty-second and Hoover streets. He will remove the buildings on the premises, and will improve the property with a building for stores and flats. The Harvey Company has leased the store building in the new McGowan Block for a term of five years.

The petition which has been circulated, asking for the paving of Hoover street and Union avenue from Adams street north to Washington has been universally signed, and most of the owners of frontage on the streets affected by the paving proposition have signified their desire for the work to begin.

Franklin B. Frost of No. 1242 West Twenty-fourth strete, who, for many years, has been engaged in the real estate business in Union Square, will remove with his family to Greely Colo.

Dr. H. Jenkins of Union avenue and Twenty-fourth street is spending his vacation at Lake Tahoe, and will not return until the end of October.

Rev. J. P. McKnight, pastor of the Magnolia Avenue Christian Church, has returned from a two months' vacation spent in San Francisco.

Miss Mary Clay of No. 1237 West Twenty-fifth street returned on Wednesday from Santa Rosa, where she has visited her mother.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Magnolia Avenue Christian Church gave an oriental social on Thursday evening, which was largely attended.

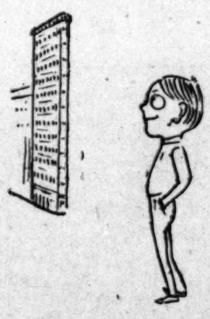
Miss Margaret Devlin, who has spent the past three months at Catalina, has returned.

James Henderson and wife have returned to New York City.

J. Henry Jett and wife, recently from Chicago, have leased the residence of Mrs. Leonard at No. 2108 Union avenue, and will occupy the dwelling for a home.

Charles Squires of No. 1200 West Twenty-fourth street will remove with his family to Las Vegas the beginning of November.

Charles Stegmeyer, an eastern capitalist, has purchased from Mary A. Walker, ninety-two feet on the east side of Union avenue, near Twenty-fourth street, which will be improved with a brick block.



SIDE TALKS BY THE OFFICE BOY

This is the Flat Iron Building, corner of Twenty-Teird and Broadway, New York. It's twenty-two stories, but I expect you've heard more than that about it, but I counted them. It's the funniest looking building you ever saw, a regular triangle. It's without doubt the most conspicuous corner in New York. We're going to do a few things at the corner of Broadway and Sixth street, that will make that the most conspicuous corner in Los Angeles. We're adding the two stores back of us on Sixth and there will be a half block of plate glass windows that will certainly be made to look bright and cheerful. During the iterations, we have filled the present windows full of fine goods which we've priced at cut prices. True, many of the lines are broken but you don't care so long as you get your size. We're getting lined up for the greatest fall campaign we've ever inaugurated. See but we're going to give some great values this fall. Today is the day you throw that straw hat away, and put on a felt. Don't buy one till you see the fall Silverwood hats.

CANADIAN TRADE FIGURES.

A rather surprising fact was announced in a dispatch from Ottawa (Ont.) a few days ago. It was to the effect that "a detailed statement of Canada's foreign trade, just available, for the past fiscal year, not only shows a continued increase in the volume of trade between Canada and the United States, but it also exhibits a large decrease in the aggregate trade with Great Britain."

These facts show that artificial barriers are powerless to control the currents of trade, though they may, and often do, assist in diverting those currents to some extent from natural to unnatural channels. The Canadian tariff discriminates in favor of British goods to the extent of one-third, and yet the imports into the Dominion last year from Great Britain declined by nearly one and a half millions of dollars. During the same time the exports of Canada to the mother country declined by more than fifteen and a half millions of dollars. This decrease, in the face of the fact that British imports are practically free of duty, cannot well be regarded in any other light than remarkable. It seems that neither free trade on the one hand nor a remission of one-third of the duty on the other, can suffice to destroy, nor even to decrease, the trade between the United States and our neighbors to the north of us.

The total imports of Canada from Great Britain last year amounted to $60,537,811, and the exports from Canada to Great Britain aggregated $101,958,771. In the same period the imports of Canada from the United States amounted in value to $166,040,890, which was an increase of more than nine millions of dollars over the preceding year.

Canada has goods for sale which we wish to buy, and we buy them. We have products which Canada desires to "use in her business," and she buys them without any special reference to tariffs on either side. This is the secret of the growing trade between the United States and Canada. On neither side is the tariff excessive or prohibitory. The one-third concession in favor of Great Britain has unquestionably had some effect in retarding the decrease of British trade with Canada, but it has not injured American trade with the Dominion to any serious extent.

Generally speaking, commerce will follow the lines of least resistance; but the lines of least resistance sometimes run through comparatively high tariffs. If they did not, such tariffs would not serve the purpose of producing revenue. To pursue the metaphor, the ohms of resistance decrease rapidly with the increase of the demand, so that less voltage is required to transmit the current of supply.

While a strong demand exists in Canada for products of the United States, and vice versa, the trade between the two countries will continue to increase in spite of unfavorable tariffs, unless such tariffs be made actually prohibitory. The wants of a people are not, under circumstances of ordinary freedom, subject to the caprices of tariff tinkers and fluctuating schedules.

THE MAIN-STREET SITE.

It is a significant silence, that of the Main-street-site objectors who are called upon to offer a substitute site equally as advantageous for the placing of the new City Hall soon to be built. Title to a splendid, commodious and costly piece of land, bounded by Main, New High and Republic streets, is offered to the city free of charge, on condition that the City Hall be built thereon. The large proceeds from the sale of the present building would defray the cost of a structure adequate to the needs of a rapidly expanding community and creditable to the dignity of Los Angeles. Why not seize this rare and admirable opportunity?

Thus far the objectors have offered none but a sentimental argument, and of substitute plans they have offered none at all. Again The Times asks them: "What is your substitute? What alternative can you propose?" Their silence in the face of this plain, sensible, straightforward question is the loudest evidence of their unpreparedness to make a practical reply. They are men of too much intelligence to deny the necessity of a new municipal building, and yet they "buck" against North Main street as a location while suggesting no coequal scheme. Their position is hardly tenable.

With the Courthouse within a few steps, the Federal Building and Postoffice to be within a short stone's throw, and the proffered site to be had absolutely free of cost, leaving the sale proceeds from the old building free for the erection of a new City Hall, it is difficult indeed to see the objectors' point—if they have any.

A WARM WELCOME.

At the Churches Yesterday.

The Renewing Life.

At Temple Baptist Church, Rev. Robert J. Burdette preached on "The Renewing Life," taking for his text, Isaiah xl:30, 31—"Even the youths shall faint and be weary, but they that wait on the Lord shall renew their strength."

"For youth, with all its splendor of strength and vitality," he said, "is only a period in a human life that fights daily and hourly against 'the forces that make for its decay.' The period from 18 years to about 27 is one of the most perilous of a man's life. The man thinks he can endure anything, resist anything, do anything, conquer anything. He robs his body and mind of rest and sleep. He discounts the strength of future years; he makes great overdrafts upon his physical and mental powers. He things his body strong pliant, muscled like a race horse, is his life, and he treats it as though it were immortal. And every day this outward man is perishing. This poor old overworked, ill-treated body! If a man could stand beside it for a little minute after 'the immortal' had left it, just to say good-by to his old comrade of mortality, I wonder what he would say to it?

'Poor old body! Poor old bragging, boastful, high-headed body! How I have ill treated you in all these years you have carried me. How well do I know every knotty muscle in you; every sinew that strained under fierce and unequal combat; every nerve that tingled with pleasure and quivered with pain. Poor, vainglorious old yokefellow, there ought to be a resurrection for you. You told me 'never fear'—you'd carry me through every strait by the very strength of manhood—and you ran away at the first clash of arms; would have run sooner, maybe, if you had known it was coming. You said you'd stand by me in every peril, and then you dropped me where the river was deepest and the current strongest. You said you would never shame me, and you lied to me. You betrayed me a score of times—went right over to the enemy. Pride of the eyes; lust of the flesh; worldly pleasures; physical ease; slothful comfort—how you have led me into these snares again and again. To gratify your tastes, I have done things which my soul despised. To save you from merited punishment I have lied for you. To keep you out of danger I have run away from duty. God gave you to me to be my servant, my burden bearer, and you have made me your slave, again, and again, and again. When the spirit has been most willing, you have been weakest. Dust of the earth you were—dust of the earth have you been all these three score and ten years I've dwelt in you—back to the dust you are crumbling again. You have lasted only seventy years, and I've used you as though you were going to live forever. I'm glad I found ou. in time that you were only a shell—a garment—'a mortality to be at last put off!' Old house of clay, good-by forever!'"

The Social Evil.

At the Boyle Heights Presbyterian Church yesterday morning Dr. Maclaren preached from Jeremiah ix, 23-24: "The loving kindness, judgment and righteousness of God." Speaking of righteousness, the speaker came to our own city for an illustration, and said:

"The Mayor of Los Angeles has expressed himself as being very much perplexed as to what to do with the social evil of our city. Some time ago he ordered a raid on certain haunts of vice, and some wagonloads of fallen women were brought into court and heavily fined. He has asked for the opinion of the people on this raid. When Christ was upon earth He was known as the friend of sinners. He denounced the hypocrite and the seducer, but had great compassion for those who had been betrayed and lured into sin. One day a crowd of men, young and old, came to Him with a woman whom they accused of being a sinner and proposed that the poor creature should be stoned to death, and they asked for His judgment. He looked them through and through and said: 'Let him that is without sin among you cast the first stone.'

"All over the world today there are hospitals, churches and cathedrals named for the Magdalene that Jesus saved. If Christ had been in the courtroom the other day, and His judgment had been asked, He would have answered: 'Let the man that is without sin among you collect the first dollar of fine from these women.'

"The whole social evil can be settled righteously according to the law and example of Christ. Let men be held to the strictest judgment. Let there be an ordinance making it a felony to rent property for immoral purposes and let property owners who violate this law be brought to justice without mercy. When a raid is made on haunts of infamy let the men who frequent them be arrested and let any enterprising paper publish their names and photographs. Then let Christian people labor as never before until each of us is known as a friend and savior of sinners, and the victory for righteousness will be won. The proposition has been made that the city appropriate $150,000 to establish a great wholesale den of infamy and that the revenues go to the city treasury. In regard to this proposition I have only this to say: If Los Angeles wishes to bring down upon itself the wrath and curse of God, let it carry out this accursed plan. All the waters of the Owens River, yea, all the waters of the ocean, could not wash us clean."

The Title Clear.

The pulpit of the First Baptist Church was occupied yesterday morning and evening by Rev. C. Carey Willett, D.D. His morning text was taken from Genesis xv, 8. "And he said, Lord God, whereby shall I know that I shall inherit it?" He said, in part:

"I find some people greatly mixed up in their ideas and experiences because they fail to recognize certain important distinctions. They do not seem to see the difference between salvation and service, faith and feeling, safety and certainty.

"Abram was a believer. The second verse preceding our text says, 'And he believed in the Lord; and he counted it to him for righteousness.' Yet he lacked, what many believers today are wanting, an assurance of the inheritance. The wide prevalence of uncertainty in religious matters at the present time is deplorable. We seem to need a religious abstract office to examine the titles of the heavenly inheritance. The matter of assurance is not a mere sentiment. It is vital and practical in its relation to Christian service. The man who is not sure of his interest in a piece of property is not the one to take the best care of it."

"Uncertainty with regard to sin, its reality and its guilt, paves the way for uncertainty in regard to salvation. He who only fears he is lost may sometime hope he is saved, but he is not likely to get much further. The Spirit of God is the source of knowledge. Connected with this one source are two channels, the Word of God and the conscience of man. The Spirit's work is first to 'convince the world of sin.' The Fall, the Law, and the Sacrifice, are the three great nerve centers of inspired teaching concerning sin.

"He who convinces of sin convinces also of salvation by the direct testimony of his word and the illumination of our understanding. Many believers are tossed to and fro, like a ship without anchorage, because they keep the anchor inside the ship, attached to their own feelings, instead of holding on to the mighty word of the omnipotent God. There are certain things that stand or fall together. Christ's work and our salvation. Christian joy and an honest Christian walk. These are always pairs. What God's Word unites let us not separate. Every one should be safe, sure, and glad. Safe through Christ's work for us. Sure through God's word to us. Glad through the Spirit's witness in us."

Tainted Money.

Benjamin Fay Mills spoke at Fellowship service in Blanchard Hall yesterday morning. The topic yesterday was "Tainted Money." Mr. Mills reviewed the recent controversy in the Congregational Church over money gained by unworthy methods and ending in the indorsement by nine-tenths of the corporate members of the Board of Missions. He expressed the belief that this action marks the low water of the condition of popular religious institutions.

"For a church to solicit funds from such a source," said he, "for the conversion of 'heathen' to such 'Christianity' seems to me unspeakably grotesque and pathetic and necessitates the surrender of every principle worth living or dying for, in our modern life. Coming nearer to the main question, I believe it to be a fact that tainted money naturally seeks unworthy channels. In time it may and must purify itself, as does any running stream, but unless otherwise explained the bestowal of money gained by unjust methods upon any object is a disparagement of the integrity of that object. The receiver is as bad as the thief."

Shall Stand Forever.

Rev. Alfred Inwood of Santa Barbara preached at Trinity Methodist Church South last evening from the text found in Daniel II, 44: "The kingdom of God which shall stand forever." He drew attention to the tragedy and mystery of the book of Daniel. It begins with a dream and the last chapter is crowded with visions. The great king dreamed of a ruined empire and the message it brings is the truth that the kingdom of God is the only permanent, indestructible, growing and conquering thing in the world. Attempts have been made to crush it, mighty blows have been struck against it but still it rises supreme and dominates everything else. The church of Christ today is coming to its conflict, things are challenging it as never before but it has a stronger grip on the world than ever. Sometimes we ask if life is worth living. It depends upon two things: what view you take of it and what you put into it; whether you build on the low level of earth, or the high plane of the divine and the eternal. The first great duty is the making of our life, the building into it of the granite principles that will stand the stress and strain. Whittier says, "If you want to make life worth living join yourself to some great cause." The self-centered life is the dwarfed life. Build the kingdom into other lives as well as into your own.

The closing prayer was made by a brother of the preacher, Rev. E. J. Inwood of Riverside. The pastor of the church, Rev. E. P. Ryland made a strong plea for funds to carry on the work of the Epworth League in Cuba, asking for $200, one-half of which had been virtually promised.

New Year's Sermon.

Before a congregation that filled Temple B'nai B'rith beyond its capacity, Rabbi Hecht delivered his annual New Year's sermon, taking for his theme, "The Enemy, the Alarm and the Battle."

He began by expressing his gratification at the generous response to the call of an ancient, honored and hallowed religion, characterized it as a welcome sight, quickening the heart to behold an entire, cherished and beloved congregation, animated by one thought, filled by one desire, uplifted by the same aspiration gathered around him in the house of the common Father.

"I would fain grasp and hold this precious hour and make it telling upon the true and ideal religious life of the year," he said. "I would show you true happiness, would lead you upon the path where it may be found; I would bring about a closer approach of man to man, of man to God, and therefore I would speak as I have never spoken before, speak with the tongue of an irresistible eloquence, with the voice of absolute conviction, with a heart glowing with love. But aware, as I am, of my weakness, knowing that the word is most inexpressive when the feeling is most intense, I ask you to let your heart and mind speak for me when my thoughts outrun my words."

On the duty of the hour, and of the inability of man to lift the veil of futurity, he continued: "Life is a battle, and every man and woman a soldier enlisted in the great battle, not as a volunteer, but drafted into service without being consulted, having no choice of position, pushed into life to do the best that is in him, and compelled to remain in the ranks without discharge until mustered out by the dread general, Death. No substitute can be purchased, no matter how rich the combatant, no shirking or shifting of personal responsibility, no matter how far reaching his influence. Prophet and seer, poet and philosopher, speak of life as a warfare with defeats and victories, and history proves on every page that every achievement in religion, in science, every reform in society and in politics was preceded by a struggle. But difficulties, and obstacles and struggles to overcome them are the factors that enter into the production of self-reliance, courage and heroism. Struggles are to our better nature what the harrow and the plow are to the soil, what the hammer and the chisel are to the marble that holds imprisoned the beautiful and perfect statue."

Speaking of the enemy, Dr. Hecht alluded at some length to the two kinds of adversaries, the open, honest adversary, who avows publicly his opposition, and the treacherous, tricky enemy who fights with closed visor, attacks from ambush, assumes the guise of friendship and under that mask works the destruction of his victim when the latter least expects it, when, indeed, he feels most secure.

Dr. Hecht next took occasion to define the alarm by the ceremony of the sound of the trumpet, a characteristic feature of the day, and showed the groundlessness of the objection on the part of the would-be intelligent, who deems to have established his claim to superior intelligence by ridiculing all ceremonialism.

The battle itself, he continued, is with enemies whose name is legion. Among those enemies he recounted pride, passion, vanity, and above all, prejudice, illustrating their destructive work at the hand of daily experience. The battle, he said, is serious, desperate, but not hopeless, and he concluded by admonishing his congregation to apply the teachings of religion to daily life and daily practice.

"Religion teaches that the strong devote his strength to the weak, but instead of assisting, it is to crush the weak that the strong uses, or rather abuses, his power; it is so with wealth, and with protection. Let us remedy these evils to the fullest extent of our ability, nor let us be discouraged if the millennium does not come tomorrow, remembering what an eminent writer said: 'It took the Eternal a millennium of millenniums to bring mankind to the point they now occupy.' Let us but keep in mind that the enemy is ever present, let us hear the sound of alarm, and then let us prepare with God in our heart, for the battle—for the victory."

OCTOPUS WAS LOADED.

One of the Strangest Accidents in the History of the Sea.

[Felicity (La.) Correspondence Chicago Tribune:] "The oyster lugger Jean Baptiste, with four men aboard, was blown up and totally destroyed in Terre Bonne Bay today. Two of the crew were killed and two rescued."

Behind that brief dispatch, printed in the newspapers throughout the United States, is hidden one of the strangest accidents of sea history—a story of perhaps the oddest, weirdest adventure in the annals of the gulf. The Jean Baptiste, an oyster lugger in season, was filling in the idle season by crabbing along the south shore of Louisiana when it was destroyed by a shell that originally was meant to sink one of Cervera's warships.

But it was the manner of the blowing up and the way in which the shell happened to travel from near Key West to a point half a mile off Timballer Island, in Terre Bonne Bay, that makes the story of the destruction of the Jean Baptiste sound like romance.

The shell, dumped overboard from one of the warships of Admiral Sampson's squadron at a point between Tampa and Key West, evidently was swallowed or carried by a giant octopus nearly one thousand miles to the westward, and brought in contact with the oyster lugger—after seven years—to destroy it. That the shell came from Sampson's ships is declared undoubted by naval experts, who declare that never since the Spanish-American War has any shell been cast overboard into the gulf, and, although they are hesitating and doubtful as to whether or not the explosives within the shells would maintain their dangerous character under water for seven years, they believe it is possible, and they are ready to credit the stories told by the survivors from the ill-fated Jean Baptiste.

The story is one so wild, so strange, so incredible that, even after it was fairly well substantiated, it was doubted by many until Paul Lemaire, the New Orleans expert, went to the scene, interviewed the survivors and gathered relics that seem to prove beyond doubt the authenticity of the story.

The lugger Jean Baptiste, one of the great fleet that gathers the gulf oysters in season, was laid up for repairs when the oyster season closed late in April, and when the painting and scraping and calking were all finished, Jules Arbault, the owner, determined to spend the summer crabbing along the coral reefs of the gulf shore of Louisiana.

All went well, it seems, until Wednesday. The Jean Baptiste was crawling along, its great lateen sail flapping idly in the breeze, at a point a mile off the shore of Timballer Island, crawling slowly along to the westward to where the low coral coast of Isle Dernier made a long blue line on the horizon.

There was a thunderstrom brewing over toward Mexico, and Capt. Arbault was watching it with questioning eyes. The Good Mother, creeping along before the soft breeze, its great sail slatting and slapping, was also watching the west for signs of the strom. The rim of dark purple grew and grew in the west. The breeze that had been pushing the two boats slowly westward died to nothing, and Arbault called to Filipe and to Hippolite to prepare for a blow.

The wind struck fiercely, with sudden gusts that kicked up a high sea in a few minutes. The luggers were running, perhaps one hundred yards apart, toward the quiet water under the shelter of Timballer Island.

Suddenly, above the howl of the wind and the slapping of the giant sail, Filipe heard orders screamed by Hippolite and by Arbault at the same instant:

"Port! port!" yelled both men. "We're on the rocks."

Filipe jammed the rudder over hard, threw his whole weight against it—and, while the vessel pitched wildly, waited for the shock.

There was a sound as if a thud—then a terrific explosion—and the Jean Baptiste and four men were hurled into the air, the men stunned or dead.

Around them, above the seas kicked up by the storm, there was a tremendous thrashing of the sea. Huge arms, waving and beating, lifted and thrashed the water wildly. Suddenly the water was filled with blood and the air with a terrible stench.

Capt. Morcent of the Good Mother—paralyzed for an instant by the explosion and the terrific commotion in the water, threw over his helm, and beat up to the scene. The whirlpool in the water was subsiding slowly. Once in awhile a giant arm flapped out of the water and spanked down with terrific force.

The two Frenchmen of the crew of the Good Mother cowered in terror, expecting that they, too, would be blown to atoms within a few moments.

But Morenci was unafraid. He had seen the thing, and knew that what the crew thought was some horrible monster was nothing but a giant squid. In spite of the storm, which was beating furiously upon them, the crew of the Good Mother managed to pick up Arbault and Filipe—the others were dead, killed by the explosion, or stunned by it and drowned.

Also they saw fragments of the giant cuttlefish strewn in the water, the arms still waving—the body blown to fragments—and the ink and blood from the great fish dyeing the storm-torn waters.

Ten minutes later they ran under the lee of Timballer Island into the calm waters of Terre Bonne Bay, and were saved.

Then Filipe and Capt. Arbault told their stroy. While running free before the rising wind they had seen a dark object ahead, which they thought was the half-hidden crest of a reef. They had run upon the object, it had exploded, and their vessel was destroyed.

The Old Order Changes.

The Italians are now proudly calling themselves "the Japanese of Europe." Napoleon may yet be referred to as "the Oyama of France," Nelson as the "Englsh Togo," and Bismarck as "the Konmura of Germany."—[Chicago Record-Herald.

THE TWO TREES.

Within a dark, majestic wood
Where joyous song birds spread their wings,
Two stately trees, all to the good,
Conversed as follows, noble things:

"When I am felled," remarked the first,
"I fain would take an ocean trip.
I hope that I, in brine immersed,
Shall be a portion of a ship.

"I hope to sail to foreign shore
And put the raging storm to shame,
Permitting barnacles galore
To cling to my receptive frame."

"From ships I fain would hold aloof,"
The other giant murmured low;
"I hope to figure in a roof
And shield a hearth and home from woe.

"I would not gaze from vessel's keel
At gloomy caverns of the sea;
I fain would view the skies and feel
The cooling breeze sweep over me."

. . . . . .

Soon fell those trees by woodman's hand.
But, ah! they tasted sorrow's dregs,
For one was used for toothpicks and
The other one for wooden legs.

FOR SALE—
HOMESEEKERS, HERE IS SOMETHING THAT WILL INTEREST YOU.

Buena Park is only 22 miles from Los Angeles on the S. P. R.R., and the new Santa Ana electric road. Here you find the best land in California, and unlimited water for irrigation. This locality has never been boomed or exploited, and values are not inflated. You can buy the best land here from $50 to $200 per acre; the $300 land is highly improved income-paying property. Now is the time to buy before prices go up. By January 1st, values will advance 25 per cent. The new road will be in operation by Nov. 1st and then there will not be land enough for the buyers. Here are a few bargains.

20 acres, unimproved, $1400; near R.R. and school; fine level land.

70 acres unimproved, $4000; 1 mile from electric; all good land.

40 acres, highly improved, 6-room house, barn, large pumping plant, all stock and implements; 15 acres in alfalfa, only $8500.

65 acres highly improved dairy ranch, pumping plant; silo, all stock goes for $9500.

If you desire any further information concerning this excellent locality address A. L. BENNETT, Buena Park, Orange county, Cal. 3

FIERCE FLAME SWEEPS CLEAN.

Morning Blaze Destroys Mill and Residence.

Large Area Burned and Loss Reaches $25,000.

Narrow Escape of Owner of Burning Building.

Early yesterday morning a fierce fire destroyed a large planing mill, and a two-story residence, besides damaging several small cottages on Myrtle avenue south of Pico street.

The mill was the property of W. H. Wahlenmaier and was known as the Myrtle Avenue Planing Mill. The residence was owned by Swan Johnson, who, with his wife, occupied the second story of the dwelling. The lower floor was vacant, a family having recently moved away.

The fire started at 3:30 o'clock in the southwest corner of the mill building, and the flames spread rapidly to surrounding piles of lumber. The total loss was $23,000, only partly covered by insurance, the entire amount carried by the mill owner being $3500.

Johnson's residence was also a total loss. The occupants barely escaping with their lives.

Despite the efforts of the fire company the flames spread from the mill to adjoining residences. A brisk breeze fanned the flames and drove them in the direction of the Johnson home. The heat was so intense that cottages on the other side of the street were badly scorched.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were asleep in the upper story of their home. They awoke to find their house surrounded with a belt of fire. In their night robes they rushed from the dwelling. Johnson returned for articles of clothing and was almost caught in the burning building. He was compelled to jump from the lower window of the blazing house in order to escape. His hands and face were severely burned.

Swan Johnson is more than 60 years of age, and with his wife came to Los Angeles about three years ago. He depended on the rental of the lower story of his dwelling, together with a shack at the rear of the house, for a livelihood, as he is not able to do manual work.

The shack at the rear of the Johnson home was occupied by a negro family named Russell. They were burned out and lost everything.

There was no insurance on the house or shack belonging to Johnson. He loses not only his home but every stick of furniture. Because of the proximity of the mill, Johnson says, insurance rates were so high he could not afford to carry a policy. Loren Larsen, whose house was badly scorched, has given Mr. and Mrs. Johnson a temporary home.

The burned district covers a considerable area, and ashes and charred wood were carried to the roofs and porches of dwellings throughout the block.

WHY NOT MAKE FOR HOME USE?

CEMENT EXPERT SUGGESTS AN IMPORTANT PLAN.

This What is Being Done on Site of Great Tonto Basin Dam Where Government is Maging Its Own Cement and Saving Thousands of Dollars Daily.

Few persons in this section of the country know of the magnitude of the work which the United States government is doing in Arizona for the purpose of reclaiming an immense arid tract. The work has been going on for more than a year now, but only those who have visited the place can have any conception of what Uncle Sam is doing there. Edward Duryee, a specialist in cement, and one of the authorities on that subject, has just returned from the great work on the Tonto Basin dam. He speaks enthusiastically as to the prospects there, and also gives to Los Angeles contractors a hint as to how they might be able to avoid the present stringency in cement. He said:

"The process of irrigating the 200,000 acres in and around the Phoenix Valley is now in rapid progress by the government. The picturesque stage road which runs from Mesa to the place, where the enormous dam is being built, about sixty-five miles east, is certainly one to rank with many renowned stage drives, in its extreme beauty of scenery. The nineteen-mile canal, which has just been completed, under contract of Robert Sherer Company, Los Angeles, will eventually produce about 2000 horse power, and now gives about 1000, which supplies electricity for the whole valley, and the necessary force in the construction of the cement mill. When it was estimated that this immense project, including the construction of the dam, 260 feet high above bedrock and 16 feet thick at the crest, would take about 80,000 barrels of cement, many bids were made which averaged $5.35 per barrel, including freight. So we built our own little model cement plant, and are now manufacturing the article at $3 per barrel. This mill is not a large one, but it produces about 350 barrels a day, and more than fills the demand. The structure was completed March, and now in the town of Roosevelt, where it is located, there is a settlement of almost a thousand people. The reservoir will be made so as to contain 1,200,000 acre-feet. California is well represented in this enterprise, both the contract for the canals and the one for the great iron gates being in the hands of California companies. This State furnishes the oil, and several of the experienced cement makers in Roosevelt are from this State.

"Bids are still being made on the other large work of this kind, on the Laguna dam, about twelve miles above Yuma on the Colorado River. Other current projects of this nature in this country are those of Honato, N. M.; Littleton, Colo.; Shoshone, Wyo.; Huntley, Mont.; Minnidoka, Idaho; Lovelock, Nev., and others. The amount of money allotted to this purpose is about $25,000,000.

"The demand for cement in California is enormous, and there is absolutely no reason, as far as the material is concerned, why one of the leading mills of the country could not be established right here in the southern part of the State. The very idea of having to import cement to California is preposterous. There are three small mills in this city, and the one in Napa county is to be increased in its capacity from being able to produce 600 barrels per day to 1200 barrels, but around here, preferably in the Tehachepi region, it would be possible to construct an establishment which might surpass the greatest Portland-cement mill in the world, that of the Atlas Works in Pennsylvania, producing 30,000 barrels a day.

SANTA MARIA.

STILL MORE TROUBLE.

SANTA MARIA, Sept. 30.—There is trouble again between the Marre estate and the Union Oil Company. It seems the Marre boys have threatened to destroy the pipe line that now crosses their lands, and the Union Oil Company has had issued an injunction enjoining them from injuring their property. It is claimed that the daily flow of oil through the pipes is from 2000 to 7500 barrels.

The big race meeting scheduled to take place here October 6 to 11 inclusive, under the auspices of the Santa Maria Park Association, is creating lively interest and already the acting secretary, William Mead, has a list of entries which bids fair to eclipse any meeting ever before held here.

The bean crop this year is far below expectations, on account of mildew and the over-rank growth of vine. Small whites are averaging five to six sacks per acre, where twelve sacks were looked for. On the heavy lands it averages twelve, where twenty sacks were expected. The price of small whites is quite good and will make up in part for the lesser yield. Pink beans have yielded better but not up to expectations, and prices are now declining owing to the heavy river production. The quality of the beans is excellent; nearly all of the small whites will grade No. 1.

The Standard Oil Company has completed its pipe line to Port Harford and is now using the same. The line works satisfactorily and the oil run into the line at the Pinal Wells gravitates to the Port without pumping.

The Western Union Oil has begun the delivery of oil as provided in a contract recently entered into with the Standard for 200,0000 barrels.

Coulter Dry Goods Co

224-226-228 South Hill Street

We exemplify anew today our facilities for underbuying and selling. Our general buyer has been in New York for the past three months; many heads of departments have recently returned, while our New York representatives are always in the market and nothing new or desirable escapes their attention. Plans laid months ago in the store have been consummated; factories at home and abroad are always busy with our orders. No personal need or home want, of usefulness or adornment, but is fully met in the great stocks gathered here for fall and winter demands. Every dollar you spend at Coulter's gives a good account of itself—often it does double duty. Your money will be invested to best advantage if you avail yourselves of the many opportunities daily offered, examples of which are printed in this advertisement.

New Leather Goods

The latest evolutions of the hand bag are here, in designs really and truly new, and for the most part, exclusive with us. Patent leather, seal, walrus, alligator and calfskin, in shades to match one's costume (oxfords, browns, green and blues) comprise the number. While fashion favors the smaller bags, the larger shapes are in great demand as well, and our lines are complete—at a price range so extensive as to meet the requirements of every taste.

Belts in combination taffeta and white kid tailored effects, direct from New York, have just arrived.

Monday Special

Wide Embroideries 25c a Yard

Corset cover embroideries, 12 to 18 inches wide, with beading edges; and Swiss flouncing in good widths, 25c a yard. Our New York buyer secured these under value, so we can sell them the same way. Dress Goods

The Most Fetching Autumn Weaves

If you knew just how largely we've bought you'd think that we expect to sell every woman in Los Angeles a dress—we shall sell hundreds of them. Women depend on the Coulter store for quality, style and right prices. We've selected wisely—winnowed out the chaff thoroughly—none of the riffraff that's "expensive at any price," so universally and abundantly displayed at seemingly low prices, will be found at this—YOUR store.

An alluring Monday special:

Cream Dress Goods $1 Yard

Beautifully rich cream stuffs, in a variety of weaves correct for street or dress wear, or for social functions, specially priced at $1 a yard.

Our Free Skirt Making Offer

We will make to order from goods purchased here at a dollar or more a yard, a plain skirt, or the popular circular skirt, absolutely free.

Special for Monday

Made-to-Order Tailored Suit from Any Piece of Goods in Our Stock $67.50

On Monday we will accept twenty-five orders for silk or satin lined tailored-to-measure suits in the long coat effects now decreed fashionable; materials to be selected by customer from any piece of goods in our entire Dress Goods Department. Silk drop skirt will entail a nominal additional cost. An offer of equal merit is seldom made; a custom suit of this sort would ordinarily cost not less than $90.00. As we must limit the orders to twenty-five, we advise early choosing.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention. Rates one cent a word each insertion in the Daily; 1¼ cents per word in the Sunday edition; minimum charge, 25c.

"Liner" (classified) advertisements on Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 10 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading of "Too Late to Classify."

Times' "Liner" Advertisers—Important. Note change in rate for Sunday classified advertisements. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1¼ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1893, The Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

For advertisements of large business colleges and other educational institutions see column headed "Schools and Colleges."

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in the Times office before 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Rate, 1¼ cents per word.

JOYS OF MATERNITY
A WOMAN'S BEST HOPES REALIZED
Mrs. Potts Tells How Women Should Prepare for Motherhood

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to a displacement of the womb or lack of strength in the generative organs.

Mrs. Anna Potts

Frequent backache and distressing pains, accompanied by offensive discharges and generally by irregular and scanty menstruation indicate a displacement or nerve degeneration of the womb and surrounding organs.

The question that troubles women is how can a woman who has some female trouble bear healthy children?

Mrs. Anna Potts, of 510 Park Avenue, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

My Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"During the early part of my married life I was delicate in health; both my husband and I were very anxious for a child to bless our home, but I had two miscarriages, and could not carry a child to maturity. A neighbor who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so and soon felt that I was growing stronger, my headaches and backaches left me, I had no more bearing-down pains, and felt like a new woman. Within a year I became the mother of a strong, healthy child, the joy of our home. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a splendid remedy, and I wish every woman who wants to become a mother would try it."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free to expectant or would-be mothers.

WHERE IS COLON?

Herman Colon, a young man from Norwalk, disappeared from a restaurant on South Main street last night after he had excused himself to several friends with whom he was dining. Colon had about $50 in his pocket when he disappeared, and his friends fear foul play. The police were asked to locate him.

BLOOD ON HIS FACE.

J. R. Wainwright, alias Jack Ridell, as he preferred to call himself at the Police Station, was arrested last night in a Broadway restaurant after he had rushed into the place with blood on his hands and face. Wainwright is booked as a suspect, and the police are investigating a cutting affray in the vicinity of Hill and Third streets, in which he is said to have figured. Wainwright is a well-dressed man, apparently 24 years old. He would tell nothing of the affray before he was locked up.

SAN DIEGO IN GORGEOUS COAT.

READY TO WELCOME ODD FELLOWS ENCAMPMENT.

Royal Purple and Gold Deck the City of Bay and Climate—Preparations Complete and Nothing Overlooked—Two Thousand Chevaliers and Rebekahs from All Over State.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 1.—When the Odd Fellows arrive tomorrow for the Grand Encampment of California of the order, they will find the city ready to welcome them. Preparations for the big celebration are complete and the Executive Committee will meet but once more, and then only to clean up a few minor details such as always show up at the last moment.

The city is in gala dress in honor of the chevaliers. Pennants of royal purple and gold have been strung across the streets between every set of trolley poles on D, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and H streets, and the effect is striking and enlivening, to say the least.

Nearly every business block in town is decorated from sidewalk to cornice. The City Hall is resplendent with royal purple and gold and American flags, while the Courthouse is festooned with purple and gold streamers reaching from the ground to the top of the building.

The H-street Barracks, which have been lent by the War Department, are ready. Five hundred cots have been put in for the free housing of chevaliers. The Coronado Beach Company lent the encampment the cots, taking them from Tent City.

Co. B Armory has been made ready for the sessions of the Grand Encampment, while I.O.O.F. Hall is ready for the Rebekahs to convene.

The Executive Committee faced a problem the past week which threatened to impair the success of the encampment. The street banners with the big emblems of the order worked in them which were ordered from the East in August, had not arrived; neither have they come yet. The manufacturers attempted to trace them, but for some reason the decorations could not be located. It was a big disappointment to the committee, but there was no time to lose, so thousands of pennants were ordered and turned out at limit speed here in San Diego. The street railroad company put them in place by means of their repair towers, and since they have been hung the doubt is expressed as to whether the big banners would have made any better effect.

The Santa Barbara delegation arrived from the Channel City this afternoon and immediately marched to the barracks, where they were quartered. A large delegation is expected to arrive from Los Angeles tomorrow afternoon on the steamer San Diego, while still others are looked for to come on the Odd Fellows' special which is due here at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

This train is expected to bring about five hundred chevaliers under command of Gen. H. O. Brower. They will march to the barracks and be quartered there. In the evening an informal reception will be tendered the visitors at the Armory.

The big prize drill for which valuable prizes have been hung up is creating a great deal of interest, and eight cantons have entered for the event. San Francisco Canton, No. 5, in charge of Capt. Ritter, is the favorite so far. They have adopted as a motto "First prize or none," and have been drilling three or four nights a week for more than a month in preparation for this event. Capt. Ritter has won several national contests with different cantons, and it was this canton under his command which made the score of 94¾ at Paso Robles two years ago. He says his men can do better than that this year.

The Vallejo canton is recognized as a dangerous competitor, however, and several other organizations are expected to give either one of these a hard rub. The judges will be army officers.

Maj. George F. Naismith, assistant adjutant-general of the Department of California Patriarchs Militant, arrived in San Diego yesterday from San Francisco, accompanied by his wife. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the preparations made for the entertainment of the Odd Fellows.

Visitors to the encampment are arriving in large numbers by every train, and it is thought that by tomorrow night 2000 visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will be in the city.

Members of the Hotel Committee are meeting the trains long before they reach San Diego and placing the visitors.

In honor of the visitors the public schools will close Thursday morning to give all pupils and teachers an opportunity to see the big parade, which is to be one of the main features of the encampment.

Already candidates for next year's grand encampment have appeared. Hanford was the first to come into the open. Watsonville was next to declare herself, and a strong delegation from there will arrive tomorrow determined to land the encampment. Santa Barbara is the latest aspirant for the honor, and the canton and encampment members who arrived this afternoon have already begun their campaign.

BORN FULL-GROWN.
IRRIGATION ASSOCIATION.

The Western Slope Irrigation Association was born yesterday, full grown, at an enthusiastic and largely-attended meeting of the people of the entire Slope, held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. William E. Smythe, who has been untiring in his efforts in the cause of irrigation for the western slope, and who has been chairman of the committee which has had the work in charge, was unanimously elected president of the permanent organization. The constitution and bylaws adopted state the purpose of the organization to be the irrigation of the entire western slope by conserving the waters thereof through government aid. The usual officers were elected and an executive committee and an advisory council of fifty.

The most prominent men in the county are in the new organization, and take an active part in its work. The Executive Committee is composed of Simon Levi, G. W. Marston, C. L. Jossiyn, W. H. Holcomb, James A. Jasper, Charles Kelly, J. S. Ackerman and F. E. Meriam of Chula Vista, and H. C. Allen of Bonita.

The name of U. S. Grant, Jr., heads the advisory council, and every man chosen on this board is well known all over the Slope.

The Bay Shore and Pacific Construction Company was organized yesterday afternoon. This company is expected to construct the line H. T. Richards has been surveying through the city and out into the country as far as Ramona. Several surveys for a railroad over such a route have been made. H. T. Richards was elected president of the construction company.

Chief A. B. Cairnes of the San Diego fire department returned yesterday from an extended northern vacation trip, having spent most of his time at the Portland fair.

County Treasurer John F. Schwartz made his monthly report yesterday, and the figures showed that the county has on hand $59,627.06. This is a good deal less than is usually in the treasury.

PORT ITEMS.

WEATHER, Clear; wind southwest, velocity 10 miles.

The tug Redondo arrived last evening from San Diego with a dredger in tow, returned south to convey two lights to this port.

The dredger will be used in addition to the dredger San Pedro, in deepening the entrance to the inner harbor.

The Peer and the Butler.

London society folk are much amused at a recent misadventure of Lord Newtown-Butler, who is a dignified, smart-looking man, with rather a stiff carriage, and who is himself responsible for the story. It was a musical at home in Belgravia, to which his lordship was invited, and, being a rainy night, he wore a felt hat and a long waterproof coat over his evening dress. The family butler opened the door to him, looked puzzled for a moment, and then asked tentatively: "Name, please."

"Lord Newtown-Butler," was the reply.

"Oh, Lord Newton's butler, are you? Come along, old chap, and have a drop of something in the housekeeper's room. They've got a

MISCHIEF LED ALL THE WAY.

Popular Racing Craft Defeats All Competitors.

Muriel Wins First Honors in Her Classification.

South Coast Yacht Regatta Most Successful Yet.

It was Mischief all the way. She went out. She did them up. She returned with the bullion. In Class B it was Muriel, but not all the way, and except for an accident to the Myth in carrying away the jaws of her gaff history would have been different for the Muriel.

The regatta as a whole was a dream of beauty. One part of the Pacific sometimes decks itself out in a coloring that almost acts like a drug; and, properly, the story of yesterday's yacht races to the Point Firmin Lighthouse should only be told in an illuminated missal and with pictures giving some idea of the sixty-mile views. When seas, skies and islands steal the colors of the abalone, there is only one word that can tell it all—California. Many yachts started with the racing fleets yesterday, but those white sails were pink and purple and bluish gray and golden poppy before the day was over, and in the magic of the whole thing there was only one name possible—California. To be won by speed there were silver cups and glories that were gilded, but the prizes of health and pleasure went to all—and that's what caught the crowd.

The course sailed was a long one; from the Terminal Island quarters of the South Coast Yacht Club, around the Government Breakwater and against the wind to the Whistling Buoy off the Point Firmin light; then back to the bay and round the bell buoy off Dead Man's Island; then back to round the mournful moaner off the lighthouse, with a final dash for home before the wind.

For this, the wind was light at the start and for the first beat up the shore, but on the second half of the race there was wind enough for all, and the yachts had sails awash.

The preparatory gun for the race of Class B was fired at 12:55, and the sharp Myth came first to the line after the starting gun at 1 o'clock. She was closely followed by the Katrina, and the Muriel, owned and sailed by Victor Stewart, came later. This boat stood out to sea at once, while the other two went up into the corner under Dead Man's Island, the Myth being to windward and ahead, as all three sailed out past the breakwater.

The preparatory gun for the bigger boats of Class A was given at 1:15, at which time Mischief was to windward. She soon headed for the line and came down fast with a lap on the yawl Minerva as both neared the anchored boat that marked the south end of the starting line. There was a close fit here and it looked like a foul between the two leaders, but, if so, the Mischief had the right of way.

Third in crossing was the new Typhoon, which entered the race far to leeward on the line. Fourth came the Marine, with owner C. H. Wedgewood at the stick. Then the Minerva, in charge of Joseph Pugh, Mr. Clarke and some professionals. The Venus crossed last and some distance behind all others.

The imported freak Detroit was on hand with a reef in her mainsail to see what she could do with the others; but she was not officially in the race, and it required a good deal of management to keep her from going ahead of all the others.

This was the first official start of the Typhoon in any race and the boat made slow work of it in the moderate breeze of the moment. At first it looked as if she could not point with the others, which was perhaps due to her jib not being fully hoisted, but afterward she pointed better, though unable to go the pace with the fleet.

Pugh did good business with the Minerva by going straight out seaward, as the wind hauled enough to let all lie their course to the end of the breakwater. In this beat out, the Venus did the best of any as long as the wind was light, but as the fleet drew away from the land a better area of power was reached, and then the Mischief got down to work. She drew out a hundred yards ahead of the Venus in a few minutes and before her followers reached the end of the breakwater it was seen that she was a good three hundred yards ahead.

In this locality there was a fine tournament, the Venus and Marie having it out hammer and tongs, both beating the Minerva. The Detroit showed much better pointing than in the Ocean Park races and even tried to weather the Venus, a feat that was plainly impossible in the early part of the season. But Detroit then bore away to leeward of all the racers, so as not to incommode them, and the Typhoon came along standing straight up on her flat floor while the others careened to their rails. She stood up as straight as the grub ship Cabrillo at Venice and in all this wind she was as show as cold tar.

The committee steamer Yelis, lent by William Baker, of Pasadena to the officials of the club, then steamed ahead slowly while the fleets worked silently through the long ocean swells that foamed high on the big San Pedro breakwater. They kept close in under the cliffs hoping for chance slants off the land, while the yawl Minerva went far seaward and passed wholly into the region of memory.

When Class B was overtaken the Muriel was found two hundred yards to windward of the Myth. But to know the coast is sometimes as good as extra speed, and Joe Fellows then took the Myth in close to the kelp beds under the high cliffs and in this way seemed to be able to lee-bow a current that was flowing easterly past the whistling buoy. By this move he edged his craft out to windward of the Muriel and rounded the mark first.

The official times at the whistler were: Myth, 2:21:30; Muriel, 2:22:30; Katrina, 2:30:00.

The Mischief here came along well in the lead, but, not watching the fact that Fellows on the Myth had set his spinnaker to port for the run home, or that Muriel had set her's on the wrong side, Mischief got her's ready for the starboard side, and lowered the boom, but after turning the mark, saw her mistake, and gybed over. One of the great features of the day was that the Marie gave the Venus a clean licking in the windward work to this mark, and it was a hard fight all the way. Class A was here timed: Mischief, 2:28:55; Marie, 2:31:30; Venus, 2:32:15.

Owing to having her wings set properly, the Myth held her lead of Muriel all the way back to the bell buoy off Dead Man's Island. But, in spite of cracking on all balloons, the Venus did not catch the Marie, and they both lost on Mischief. It was spirited sailing down the wind, and the "woollies" in the bay gave balloon jibs all they wanted, but the yachts staggered round the bell buoy in this order:

Myth, 2:48:00; Muriel, 2:48:30; Mischief, 2:51:15; Marie, 2:54:00; Venus, 2:56:30, after which followed Katrina and Seabird. The Marie and Venus were the only two who took this mark smartly in one swing. The Mischief here lost over fifty yards for nothing, but she could well afford a little eccentricities that seemed desirable, as she had a good lead.

On the beat back to the high cliffs of the cape the Minerva and Typhoon were met, miles behind, and apparently having a good neck-and-neck race by themselves. The wind was now three times as strong as in the first part of the race, and the fight of the day was with Marie and Venus. As they fought it out like warring eagles under the precipices of Point Firmin, they made a great picture, swooping and darting in the cross lacks past the yellow kelp beds, through the purple shadows and along the white surf that dashed high up the cliffs.

At this mark Mischief turned at 3:25:00; the Marie at 3:42:30, and the Venus at 3:42:45.

"Spinnakers and balloon jibs!" was the next order, and under these bellying globes of light canvas the fleets tore away for home, ripping past the tame sea birds and ducks, past the plover and the sandpipers that rat out on the long prairie swells; past the fishereon the breakwater, and the sirens in the launches, and on away for home with the waters piled up high in front, and the wake sketched out with powdered chalk behind.

The Mischief's finish was timed at 4:09:25, and she nearly lost the results of all her fine sailing, through getting stuck in a belt of calm close to the last gun. Here she stopped dead, dropped her balloon jib, set the working one, and by dint of hard prayer managed to drift across the finish line.

The others got treated in much the same way, and in the contest of the calms the Venus finished ahead of Marie at 4:21:20, and Wedgewood called it off at 4:22:30. Muriel finished at 4:29:00. She allowed Myth about three minutes, but could afford it. Myth broke the jaws of her gaff and apparently lost the race through accident.

Mischief's elapsed time was 2:49:25, and her corrected time 2:48:22. Venus's elapsed time was 3:01:20, and Marie's was 3:02:30. After making all time allowances, Mischief takes a clean-cut win by about six minutes on corrected time. A number of ladies went aboard Mischief after the race, and sailed in her back to San Pedro Harbor.

MINOR BALL.

SUNDAY DOUBLE-HEADER.

The baseball fans who stayed in the city yesterday and couldn't miss Sunday baseball, saw a good performance at Chutes Park in an interesting double header between the Los Angeles Pacific and the Pacific Coast Planing Mill teams in one game and the Christophers and the Dyas-Cline teams in the other. In one game the Pacifics won by a score of 12 to 7 after playing seven innings and in the other the Dyas team was victorious by a 4 to 1 score in nine innings. A fair sized crowd of spectators saw the sport.

The Pacifics had an easy time of it in their game for they hit the Planing Mill pitcher all around the ring and in the fourth inning when they made but one hit they piled up four runs off misplays.

In the other game the Christophers could not connect with Garcia at the right time and were shut out until the eighth inning when three singles made them a run. Garcia was touched up for eight swats but he kept them scattered. Simons went in to pitch for the losers but the Dyas team picked four hits and as many runs off him in the first inning and that won the game.

The Hamburger team went out to Rivera yesterday afternoon and skinned the team of that town by a 6-to-4 score. The features of the game were the pitching of Hartmann for the winners, who allowed but two dinky hits, and the fielding of Third Baseman McDonald and Shortstop Dorsey. The batteries were Hartmann and Snodgrass and Lucero and Meats.

The police and firemen teams will play a benefit game at Chutes Park Sunday for Hoseman Sepulveda, who is sick. In order to add to the occasion, Manager Bennett of the Hamburger team has offered to play his team against any city team in order to make a double-header.

The Seventh Street Specials beat the Home Ice team yesterday by a 10-to-6 score, the feature being the pitching of Elmer Riger for the winners. He struck out fourteen batsmen, and allowed but five hits.

RIFLE PRACTICE.

TURNERS' SUNDAY SHOOT.

Owing the warm weather there was but a small attendance at the Turners' monthly medal shoot at Schuetzen Park yesterday, and with the exception of Joe Singer, the marksmen shot below their usual form. Singer won the champion medal with a score of 205, and the other four medals were won by C. Goltner, F. Huebsch, H. Pfirrmann and Max Fresee. The scores were as follows: Singer, 205; John Hauerwaas, 159; William Frick, 185; C. Gollmer, 177; F. Huebsch, 164; H. Pfirrmann, 144; Max Fresee, 141; C. Krempel, 140.

FOOTBALL.

ENGLISHMEN DEFEATED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—In the fastest game of association football ever witnessed in the West, the All-Chicago team, composed of the best players of this game in the city, today defeated the British eleven by the score of 2 to 1. This is the first time the English team has ever been beaten by an American team during their visit. The work of the visitors was perfect, but the locals excelled in the kicking game, winning both their goals by long kicks from the field.

GUARDSMEN-U.S.C.

For the first real scrimmage of the season Coach Holmes's football squad will line up Wednesday afternoon on Bovard Field against a picked eleven from Co. F, N.G.C.

The soldier boys have a strong team and for the past few days have been practicing signals and executing field maneuvers with a precision that bespeaks for them a creditable showing against the men of U.S.C.

The militia team will average about 170 pounds, and several of the boys have had experience on college elevens. The team work, however, of the pick-up bunch is far from perfect and a well-trained college eleven should easily buck wide holes through the line.

The guardsmen will have the following line-up: Pardee right end; Schnider, left guard; Cline, left tackle; Moore, left end; Wilson, quarterback; Fergusson, right guard; Anderson, left guard; Ross, fullback.

The National Guard team is scheduled to play a game with Occidental on the latter's grounds on Saturday.

BOXERS STOP HEAVY WORK.

All are Now in Shape for Tuesday Night.

Solomon is Only Favorite in the Betting.

Hanlon and Herrera to Meet First Week in November.

The boxers who will meet before the Pacific Athletic Club on Tuesday night have knocked off their heavy training, and from now on will take life easy for the first time since they commenced training. The sports are taking great interest in the matches for the men are reported to be in good condition, and the sale of seats has been large, for it is not often that one can see five ten-round contests for the price of one admission. It is undoubtedly the best card of fights that has ever been offered in this city.

Jack Cordell and Frank Mayfield, who are to meet two very worthy opponents in what might be called the main events, left San Francisco last night, and will reach here this morning, and with the arrival of these two the boxers will all be on the ground, the others having been here some time. Cordell and Mayfield have been doing their training near San Francisco, while the other men have been working at the club pavilion in this city, and have drawn large crowds of sports to see them work.

The sale of seats has been such as to assure a big house, and those who wish to see the show should lose no time. There has been considerable betting on the Cordell, Mayfield and Solomon matches, and more money will come out today. As a matter of fact, the men are believed to be so evenly matched, with one exception that the money has generally been laid on at evens, but in the Solomon-Walsh fight Solomon is the favorite at 10 to 8, and not an overabundance of Solomon money in sight, either. The Kid has stopped many an aspiring young pug in his time, but it is the general belief that he will have to go some to make young Walsh back up.

Owing to the number of contests, the programme will start promptly at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, and the first pair will be in the ring five minutes before that time, so that these sports who want to see everything will have to hurry.

The Angelo-Cordell match seems to be the one that is exciting the most interest among the sports. It is really a main event of real importance, for both men have been beaten but once in their careers, and that time by crack fighters. Angelo is so sure of himself that he agrees that if he beats Cordell he will fight Eddie Hanlon at 125 pounds, winner take all. Angelo is a heavy lightweight, and Hanlon may not make the weight for him, which is a little heavy for Eddie.

Both Twin Sullivan and Burns have arrived here, and will begin heavy work at once for their go October 17.

Manager McCarey has finally signed Herrera and Hanlon for Friday, November 3.

LOSE TWO SUNDAY GAMES TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Bush Pitcher Brown Lasts Only Three Innings and Loses the First Game While Hitt Beats Baum in Second—Oakland Skins Tigers in One Game and Ties Second.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1.—The San Francisco team made it two straight today. In the forenoon contest Brown lasted for three innings, and in that period the locals piled up all of their runs and four hits. Gray pitched the game out in good style. The afternoon game had an exciting finish. In the eighth Los Angeles tied the score, but in the second half of the inning San Francisco rapped Baum for five safe shots and scored four runs. Los Angeles in the ninth turned on Hitt and got three men across the plate, but the one run to tie again was lacking. Scores:

GAMES TRANSFERRED.

TACOMA SERIES SWITCHED.

In accordance at least with the wishes of the local fans the Los Angeles-Tacoma series that was scheduled to be played at Tacoma next week, will be transferred to this city, owing to the small attendance at the games in Tacoma. This information was sent to The Times last night in a private dispatch from San Francisco, the statement being made that the transfer would be officially announced today. This will make eight weeks of continuous baseball for this city, beginning on Wednesday of next week.

NEWSY WHIRLS OF THE AUTOMOBILE WHEELS.

AT LEAST one Los Angeles automobilist will witness the final of the Vanderbilt cup chase on Long Island. Ralph C. Hamlin, local agent of the Franklin car, will leave this week for the factory in New York State and while there expects to run down to New York City to see the American classic decided.

Hamlin expects to pick up a number of valuable points by seeing the Franklin cars put through from raw material to finished product, and will arrange for a greater supply of them in this part of the country next year. They will probably be ready for delivery some time in November.

Mr. Hamlin drove a Franklin car to Redlands a few days ago, delivering it to the purchaser, A. H. Hubbard. He reports the upper road first class, but the lower one is very heavy from the city limits to the Monte, though after that bad stretch is passed, one cannot complain of the going.

Among recent purchasers of Reo cars are Mines & Farish, who bought a touring machine and a runabout; R. Shettler and W. B. Ames, who bought 1906 models; A. K. Small of Orange, W. G. Travis of Fullerton, J. M. Dickinson of Saticoy, J. R. Roulston of San Jacinto, B. G. Holmes of Oceanside and John U. Widrin of San Diego. L. T. Shettler reports a grand total of ninety-two cars sold, of which all but thirteen are delivered.

The Franklin people will have a six-cylinder touring car on the market next season with capacious tonneau, and many improvements over their present wagons. It will develop some forty-odd horse power, and is expected to score quite a hit with the motoring public.

Andy J. Smith, who went East several weeks ago to look into securing the local Elmore Pathfinder agency, has returned successful from his quest. After November 1 Mr. Smith will have the management of the Pathfinder's business in Southern California, and expects to push the car to the front at once.

The 1906 Elmore will be radically different from this year's car in several important particulars. It will be made in at least two models—a two and a four-cylinder car. The light touring car will have the cylinders vertical and in front under the bonnet with shaft drive, and will develop slightly more power than the present product, while the four-cylinder two-cycle machine will probably show not far from thirty horse power.

The Elmore agency will be located at No. 1038 South Main street. C. S. Anthony is president, and Smith is the manager.

"DON'TS" FOR DRIVERS.

SOME USEFUL HINTS.

An expert in motor car driving gives some tips about how accidents may be avoided and mentions places where it is necessary for the general safety of the public and the people in the car to drive slowly. Among other things he says:

Drive slow—through the city streets or in towns or villages.

Drive slow—when passing or meeting trolley cars at rest, or just stopping. Somebody might jump off.

Drive slow—when approaching cross streets or in turning corners. People often become bewildered at the sight of an approaching automobile.

Drive slow—when meeting teams on the road. This is most important and imperative, and failure to do so confers the title of automobile hog.

Drive slow—when a dog runs in front.

Drive slow—when passing churches where services are being held.

Drive slow—when approaching railroad crossings, and be sure you are right before you go ahead.

Drive slow—when there is any doubt about the road, or possibility of danger ahead.

Stop—when approaching a horse that appears to be badly frightened. This is the first and great commandment in automobile touring.

Stop—when there is a crowd ahead, or when there is an accident of any kind, whether your fault or not. Render all assistance possible and as a safeguard take the names and addresses of witnesses.

Don't—try to show off on the public streets how fast you can go and not run over anybody. Nothing more quickly arouses the resentment and indignation of people against the automobile.

Don't—toot your horn unnecessarily in driving through city streets, giving the impression that you have a royal right to the road—or that an "automobile hog" is coming. If you drive reasonably, there is small need of the horn, which should be chiefly employed in cases of imminent danger, and not for forcing a right of way through crowded streets. It is your duty, not the other man's, to avoid danger.

Don't—attempt to make records on the highways, nor emulate the irresponsible chauffeurs who do risky things to prove their proficiency.

Don't forget—that timid people have more right to drive timid horses on the highways than you have to frighten them by unreasonable speed of your automobile.

Woman Wins Auto Races.

To show the ease and control that is present in the average touring car, the work of a woman at the Cape May automobile races may be taken as a sample. She was Mrs. Fitlers, a well-known society woman with comparatively little experience in driving gasoline cars, yet she won three silver cups at the tournament and covered a mile in 1:13 2-5, which is at the rate of almost fifty miles an hour. There are many skilled drivers among the members of the fair sex. Mrs. Clarence Fitlers being one, Mrs. Joan Newton Cuneo another, and Mrs. Rogers of Pittsburgh, who pilots a thirty-horse-power Pope-Toledo, another member of the gentler sex who is skilled in driving fast cars.

End of Hildebrand.

The suspension of Jockey Hildebrand by the stewards of the club at Brighton Beach will not cause many tears to flow in this city, for a great number of the local sports have been expecting this very thing for many months. Hildebrand can ride as well as any jockey on a long-priced horse, but when he gets on a heavily-played favorite it is very hard for him to run better than second or third. This kid has gone to the bad, and a six months' rest on the ground for him will put money in the public pocket, or rather keep it there.

Presidio Beats Fresno.

FRESNO, Oct. 1.—Presidio won the State League game here today, from Fresno by a score of 4 to 1.

When Israelite won the third race at Brighton Beach last Monday Charley McCaffrey run his price up from $1000 to $5000, but the horse was retained by his owner, Durnell. It might be remarked that Celebration and Oarsman ran in the same race and finished in the ruck, Celebration being ahead of Oarsman.

An Excellent Reason.

The following story is told of Judge G. W. Green, who for many years was judge of the probate court at St. Albans, Vt.

At the annual town meeting the purchase of a new town hearse had been voted, and a committee appointed to canvass the townspeople for subscriptions. One of the committee thought it would be an excellent plan to have the judge's name at the head of this list, and to that end he approached him. The judge absolutely refused to make a contribution, and, when questioned as to the reason, said: "Why should I subscribe toward a new hearse when I haven't ridden in the old one yet?"—[Boston Globe.

Uses of Fire Escape.

One of the settlement workers asked an East Side lad what fire escapes were intended for.

"To sleep on," promptly replied the lad.

"Anything else?"

"Sure. Dey's good to ripen tomatoes on, to dry clothes, to drop cats off, to shoot beans down at de guys passing on de street, to swear at de cop from, and——"

But the settlement worker had fled with uplifted hands.—[New York Globe.

federation won't touch it, war against nations won't kill it; only the divine pierced hand can reach down and uproot it. If Jesus Christ could breathe His spirit into the great warring factions how soon justice would be done. Let Him stand beside the president of every railroad and corporation in the country, beside every bank cashier, beside every spindle loom—just for one hour—and you've settled once and forever the last vestige of our social unrest.

"The supremacy of Jesus means rest to the heart. Every one is a worshipper; we are built that way. Some worship money, or real estate, or political position, or commercial power, or social prestige, or home, or family, or—themselves; but no man has rest in his soul until he worships God supremely."

The bishop spoke for more than an hour and closed his masterly sermon with a strong appeal to Christians to get into the firing line. "I don't like pessimists," he said; "they are brakes on the wheels of progress. Everyone who ever did anything worth talking about was an optimist—Socrates, Savonarola, Martin Luther, John Howard, Calvin, John Wesley, Heber, Livingstone, and an unnumbered host of men who have gone out into the world to spread the gospel—glorious optimists, every one of them. Dreamers? Yes; but they had visions of conquests. The people who believe they are winning are the people who win."

The sermon was illuminated throughout by apt and telling illustrations and called out frequent applause and shouts of "amen," and fervent "hallelujahs." At the close the bishop administered the rite of baptism to three babies—the children of young ministers in the conference.

AT UNIVERSITY CHURCH.

DR. E. M. RANDALL'S SERMON.

Rev. E. M. Randall, D.D., general secretary of the Epworth League, occupied the pulpit at the University M. E. Church, yesterday morning. In the large congregation were many students and young people. They heard a grand sermon.

Dr. Randall took his theme from the second chapter of Second Timothy, fifteenth verse; "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." He said in part:

"Paul is admonished of Timothy to attain to the highest excellence as a workman. The text indicates that this success required a high degree of intelligence and character. The first qualification we find in the beginning of the text is the admonition to study. The intelligence preparing for the highest success must be broader than the study required by the mere processes of specialization. The second qualification is found in the latter part of the text concerning the right dividing of the word of truth which rightly analyzed and understood, and seen in its proper proportion, is for the symetrical and complete development of character in the likeness of our Lord and Savior.

"These two elements, which may be termed culture and character, are at the foundation of all true human greatness."

The preacher gave a brief survey of the great nations of antiquity to the present times and showed that human greatness had never been attained without an adequate degree of culture. By apt illustrations he showed that character in all national achievements had been even more important than culture, and showed this to be true not only by example, but because all great customs touching human affairs touch moral questions, and only moral greatness would enable people to solve these questions rightly or to win for themselves the commanding places among the nations of the earth.

"What is true of nations is also true of individuals," he continued, "and men can only become truly great by qualifying themselves to be leaders in those elements which constitute national greatness. The world is ruled by experts, the men who know how. Even the popular governments are not ruled by the majorities, but by men who have the ability.

"Great minds have made themselves masters of human events through the influences they have had over others. Men who have brought to light a single idea which has added to the sum of known truths, have endowed the world with a force that will irresistably influence human affairs throughout all time. But the views which men take of the truths are colored by character, bad and good men securing different aspects of the same situation on account of their different perspectives.

"Crises, therefore, that determine the character of young men often involve vast interest to the human race. Each time a young person enters upon a career of Christian living, a living force is added to the power that works for the regeneration of the world, throughout all time.

"The lives of the students of Ohio Wesleyan University, among them Bishops Nevins, Andrews, Foss and Merrill, and Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme Court, show that genius as indicated by success is not exceptional, but that the land is full of those who need only to avail themselves of the opportunity to perform a great service to the world.

"Success is not new to the struggles of later life, but is determined during the period when culture and character are normally determined. Great emphasis should be placed upon the heights and attainability of the Christian ideal, and those who meet the divine standard, thereby identify themselves with the divine plan and assure themselves of a divine support that would make them sufficient for whatever services God might desire of them.

"The supreme quest for every human life is not whether we are admirable in the eyes of the world, not whether of good moral character, not even whether we are simply Christians, but whether our lives are complete according to the plans of God as to our individual lives. Workmen approved of God rightly dividing the word of truth. This attainable by all is the highest possible success for each of us, both in time and eternity."

Conference Notes.

Mrs. Bishop Hartzell will speak this afternoon at 2:30 at the First Methodist Church to the women of the Foreign Missionary Society.

The ministers of the conference will enjoy a complimentary trip to Huntington Beach this afternoon, leaving the Sixth-street station at 1:30. "Free tickets, while they last," was the word passed along the line yesterday.

Rev. Dr. E. M. Randall of Chicago, one of the spiritually strong young men of the Metnodist church, preached both morning and evening yesterday at the University and Boyle Heights churches, respectively. Dr. Randall is a Pacific Coast man, and was president of the Puget Sound University at Seattle until eighteen months ago, when he was elected at the general conference which convened here, to the office of general secretary of the Epworth League, where he is making a marked success, especially along evangelistic lines.

Dr. Thomas Filben, the newly-appointed State superintendent of Methodist Chinese missions, attended the Chinese Sunday school at the mission on Los Angeles street yesterday afternoon and, in a brief address to the young Chinese men, made a very pleasant impression. Dr. Filben goes to his home in San Francisco today, but returns again in about three weeks to meet the board of directors at their regular quarterly conference.

Munyon's FREE DISTRIBUTION OF HIS Rheumatism Cure Begins Today

Today the free distribution of my Rheumatism Cure begins from 509 South Broadway. This is the remedy that has attracted world-wide attention, and has without doubt cured more Rheumatism than all the remedies ever combined. It does not put the disease to sleep, but neutralizes the acids and drives the poison from the system. This remedy was first distributed from the Philadelphia Times twelve years ago, when more than sixteen hundred people testified within ten days after taking it that they had been cured or greatly benefited. I do not believe there is a rheumatic pain that these little pellets will not relieve in from two to six hours. I have seldom known a case of chronic Rheumatism, no matter in what part of the body seated, that will not yield to this medicine. I want every person who suffers with Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, all those who have sharp, shooting pains in any part of the body, all those who have lame or weak backs, or stiff joint, to get a free bottle of this almost infallible cure. It is absolutely harmless to even the most delicate system.

I claim that this remedy will cure ninety-six out of every hundred, and the millionaire as well as the laboring man should be equally interested to know whether this is a fact or not. I take all the risk, and assume all the responsibility. You have only to call for a free bottle and find out for yourself. If you cannot call for a free sample bottle, you can buy the regular sized vial from any druggist for 5 cents. If it does not do all I claim for it, bring the empty bottle to my office, and I will refund your money. MUNYON, Philadelphia, Pa.

SCOTT WAS TOO SHARP FOR THEM.

LETTER FROM THE MYSTERIOUS DEATH VALLEY MINER.

Pursued by Several Persons Who Hoped to Locate His Source of Wealth, He Succeeds in Eluding Them and Reaches His Mine—He Sends Out Indian With Message.

"Scotty, the Speeder and Spender," alias Walter Scott, Death Valley miner, has been heard from. He has not killed anybody so far as known, but he has been successful in his efforts to shake from his trail those who sought to follow him to the place whence, he says, all his mysterious wealth comes. When he left Los Angeles he stated that he would communicate with none of his friends here until he was sure he had safely covered up his tracks and eluded pursuit. Yesterday a letter was received from Scott by Rol King of the Hollenbeck bar, indicating that he has been again successful, and that he will soon return to Los Angeles.

The letter is dated in Death Valley, a rather indefinite address, considering the fact that Death Valley is several score of miles in length. Scotty is not a man of learning, and his letter lacks the polish of a college graduate. It follows:

"Dear Friend Mr. King. Will drop you a line. I am all ok sending a scout out to Barstow, aint seen a soul in site of the pay streak mighty hot here. Crossed the valley last nite aboud mid nite. 104 at 3 a.m. way below sea level. Best to all and yourself Be in before a great while.

[Signed] "SCOTTY."

Rol King has been a sort of caretaker of Scott, and in him the mysterious miner has confided as in no other man. King says that he well knows that Scott went from Los Angeles pursued by several persons, who sought to follow him to the place where he says he takes gold out of the ground. Among those who tried to solve the mystery of the source of Scott's money were two women detectives from the East, who had been employed, they said, by a New York banker, who is seeking to compel Scott to divide whatever he has. The women failed for the reason that Scott would have nothing to do with them. He went to San Bernardino and tried to get a special train to Barstow, but gave up that idea. He finally dropped out of sight, and, one after another, all of the would-be trackers who tried to follow him returned to Los Angeles.

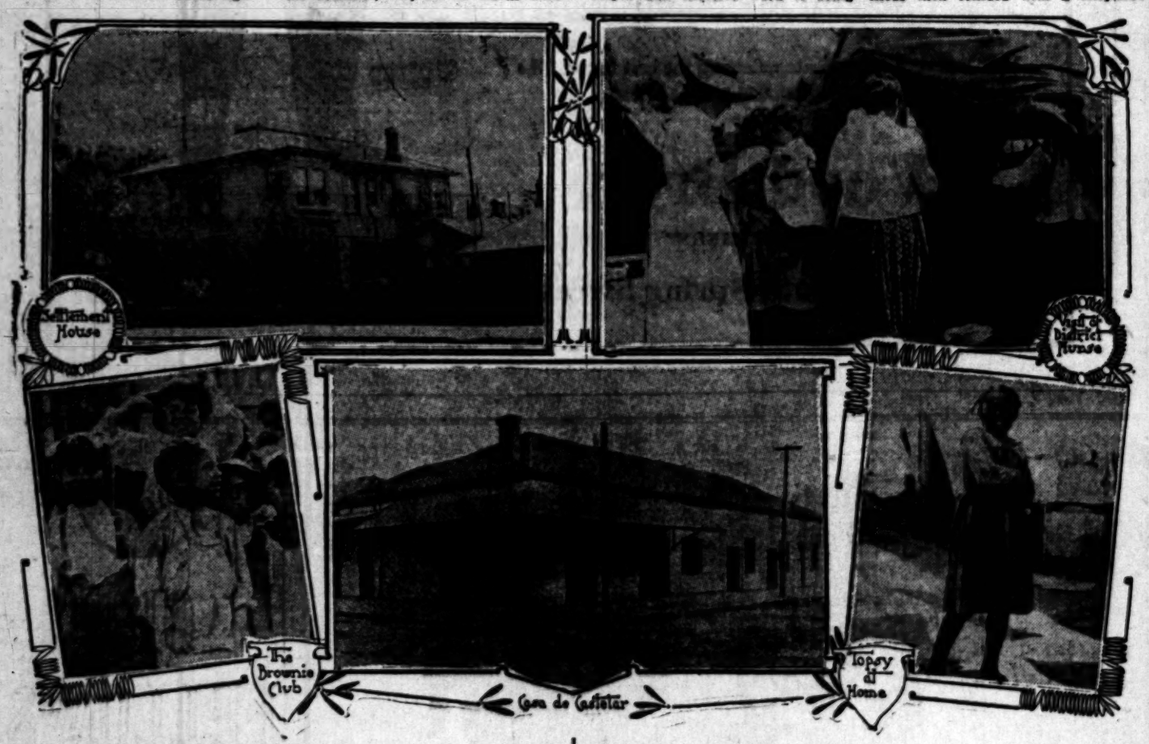
Mexican Women Learning to Make Baby Clothes.

Strange is the anomaly in progress near the very heart of Los Angeles today. Despite the strenuosity of modern city building apparent on every side—the rising of sky-scrapers and erection of beautiful modern homes by the hundreds; the paving of streets by the mile, and the opening of new additions which become settled almost as by magic—in one part of Los Angeles there is a reversion to the picturesque period of three-quarters of a century ago.

The quaint courtyards, the rambling, long adobes with their deep-set casements and low-hung doors, their inviting patios and romantic associations with early Los Angeles history, are again filled with the dark-skinned children of the Southern Sunland, and not for years have there been so many Mexicans and Spanish-speaking people in Los Angeles as are today quartered in old Sonoratown.

In earlier days the inhabitants of the 'dobes were for the most part people of gentility; but they have almost passed away, and the influx of cheap labor from Mexico has brought to the same habitations a people of lesser degree, but who revive in the ancient habits the picturesque customs, and costumes of almost a century ago.



And in these courts there have also come a blending of the domestic life of Italian, French, Basque, Syrian and Slavonian. A varied and uncertain quality, this citizenship; but all are very human, and all enjoy or suffer, like their more fortunately-located brethren.

Into this conglomerate life comes the work of the College Settlement as a potent force. It reaches out for the general betterment of all these foreign groups, and is today wielding an influence that is little short of marvelous. Its work is constantly extending.

The work of the year just closed has been a very encouraging one, and it has brought more forcibly than ever before a clear view of the needs of this interesting part of the city. The Settlement institutions have won the confidence of the people they are intended to help, and vast good has been accomplished in making the people self-helpful, as well as raising the mental, moral and physical tone of the neighborhood.

The annual report of the president of the College Settlement shows that the work was established in Los Angeles eleven years ago, and that from a small beginning in one room the plans have so grown that the Settlement now occupies a house of fourteen rooms, the house set in commodious grounds, well beautified with trees, shrubs and flowers.

Here the settlement workers give unsparingly of their efforts to help to raise the citizenship of the neighborhood, both by example and precept. The Settlement cooperates with the workers in the juvenile court, the Associated Charities, the Playground Commission and the other departments of city betterment. Its particular work reaches out into the public schools of the neighborhood, and the work of its district nurse extends into several of the city's wards. There are educational clubs and societies making for better citizenship; there are public entertainments, for the raising of the mental attitude of the residents of the crowded courts and congested districts; there are night school and practical domestic instructions, library advantages, garden contests—all factors possible to help mold a higher life among the people who have been sadly lacking in opportunities.

And as the city grows the field for this Settlement work likewise expands. The Settlement needs more money to carry on its larger plans. It requires $1800 to pay the remainder of the indebtedness on the main building; it needs a playground; it needs a social hall for entertainments and social activities of the neighborhood; it needs a vacation house or camp, where boys and girls and older people can go for several weeks during the summers; it needs more club workers, and more people inspired with a personal interest in the work.

THE DISTRICT NURSE.

Probably no factor in the Settlement work is more far-reaching in its good effects than that of the district nurse. In 1897, through an appeal made by the College Settlement, the City Council of Los Angeles established a precedent by appropriating a monthly allowance of $50 for the support of a district nurse, and in 1903 the Council increased the salary of the nurse to $75 per month.

It has been a wise expenditure. The work of the nurse on the lines of preventive treatment alone has doubtless saved the city large amounts which otherwise would have been expended in quarantine bills, etc., and from a humanitarian standpoint the work has been of almost inestimable value.

Typhoid and diphtheria epidemics have been averted by the prompt action of the district nurse, and she has been of much assistance to the city's health department in her thorough knowledge of the district and its urgent needs.

House-to-house visitations have been carried on, and besides the visits to the more distressed households, the district nurse, Miss Bertha Wilcoxen, is familiar in many well-conditioned homes, and has been a general ministering angel to the neighborhood.

Through the activities of the Settlement work, midwifery has almost been eliminated from the district, and the obstetrical cases in these humble homes have been cared for by the Medical College. From November, 1903, to June, 1905, the Settlement nurse has passed into the hands of the head of the clinical department of obstetrics of the Medical College, sixty patients.

Successful work was also done in the Castelar, New Macy, Amelia and Hewitt-street schools until the appointment of a public-school nurse to relieve the district nurse from this burden.

The Young America Club is one of the features of the Settlement. It is composed of fifteen boys, 13 years of age, and is self-governing. Then there is the Columbus Club, limited to twenty boys, and the Brownie Club, limited to eighteen boys. The Italian and Mexican boys have a modeling club and a drawing club.

For the girls there is the Little Housekeepers' Club, and this is designed to give them instruction in sewing, fancy work, cooking, washing and ironing. The Philadora Club is for girls over 13 years, and is social in its nature; and the Washington Club is for parliamentary drill and literary work.

In the night school there have been 166 students, fifty-six of whom were Spanish, one hundred Italian, two Syrian and eight Slavonians. Of these applicants, nineteen were young women.

A women's sewing club, composed of mothers from the very poorest class of Mexicans, gathers every Tuesday afternoon, the mothers usually bringing from one to three children. They are taught to construct garments for their little ones, and eagerly take up the work. One of the things especially encouraged by the Settlement instructor is the making up of simple maternity outfits. Among these Mexicans it often happens that no preparation has been made for the arrival of the babies, and they have to be wrapped in any clothes which may be available. During the year just closed this club has turned out seventy-five of these outfits.

The great social feature of the Settlement House is the Saturday night "at home," a regular weekly social function. At one time the Italians are invited; at another time there will be a group of Syrians or Mexicans, and occasionally there is a mixing of the various nationalities. All of these factors aim for the uplifting of the social and family life of the neighborhood, and, having won the confidence of the people, the Settlement workers are bringing about many desirable changes.

DRINK-CRAZED CRIPPLE.

W. Shaw, a cripple, wielded his crutch with such telling effect in a fight at the First Street Hotel yesterday afternoon, that he put four men out of business and was doing juggling stunts with chairs and tables when Patrolmen McCart and Peterson tried to check the incipient riot.

Shaw resented the intrusion of the police and defied them to take him, but along with several other principals in the row, the belligerent Shaw was hustled into a patrol wagon and sent to jail. A. E. Conway, J. Brackey, Albert Duke and Nick Sennett were the other men arrested.

Shaw is an old offender. Though a cripple, he fights like a demon when intoxicated.

Note Change in Rate for Sunday Classified Advertisements.

Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, and thereafter, the rate for Sunday "Liners" will be 1½ cents per word for each insertion, minimum charge 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 60,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1891, The Sunday Times circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

EQUINOCTIAL STORMS RAGED.

ARIZONA SUFFERS WIDELY, BUT NO FATAL LOSSES.

Judge Steele Qualifies as Receiver of Arizona Water Company, and the Prospects Brighten for Water Users — Two Shooting Scrapes, Wife Probably Fatally Wounded.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Sept. 30.—Though it was a few days late, Arizona was favored with the regularly-scheduled equinoctial storms, and they were more than usually impressive, being accompanied by a high wind and some lightning that worked the destruction of much property. No single storm embraced the entire area of the Territory, but within the last two days there have been storms all over it of greater or less severity. The property losses, while not embarrassing in any single instance, will aggregate many thousands of dollars. Thus far no damage to canal properties has been reported, and canal conditions in the Salt River Valley are again adjusting themselves.

Everything is moving smoothly in the matter of the receivership of the Arizona Water Company. Judge Steele, appointed to the office of receiver by the New York courts, has filed the proper papers here and his appointment has been confirmed. It is current report that his representative here will be C. J. Hall, a well-known banker of Phoenix, who acted as receiver for the company some years ago, and with entire satisfaction to all parties concerned. It is believed that the appointment of the receiver will enable the early repair of the dam and facilitate the ultimate transfer of the canal properties, through the government, to ownership by the water users.

Rapid and effective work is being done by the management of the first Territorial fair, to be held here the first week in December. The buildings are now well under construction, and a mile and half-mile race tracks have been made. It is believed they will be among the fastest tracks in the West. Favorable letters have been received from commercial organizations throughout the Southwest, indicating much interest outside the Territory, and it is believed the exhibits will include a number of fine displays from other commonwealths, beside the good display of the Reclamation Service to be brought here from Portland.

ONLY ONE CREDIT DUE.

The dispatches have announced briefly the temporary defeat of the Territorial Board of Equalization by the four counties which resisted the mandamus suit of the Attorney-General to force them to accept the increased valuation on mining properties ordered by the Territorial board. The defeat was merely a technical one on rules of procedure, leaving the case where it was when it started, and a new action will be begun at once to bring the subject before the next Supreme Court session, November 17, when the cases will be tried on their merits. The ruling was that an associate justice could not issue a writ of mandamus during a vacation of the court, though it has been the general practice heretofore, the question never having been raised. The only victory that can be claimed by anyone is the credit earned by E. E. Elinwood, counsel for Yavapai county, of being a shrewd lawyer and finding a technical point to puzzle his opponents and gain a little time; though it cannot be seen where the parties to the suit can be benefited by that time.

TERRITORY NEWS NOTES.

News of two shooting scrapes comes from Nogales. One occurred in Calabasas, when Teodora Martinez got drunk and shot his wife twice, probably fatally. The other occurred in Sinaloa, Mex., when William V. Odaly, a well-known mining man, was murdered. He has a family in Sonora and a sister in Nogales.

The merchants of Bisbee have organized a board of trade with a nucleus of twenty-five members.

A band of fourteen pieces has been organized in Douglas, the members all being young women of that thriving town.

The report of the comptroller of the treasury shows that there were individual deposits in the national banks of Arizona on August 31 amounting to $4,313,014.

The tax rolls for Maricopa county will be finished and turned over to the Tax Collector today. The total valuation is but little short of $11,000,000.

INJURED IN RUNAWAY.

Brothers Thrown from Buggy and One of Them Sustains Fracture of Leg.

L. L. Davidson and his younger brother W. M. Davidson of No. 441 Ruth avenue, were victims of a runaway accident yesterday in which the elder Davidson sustained a broken leg and the horse was so badly injured that it was necessary to kill it.

The Davidsons were returning from Eastlake Park behind a spirited horse and when near the Mathie brewery, the animal started to run. Near Naud junction the buggy was overturned and the brothers were thrown out. The horse then collided with a telephone pole and sustained such serious injuries that a passing policeman ended the animal's misery with a bullet.

Davidson was sent to the Receiving Hospital where Dr. Quint reduced the fracture.

ACTOR'S BEARD SPOILED PLAY.

Hair on Goodwin's Face Hurt New York's Memory.

"The Beauty and the Barge" is Taken from Stage.

Lilian Bell Writes of This and New Features.

BY LILIAN BELL.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—I wouldn't be a theatrical manager for anything that you could offer. It's a better way to lose money than betting on a horse race, because you never can pick a winner until after the race is won.

Now take Nat Goodwin in "Beauty and the Barge." No wonder the manager, or whoever has the spending of the money for Charles Frohman, thought that play would go. It is irresistibly funny, and the house was packed the night we were there. The play is well written; the action sustained; there are no dull moments; the cast is excellent and Nat Goodwin has an opportunity to show the public that he can create a role in a character play as easily as he can play "The Gilded Fool" or "An American Citizen."

Yet they are going to take the play off and substitute "Wolfville." And why?

Well, the only reason I could get hold of was because from official sources it was stated that "the critics had roasted the play so unmercifully that it had been decided to remove it." Now think of that! Think of the good money. The wasted time. The wasted rehearsals. The wasted energy. The fatigue, worry, inconvenience. And for what? As I said before, the houses have been well filled and the audiences appreciative. What then, is the real reason?

I think I know. "Teacher! Teacher! My hand is up!"

Its his whiskers!

I felt it myself the night I was there. A vague, indescribable lack. Yes, the play was all right, but—

WHISKERS NAT GOODWIN!

If I had money to burn, do you know what I would do? I would revive "Beauty and the Barge" later and have Captain Barley played without a beard, just as an experiment. Gray hair, especially the curly, white, delicate hair Nat Goodwin brand would not interfere with our old worship of our idol. We would feel that we still had Nat with us. But corkscrew curls on Ethel Barrymore would not offend or love more than whiskers on Nat Goodwin.

You see he has been bare faced so long—never touched me! and none of the women who have ever seen him hook up Maxine Elliott's bodice in "An American Citizen" can ever think of that perennially youthful face aping age.

What Goodwin need never grow old unless he wants to. I hope he will take good care of his teeth, for I only call a man really old who whistles through his set when he talks. Then I walk away. I hafta.

THE PLAY.

The play is by W. W. Jacobs and Louis N. Parker and is full of Jacobs humor. It tells of a spoiled boydenish girl named Ethel Smedley, who is engaged to a young man, Herbert Manners, with whom she engaged herself on a dare and whom she doesn't care for. Captain Barley is due to arrive from a year in India on the day on which the play opens, and Ethel's desperation is such that she is ready even to run away from home in order to avoid him. Her father, Maj. Smedley, is intended to be an old terror, but the part is unconvincingly taken by George Sumner. He is acting the part and he lets you know that he is acting it. His voice never as fierce as his voice. His voice was not as fierce as his eyes, consequently he was ineffectual. It was the awe in which everybody stood of his violent temper was the hinge upon which the whole play swung. In this case, the pivot squeaked and thus called attention to the mechanism of what was intended to appear to us as natural.

Miss Florence was Ethel and very pretty and attractive.

Her cousin Lury was a typical Englishman of the heavy, large, slow sort, and was well played by Davenport Lytton.

The inevitable new lover comes on in due time and eventually Herbert Manners switches to Lucy and the new lover gets Ethel.

Captain Barley is captain of a barge, called the "Heart in Hand," but passes his time off as a ship's captain, and in this role makes love to Mrs. Baldwin, Smedley's housekeeper, to Mrs. Baldwin, landlady of the "Old Ship," mistaking Ethel Smedley for a woman, falls really in love with her, begs for a passage to London on the "Ship," and he consents.

The scenery is admirably done. The scene of the "Old Ship" is such as one may find in any seaport of England and in the third act the bank of flowers was accurate and familiar to Londonable.

The usual chase of relatives takes place and the usual disguise of the new lover as a ship's hand in order to be near his lady love, but all in the most novel and unusual setting, which makes the plot an al. of originality, and Goodwin's acting does the rest.

A FRIEND HITCHCOCK.

Alfred E. Kidder's play of "Easy Money," in which Raymond Hitchcock appears, is a play which deals with the rise-and-fall which every small boy knows.

Easy, he is the drunken father of a pretty daughter, Rose, well played by Miss Rose, who is in love with Bruce Carlton, son of the man who has acquired Easy Dawson's property when Easy has lost it through carelessness, or, in fact, by being Easy.

Rose is in the head of the local fire department and lives with Rose and her mother-in-law, an old maid with a tongue described by "Easy" as one that she would fry onions in your shoes and eat 'em in hers." Under other circumstances life would be unbearable for any man, but for Easy it is impossible that he deprives himself and more of the charms of Rose, and on the rare occasions when Rose come home, he sees to it that he is so well fortified that recriminations and even tears fall off and unreal.

Of course things Easy ever works at are failures. He has invented a churn, a lock and key, in which the key automatically finds its way, destined for the use of club rooms, a rocking chair with an overhead fan intended both to cool off the occupant of the chair and to keep flies away, and Gintended for the use of the baby and a cream separator, his pride.

The songs for Raymond Hitchcock, who, despite the fact that he has no more voice than a crow, can charm Broadway audiences in song.

One, called "And the World Goes On," is one of the best of the season anywhere.

The play was evidently written especially for Hitchcock, and gives him ample opportunity to display his own peculiar talents by which he has become famous. He is especially good in the drunken scene. But then most actors play the part of a non-abstainer with wonderful fidelity. I often wonder how they obtain their material.

BERNARD'S HUMOR.

I am one of those who find any "support" of such a comedian as Sam Bernard a bore. When I begin to laugh at his little, fierce eyes, drawstring mouth and absurd talkings I don't want to be bothered by having to listen to or watch anybody else.

There are stage favorites who would please their audiences best by drawing a ring in the middle of the stage and standing in it through all three acts, and Sam Bernard is one of these. He is a natural funmaker, and I have no doubt that he is so funny off the stage that he often hears the familiar formula, "You ought to do that on the stage, Sam. It would make a big hit."

Certain actors are obliged to pump up their fun. They must have acquired their reputations as humorists by accident, for the struggle of their lives seems to be to live up to what is beyond them.

But Sam Bernard and Francis Wilson and Frank Daniels and Dave Warfield (before he took to tears) and Weber and Fields and May Irwin belong to those who were born to be funny in all that they do. These people have taught us so persistently to expect comedy and farce from them that if they ever grieve, they should do it in private. We should mistake their tears for a new turn and would laugh with unintentioned heartlessness at their most sacred griefs.

"The Rollicking Girl" gives Sam Bernard an opportunity to be exquisitely ridiculous in his own peculiar way. And that way, as everybody knows who has seen him, is not possible to describe. Only, when he is on the stage, you scream and reel in your seat and clutch your neighbor and wipe your eyes. The plot of the play is naught to you—the girls are pretty—yes, yes, of course—the dancing is excellent, but, oh, unless Sam Bernard is there you are impatient until he comes back.

"The Rollicking Girl" is going on tour in a few weeks, having been running here for the past six months, and the more fortunate of you will get to see it and can tell whether I am telling the truth or not.

A CLASSIFIED WORLD-BEATER.

For six week days, ending with Saturday, September 30, 1905, The Times printed a total of 134 columns of paid classified advertisements, against 126 columns for the corresponding period of 1904. This is a gain of 58 columns, or nearly ten columns per day.

All the other local journals combined did not print one-half so large a legitimate volume of this class of advertising matter, and no amount of pretending, distribution of free chromos and other unbusinesslike "skeems" can disprove this statement of fact.

The classified department of the Los Angeles Times is in truth a Southwestern clearing-house for the exchange of every thinkable variety of business intelligence.

HARMONICS AND HISTRIONICS.

Benefits and beneficiaries, both in the theatrical and musical world, are coming in for a large share of public attention at the present time. There are two classes of them, the philanthropic and the selfish, and the public—by the kindness of friends and relatives—distinguishes but little between the two.

However, the musical and theatrical fraternity feel justly indignant at the greed of certain professionals and semi-professionals who do not hesitate to solicit valuable services for naught or a nominal pittance and then absorb—with calm complaisance, nine-tenths of the press notices, and the resultant simoleons—if they are any.

There is a worthy benefit, certainly; it is that which is devoted to a public charity for the relief of suffering communities, or which helps some single individual, long a wheelhorse or a pillar in the amusement world, toward health or comfort in old age.

A very large part of the musical public is interested in the heavily-programmed concert, which is to be given one Friday evening, at Simpson Auditorium, for the relief of the stricken people in the earthquake-devastated province of Calabria, Italy. It is under the auspices of the Italian Consul but many musicians—German, French and American—have contributed their services to the worthy cause.

Among the leading soloists will be Miss Rita Green, a brilliant young local soprano, who has been in San Francisco for the past three months, but who will come back to Los Angeles this week, hastening her departure from the northern town in order to sing this evening.

Among others who will take part are Mrs. Jo Hensel-Klein, Blanche Williams-Robinson, Miss Frances Close, Miss Davies, Miss Blanche Rogers and Julius Albert Jahn, Domenico Russo, Pietro Buzzi, Leo Cooper, Arnold Krauss, Frank H. Colby, and the full force of Donatelli's Long Beach Band.

It doesn't seem right to call Tom Oberle's remembrance a benefit. "Benefit" and "Testimonial" are two tawdry words, dulled over with the failures of laziness and the wishy-washy pity of easily-workable acquaintances. It hurts to hear every cheap Tom, Dick and Harry speaking about Tom Oberle's "benefit."

It sounds just as if Tom were a poor creature, a weak-kneed mimic gone wrong in body or head through personal dissipation, or utterly fizzled out through general incompetence.

Probably among all the people who will go to that performance—for it will, without doubt, be one of the greatest programmes ever given here on a similar occasion—not one will carry the usual cheap-charity "benefit" idea in head or heart.

Oberle is a personal favorite with almost every theater-goer in Los Angeles. He is not permanently retired or worn-out, or cast out, either. He is simply going away for a little vacation, and a bunch of good fellows are going to give another good fellow a little lift for the time being—a mere nothing—just such a trivialitly as you or I find necessity for when we come downtown in the middle of the morning, and with hand in empty pocket, exclaim to an acquaintance: "Say, old fellow; loan me a car fare for today, will you?"

The difference between Larry Hanley and Tom! There, in the first instance, was the true legitimate successor to Edwin Booth, a man of the highest genius, of a mind that soared in ordinary conversations to the seventh heaven of glittering rhetoric, fiery inspiration and dazzlingly original thought—and yet, from the very outset of his career he did his best to throw his whole life to the winds. And as a result and natural sequence, it came after awhile that even Larry Hanley's friends didn't care to speak about him—which is not saying meanness of a dead man intentionally, either. But Tom, who has tried, and worked hard, and succeeded, has the sympathy of even mere hearsay acquaintances in his temporary calamity. The passing of the once-great Hanley only made a ripple on the surface of things, but a shadow over the surface of the other's career has stirred unwontedly many hundreds of people.

Actors and singers from San Francisco to San Diego will gather here to participate in the benefit, and the demand for seats has been so great that all of the better ones are to be auctioned publicity at the sale meeting to be held at the Belasco Theater at 3 o'clock next Friday afternoon.

In the heart of every musician beats something stronger than the love for money, and so it is only a natural thing that the death of old "Major" Augarde, a clarionet player, well known about town, should have excited a practical pity in their breasts.

"Major" died not many days ago. He was more than 70 years of age, and not only the professional musical people, but many of the older residents, were familiar with his clarionet case, his inveterate and constant cigarettes, his dyed goatee and mustache and various nervous mannerisms.

"Major" Augarde was an Englishman, though casual acquaintances almost always judged him French. He affected French ways.

In his early days the "Major" was a distinguished musician in the British army. He held a splendid position in the famous Cold Stream Guards' Band, and with other bands high in the British service. Then he came to America, and directed one of the regimental bands in New York.

Afterward, as advancing years robbed his hands and lips of their cleverness, and his eyes of their vision, and his ears of some of their acuteness, he drifted westward, holding smaller and smaller positions, until finally he got down to pitiful little dance-hall jobs. In his day he was accounted an unusually talented clarionet player.

When "Major" died his acquaintances buried him with musicianly, almost military, honors. And now they have discovered that his widow is in need—in a way, at least, and plans are quietly on foot toward helping her, and establishing her comfortably in her old age.

Tonight, at the Mason Operahouse, "The Sultan of Sulu" will open a week's engagement. George Ade's comedy, set to music, proved a bright and popular success last year in the East, and they say that the company presenting it out here—though, of course, not the original one—is made up of talented people.

Seats will be on sale today at Birkel's for the big musical events which have been grouped under the philharmonic course head. At the same place seats may be purchased for the lectures of Edwin Emerson, correspondent with the Japanese and Russian armies.

Land Without a Peasant.

"I saw no thatched huts or dingy one-room cabins," said M. Witte, as he review his experiences and impressions among us on the eve of his departure for Russia.

Fifth avenue was pronounced by the envoy of the Czar unattractive, and not to be compared with the Nevsky Prospect in St. Petrsburg or with any Parisian boulevard whatever. In Russia, he said, the country villas of the wealthy had reached a much higher stage than in America. But here the workmen's houses are "equal in many ways to the villas of middle-class Europeans."

M. Witte noted the squalor of the New York slums, but he said it "would not be considered squalor in many European towns. In traveling through our towns, on the other hand," he remarked, "I see no workmen's houses; there must be some." His fellow-traveler replied by pointing to rows of "big roomy cottages" as the typical homes of American workingmen.

Those were the dwellings which impressed the Russian observer, and not the mansions of our multi-millionaires. After all, the latter are, at best, only copies of the minor palaces of Europe, while the former apparently surprised and interested our distinguished visitor as more distinctly American.—[Boston Globe.

MONEY LOSER GETS HIS TURN.

FOOLISH COUNTRYMAN MEETS ASSAILANT IN JAIL.

Alexander Carney of Toluca Promptly Identifies Dane Andersen as False Friend Who Slugged Him Into a Sand-pit and Robbed Him. Highwayman Cries Like a Baby.

Alexander W. Carney, a Toluca ranchman, who searched for a long-lost brother in Los Angeles and was slugged and robbed September 19 last, had his inning yesterday. His assailant is in jail.

By persistent digging Detectives Hawley and Murphy located the hold-up man who brutally beat and robbed the credulous Tolucan. Saturday afternoon Murphy ran across Peter Andersen, a Dane, suspected of having robbed Carney. Andersen was locked in the City Jail, and yesterday morning Carney came down from his home to identify his assailant.

The Toluca man still bore evidence of the rough treatment he had received at the hands of the highwayman, and when he confronted Andersen in the jail he readily recognized his assailant.

Andersen broke down when faced by his victim and cried like a baby. He acknowledged he had slugged Carney on Fifth street near Central avenue and thrown him in a sand pit while the latter was drunk. Andersen robbed his victim of a gold watch and $17 in money.

When Detective Murphy arrested Andersen the missing watch was found in his pocket. Andersen said he had robbed Carney "because he needed the money to buy bread." The confessed highwayman tried to square the matter by offering to return the money and watch, but of course neither the officers nor Carney would consent.

Carney was the victim of an old trick which has been worked successfully on many verdant countrymen. The Tolucan man got drunk shortly after he came to town several weeks ago, and told a number of loungers in a South Main-street saloon a story of his brother in Massachusetts. Carney said he hadn't seen that brother since 1866, and he sat down and indulged in a maudlin cry over his absent kinsman.

Andersen was in the saloon at the time and heard the harrowing tale. Touched with pity and sympathy, the Dane imparted the joyful news to Carney that the brother of earlier days was even then in Los Angeles, and had been searching for Brother Alexander for ten years.

"Come with me and I'll show you old Jim Carney; I know him well and he'll be overjoyed to see you, Alex," said Andersen.

With tears of joy streaming from his eyes, Alexander Carney hurried from the saloon with his new-found friend, and went with him down toward the Arcade Depot. When Andersen reached a vacant lot where an excavation had been made and a great sand pit yawned, he told his unsophisticated companion to close his eyes and turn around and he would surprise him with a view of his brother.

Carney went down and out, and saw plenty of stars, but not Brother Jim. The rest was easy for Andersen.

Dependable Furniture at a Fair Price

A Well Furnished Office

is quite essential to the up-to-date business man and just as careful consideration should be given to the selection of its furniture as the furniture for a parlor or library. In choosing a desk there are many points to be considered, giving special regard to the convenience and practicability, style, workmanship and finish.

We have just received another carload of the celebrated Standard desks which we believe are the best desks on the market. In construction they are massive and durable. All lumber used in their making is thoroughly kiln dried and they are finished in the best possible manner. Particular attention is given to the arrangement of the drawers and pigeon holes. The drawers are made entirely of hard wood and are well fitted to insure even working. We have a large assortment of these superior desks for you to choose from. We also constantly carry in stock a fine collection of desk chairs and office chairs, tables, typewriter cabinets, etc.

The GIANTS

By MRS. FREMONT OLDER.

This is the story of the overcoming of the well-nigh irresistible power of a great Trust. It tells of the absorbing of a community by its giant power, put forth to ruin and even kill all those who opposed it, and the final victory of the son of one of the victims over the Trust. It is a prophecy of what lies before the American people in this age of gigantic corporations and commercial giants.

Consult Me

FREQUENTLY THERE IS A MISapprehension as to the cost of the services of a competent specialist. Some sufferers are inclined to think that because of the complete cures I make my fees are exorbitant. They are not. They are simply FAIR, and are usually worth five times what I ask. Before you try "cheap" treatment, it will be to your interest to consult me. That will cost you nothing. If you follow this advice you will SAVE money. If you try "cheap" treatment you will WASTE money.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

HE REFUSED TO BELIEVE BRIDE.

THOUGHT HER A SLAVE IN HER HUSBAND'S HOUSEHOLD.

Telegram from Justice Who Performed Ceremony Finally Restores Mrs. Wong Chew to Liberty—Same Old Story of Restaurant Liquor Troubles, in San Bernardino.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 1.—Mrs. Wong Chew, formerly Miss Choy, who was married here recently by Justice of the Peace C. L. Thomas, to a wealthy Chinese merchant of Tucson, Ariz., has had the unpleasant experience of being placed in detention, on suspicion of being in this country without right. After returning to Tucson with her groom she was "discovered" by Chinese Inspector Webb, who refused to believe her tearful protestations that she was the merchant's wife, the fear of the inspector being that she was a slave in his household. Last night a dispatch was received by Justice of the Peace Thomas explaining the circumstances of the bride's detention and inquiring whether her statement of the marriage were true, and on the answer being wired back she was released.

SAME OLD TROUBLE.

Tomorrow evening the City Council is to meet and take up for first reading the new restaurant liquor ordinance, drafted for the purpose of compelling the restaurants to conform in the sale of liquors to the hours to which the saloons are restricted. This has been one of the points of trouble over which the saloon men and restaurant keepers have split since the adoption of the new liquor ordinance closing the saloons on Sunday and after the hour of midnight. This restriction of the saloons made times prosperous for the restaurants, which dispensed booze with a free hand, the only requirement being that the purchaser of liquor should also buy a sandwich.

"BUNKER HILL" SOLD.

The "Bunker Hill" property, a fine residence situated on a commanding hill between here and Colton and surrounded by flourishing olive and orange trees, is to be sold to Mrs. Dodson, a San Pedro woman, the stated purchase price being in the neighborhood of $30,000. This place was formerly maintained by Attorney Byron Waters, but passed into the hands of the German-American Savings Bank under a foreclosure sale many years ago.

THIEF IN LIMBO.

Ed Walker, a negro, was brought to the Count Jail yesterday from Ontario by Deputy Constable Raymond to serve four months for petit larceny. He had been arrested for vagrancy, and on him was found a lot of plunder identified later by Mrs. J. Manley as stolen from her residence. It is believed that the fellow is a professional thief, and the officers are investigating his past record.

SANTA ANA MAY VOTE ON GAS AND LIGHT OWNERSHIP.

Many Singers Have Plan Afoot for Organization of Permanent Chorus of Mixed Voices, Result of Last Year's Rendition—Funeral Services for Aged Pioneer—Burial of Suicide.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 1.—The body of citizens favoring municipal ownership of gas and electric works will be in evidence at the regular meeting of the Board of City Trustees tomorrow evening with a petition bearing 660 signatures of voters and taxpayers, asking that the board call a special election to decide the issuance of bonds for municipal gas and electric plants. It is the plan as outlined in the petition, to have the gas bonds issued in the amount of $50,000 and the electric light bonds for $60,000.

The first meeting of the Santa Ana Valley Ebell Society, was held yesterday afternoon at Elks Hall. The feature of the afternoon was a series of selected readings by Miss Dixon, musical numbers being presented by Mrs. James S. Rice and Mrs. A. J. Padgham. The Ebell is preparing for an active year's work with a series of Saturday afternoon programmes of general interest, and special classes in history, music and current events.

An effort for the organization of a permanent chorus of mixed voices has resulted in the calling of a meeting of singers for tomorrow evening at the home of Miss C. E. Dresser, No. 115 East Tenth street. It is probable that at that time the chorus will be formally organized on a business-like basis, and the foundation laid for some serious work this winter. The movement is the outgrowth of the chorus which last year presented Farmer's "Mass." It is anticipated that the meeting will be generally attended by singers and musicians of Santa Ana.

Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist Church at Orange, Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock, for J. T. Halstead, who died yesterday. Mr. Halstead was aged 87 years, and was one of the early settlers of Orange. His death occurred at Los Angeles, where he was staying temporarily.

The body of Mrs. William Bartley, who committed suicide at Imperial Thursday night, was brought here tonight by the husband. The funeral will be held in this city tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock from Mills & Winbigler's chapel.

The Student Body Association of the High School has chosen as officers for the current year, Jack Visel, president; Lois Tedford, vice-president; Irene Beatty, secretary.

LOSES A WIFE AND SOME COIN.

SANTA BARBARA MAN WAKES UP TO ELOPEMENT?

Mrs. Jacob White Sneaks Trunk from Home, Boards Ogden Train With Hubby's Cash and Ticket Furnished by Another Man—White Gets Note "at Exactly Noon."

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 1.—Mrs. White, wife of Jacob W. White, the recent proprietor of the Chicago second-hand store, at No. 432 State street, is missing with several hundred dollars of her husband's money. She has been away since last Monday noon and her husband has given up all hope of ever seeing her again. Her departure was carefully planned, and in order that her movements might not be known she slipped her trunk out of a back door, had it taken secretly to the depot, wrote a note to her husband which should be delivered after she was on the train, and fled.

The first intimation that White had that his wife had left him was when he received the note. It read:

"Dear Jacob: I have gone to work in the upper part of the city. Have a good job with good wages. Will see you tomorrow evening."

It was signed by his wife. He at once thought something was wrong. He inquired of the messenger that brought the note and found that she had directed that it should be delivered exactly at 12 o'clock. At that time she was speeding on a northbound train for Ogden on a ticket that had been telegraphed to her by another man. Mr. White began to think. He remembered that she had been asking for money for clothes, and he had given her $25. He found his cash about $30 short, and as the week went on he found more shortages in his store of cash and belongings that bring his total loss up to $500.

Mr. and Mrs. White had been married only a few months. The second-hand dealer had won his bride by a course of correspondence. He knew little of her before they were married.

A Careless Golfer.

Now when the supremacy of the Scot in golf has received at last its final knock—or at least that in the view taken of it here—something is due to soothe his wounded spirit. It must be acknowledged that he still holds the supremacy in golf stories. Here is one which I got from a Scot last night in exchange for my suggestion that he must feel as the Englishman felt when the Australians went home with the "ashes." The story is, at any rate, new in the south. A laird and his son were playing on the links at North Berwick. The son sent a ball whizzing past his father's ear. His caddie said: "ye munna kill pa." Then, after a pause, "Maybe ye'll be the eldest son?" —[Manchester Guardian.

CONVINCING EVIDENCE

That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Will Cure Rheumatism

"People can cure themselves of a good many common ailments at a very small cost if they go about it the right way," said Mr. Hoar, recently. "For instance, I have just cured myself of a very painful disease. I might have begun to treat it sooner, that's all the mistake I made in the matter. But I found the root of the difficulty and I picked out the right remedy without the aid of a doctor.

"It was really all in my blood. I first felt a twinge in my left foot and ankle in the middle of last January, following exposure to cold. I realized I had rheumatism and I knew that really comes from bad blood. Cold simply develops it. Then my hands and feet were cold and clammy even in hot weather, and numb a great part of the time. I concluded that my blood was thin and poor and the circulation sluggish.

"After a time my feet and ankles swelled so badly that I could only tie my shoes half way up. My legs swelled terribly and I could walk only a short distance before giving out completely.

"When I read of the cures of all kinds of blood diseases, that had been effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I was convinced that they were just the remedy for my case, and so it proved. I could see that they were benefiting me before I had quite used up the first box. The improvement was decidedly marked after I had taken two boxes. Three more boxes restored my hands and feet and legs to natural size and feeling and then I stopped taking medicine and have since been perfectly well."

Mr. F. Le Roy Hoar lives at No. 152 Constitution street, Bristol, R. I. Any one can get convincing evidence that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured anæmia, rheumatism, erysipelas and other serious diseases of the blood by simply writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

CROSSED PLAINS IN FORTY-NINE.

DEATH REMOVES PASADENA PIONEER OF NOTE.

Dr. George W. Wolfe, Known Throughout Los Angeles County, Succumbs to Long Illness—Leaves Family of Eleven Children—Burglar's Pal Captured in North.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 26 South Raymond Avenue, Oct. 2.—The death yesterday of Dr. George Washington Wolfe removes another of the few remaining forty-niners and incidentally brings to light an interesting history of an interesting family. Dr. Wolfe passed away Sunday morning at the family residence at Locust street and Wilson avenue, at the age of 81 years. For close on to thirty-five years a resident of Los Angeles county, he had been primarily interested in its growth and development. Dr. Wolfe was the leader of one of the first bands of settlers to cross the plains in the fever days of '49, and such a pioneer he was that he made a second trip to his native soil of Kentucky in those days when travel was not plush-lined, and brought a second party of pioneers to the new West.

Until recently he had resided in and around Downey, where his name incidental to his professional services is held in veneration among the older settlers around all the countryside.

Himself a man of robust health, Dr. Wolfe was the father of eleven children. They are Mmes. Mary Pendleton, Amy Crawford, Sue Baker, Fanny James, Eliza Graham, Eugenia Shultis; Miss Ida Wolfe and four sons, James, George, Elliott and Charles.

The funeral of Dr. Wolfe will be held in the church at Artesia on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Those Pasadena friends who wish to view the remains may do so today between 3 and 5 p.m., at the chapel of Adams, Turner & Stevens Co.

AFTER COLLETT'S ACCOMPLICE.

C. Tessler was arrested by the police at Aberdeen, Wash., yesterday on a telegram sent by Chief of Police Pinkham of Pasadena, and is being held as an alleged accomplice of Collett, the smiling burglar. The authorities here claim to have positive evidence that Tessler has been implicated with Collett in the latter's wholesale crookedness and it may be proved that Collett has been using Tessler along with a number of other pals as a fence for the disposal of the stolen goods. An officer will go from this city for the purpose of bringing Tessler here for trial, today.

Arraignment of Collett will be before Justice R. P. Congdon this morning, but in the light of the recent ruling of City Attorney FitzGerald that the City Hall may not be used for other than municipal purposes, it is probable the prisoner will have to be arraigned in Judge Congdon's office in the Slayin building.

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT.

Expansion and improvement is the order of the day among Pasadena business circles and the winter visitor who resumes his annual stay here this month will find agreeable changes to greet his eye on every hand. While no particularly large business blocks have been erected during the summer there has been quite an extension of the small but serviceable one-story business buildings, and it is a good sign that they have all been built of brick, and in most cases, with a view to accommodating additional stories as they may be needed. In this connection it may be stated that a new four-story brick business block for North Raymond avenue is a probability. The location is the northeast corner of the avenue and Carlton alley. At present the property is occupied by a row of frame buildings, all of which are leased for the next year and a half, which is given as the owner's reason for not beginning work on the new structure right away. As intended the new building will take up the entire space between the corner and the Michener & Hughes building, closing up a solid phalanx of brick blocks on both sides of the street up as far as Union street. The ground is owned by Mrs. Mary Hickler.

Fast nearing completion is the new American Bank building, being erected at the northeast corner of Colorado street and Broadway by H. H. Goodrich. The structure is to be of two stories, pressed brick, and the bank is to occupy the entire lower floor. Contracts let indicate that in the way of furniture and fixtures this newest of Pasadena's financial institutions will not be outdone by any.

On South Raymond avenue, the Gardner Block is about ready for occupancy, and when completed will inaugurate an innovation in Pasadena business locations in that a number of small stalls suitable for shoe repairers, busheimen, etc., have been fitted up, fronting along Morgan alley. North Fair Oaks avenue has not fallen behind in the procession, as the completion of the new Meyer and Goldberg blocks will testify. The recent widening of Fair Oaks avenue from Colorado to Union street, has incidentally necessitated an agreeable improvement in the altered fronts of some of the older buildings.

On East Colorado street the Richardson building has been enlarged by the addition of a large wing to the rear, necessitated by the growth of the two large business houses occupying the ground floor—Glasscock's and Kuranaga's. The latter, a characteristic Anglo-Japanese, has recently returned from San Francisco, where he completed arrangements for the extensive enlargement of his store, making it one of the largest Japanese art stores on the Coast.

Still further out on East Colorado street, the Platt-Pyle Block has just been completed by H. H. Goodrich, and is now being occupied by a real estate firm and photographic studio.

MEXICANS FIGHT AGAIN.

Gore came near being spilled on the front lawn of Señora Martinez's patio on South Raymond avenue yesterday afternoon, when Ricardo Garcia, he of the historic namesake, and a police record, fought desperately for a few moments with Juan Gomez, presumably for the hand of the fair Señora, but which one she ruled for could not be made out by the arresting officer, Constable Salcido.

Things seem to have come to a pretty pass in the Mexican quarter since the arrival of the alleged coquettish Martinez woman, and they are talking seriously about sending her over the border into Yuma—if she will go. The duellists will appear in court this morning.

CURRENT TOPICS.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Jacques of East Colorado street returned last week from an extended visit in the East, spent for the most part in Massachusetts and Nebraska. Mr. Jacques, who is particularly conversant with Middle West conditions, says more people are headed Californiaward this year than ever before.

At Altadena George Fraser has sold his vineyard of ten acres to Miss Emma J. Tarleton, for consideration announced as $3500, which is considered a bargain price. The new owner will build and reside on the place, which is at the northeast corner of Olive avenue and Piedmont Drive. The transfer was made through the agency of L. M. Pratt and D. B. Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Holder of Orange Grove avenue have gone East to confer with publishers over several works of Prof. Holder, which are now in press or prospect.

Coursing was continued in defiance of the law at Arcadia yesterday. There was no attempt at interference, and the plans of the S.P.C.A., if they have any, are being kept discreetly in the dark.

Justice Glover at South Pasadena Saturday fined John Ardaise $25 for cruelty to animals. The case was brought by the San Pedro Humane Society, where the defendant owns a ranch and a lot of horses.

Dr. Thad S. Up de Graff, eye, ear, nose and throat, Dodworth Block, has returned.

PREACHER SAYS MAYOR'S A LIAR.

EVANGELIST BULGIN PITCHES INTO ENO OF LONG BEACH.

Declares in Pulpit That He's from North Carolina, and "Folks Better Not Roil Him Too Much"—All of Which is in re an Alleged Unpaid Bill and a Tabernacle.

MONROVIA, Oct. 1.—Evangelist E. J. Bulgin says Mayor F. A. Eno of Long Beach has lied about him with malicious intent. He told an audience of 1500 people about it this evening because his congregation Saturday night was not as large as he would have wished.

Mayor Eno told two ministers in Monrovia that Bulgin beat a poor man out of a bill of $60, and that he aided and abetted a tabernacle committee in evading the fire ordinance of Long Beach in a manner that did not make for civic righteousness.

After Mr. Eno made these statements he went to Long Beach. When Bulgin heard them he came to Monrovia, and he has talked to more people on his side than Eno had to hear him. Mr. Eno spends a portion of his time here, where he is building a home; and the Rev. E. J. Bulgin is holding evangelistic services in a big tent on Myrtle avenue under the auspices of all the Monrovia churches. The remarks that Eno first made were disseminated from a local grocery store. He is said to have remarked that a man who made $150 a week ought to pay his debts, and pretty soon all the business section of the town knew that the Mayor of Bulgin's home town had made statements derogatory to his character. This stirred up the ministers, who went to Mayor Eno and demanded to hear his specific charges. He was ready with them. They were reported to Bulgin, who primed himself to refute them.

BULGIN ON WARPATH.

In wading into Mayor Eno he selected for his text, "Thieves, nor liars, nor whoremongers shall enter the kingdom of God." His subject was "The Unpardonable Sin." Before he began his sermon he fitted Mayor Eno nicely into the liar class.

"I came to your beautiful little God-blessed town to do you good," he said, "and I am sorry to have such reports circulated about me as have gone the rounds of your streets today. They emanated from Mayor Eno of Long Beach, of Long Beach that is also my home, and while I am not mad about it, I am grieved that one of my fellow-townsmen should be guilty of such lies.

"THE DEVIL'S OWN LIES."

"And lies they are, the devil's own lies out of whole cloth, and the man that told them and the people that are peddling them around the streets are all guilty.

"The first report, saying that I ran the gauntlet over the Mayor, appearing in his office in person with a Mr. Clapp to secure permission to erect a tabernacle for my meetings, and aided to put up a tabernacle contrary to a city ordinance, is a positive lie. I have never seen Mr. Eno in my life, was never in his office, never preached in any tabernacle in Long Beach, and so far as I know the only tabernacle they ever had was torn down before I ever went to the town to hold meetings.

"His second statement is another lie. He has said that I owe a Mr. Davis in Long Beach a bill of $60 for hauling. I have here a letter from Mr. Davis which anyone can see. It is dated September 30, from Long Beach, and reads:

"To whom it may concern: I take pleasure in stating that Dr. E. J. Bulgin of Long Beach does not owe me anything. I have done business with Dr. Bulgin ever since he came to our town, and my business relations with him have been exceedingly pleasant. I always got my money from Dr. Bulgin when I called for it. (Signed.) W. H. Davis, proprietor of Davis Transfer Company."

FROM NORTH CLINA.

"I see no purpose in these statements and in repetitions of them except the malicious one of an effort to injure my work and to destroy my influence among the people whom I am trying to help," continued Bulgin. "If I had been guilty—which I am not—of both of these charges, what spirit is this manifested? What a spirit is it that prompts a man to come from Long Beach and circulate that report in the ears of a lot of gossip mongers? All I have to say in conclusion is, God bless the poor old hypocritical sinner that did it. I can forgive him and love him, but I don't want him to do it again; for I can tell you the truth, that I am from North Carolina and folks had better not roil me too much. I'll close by saying that Mr. Eno of Long Beach has lied about me, but let us pray for his salvation."

Then Bulgin fell to preaching.

SENATOR SCOTT PRAISES HARBOR.

LONG BEACH ENTERTAINS DISTINGUISHED GUEST.

West Virginian, Just Back from Taft Trip, Prophesies Great Things for San Pedro Basin and Talks About Filipinos, Civilization and the Gee String.

LONG BEACH, Oct. 1.—Senator N. B. Scott, of West Virginia, was the guest of the Board of Trade this morning on a trip to the breakwater and up the inner harbor as far as Mormon Island.

The launch Fashion left the wharf at Long Beach at 10 o'clock with Senator Scott, Henry B. Barbour, W. W. Lowe, J. B. Losee, R. S. Oakford, W. J. Horne, Col. J. I. Hill, G. W. Hayher, L. M. Hardy, A. C. Malone, J. M. Passell, F. M. Sandiss, H. M. E. Schroeter, F. C. Roberts, C. F. Bond, Dr. H. O. Bates, W. Scott Smith, George F. Hirsch, J. D. Davies, and J. A. Plimpton on board. The party swung by San Pedro at a lively clip, going up the bay to Mormon Island, where the Senator was made acquainted with the harbor plans for a turning basin as proposed by the government engineers, and the claims and suggestions put forth by the railroads and the Bannings. He asked many questions and answered as many.

The Senator is not a member of either the Harbor or Appropriation Committees. He says that as a rule the senators and congressmen are unfamiliar with water conditions except as they exist in their own jurisdiction, and as a rule they abide by the reports of the government engineers.

Coming back the launch skirted in close to the breakwater and Senator Scott viewed with interest the massive masonry being erected to afford protection to ships in stormy weather. A similar breakwater has been erected at Cavite in the Philippines, at a cost of $4,000,000, and its efficiency was demonstrated during the visit there of the Senator from which he has just returned, when vessels from many countries safely rode out a typhoon within the bay.

WHAT SCOTT SAYS.

As the launch cleared the breakwater and headed for Long Beach, Senator Scott took a look around, and said:

"You have a magnificent harbor here, capable of sheltering hundreds of ships. Los Angeles will be negligent of her own interests if she neglects any point that might hinder the government engineers from carrying out the plans they have decided upon.

"The Pacific Coast has but few harbors, and this is one of them. It will be only three or four years until the growing trade of the East will be sending ships of every nation into San Pedro Harbor. What is needed for Los Angeles, Long Beach, and San Pedro citizens is to as soon as possible establish a line of steamers for a direct and established trade, touching at Honolulu, Guam and Manila, with steamer connections with Hongkong, Singapore and other ports.

"The Philippine trade alone is going to assume enormous proportions. Cocoanuts will form one important shipment, and the hemp industry will supply the world. Sugar will be another valuable cargo; and as for paper, a rank grass, ten feet long, furnishes a pulp from which paper of all grades can be manufactured cheaper than the raw material can be bought in the United States."

GET MORE MONEY.

The Senator thought the lengthening of the breakwater another half mile would make San Pedro Harbor one of the safest and best in the world, and he advised that an effort be made to secure an additional appropriation with this end in view.

Senator Scott during the trip spoke enthusiastically of the progress being made among the Filipinos. A thousand years of oppression and robbery have made them suspicious and they are not inclined to believe anything you tell them, nor do they expect you to believe them. But the American system of schools and manual training is a great civilizer. Senator Scott said: "Once you separate the Filipino from the gee string and introduce him to the pantaloons, coat and shoes of the universal Yankee, and the battle is half won."

Senator Scott will be entertained at luncheon by the Board of Trade at Hotel Julian, Monday noon, and in the afternoon will go to Pasadena. He will spend a few days here with his sister, Mrs. H. O. Bates, and will then go north to Fort Casey, the most northern military post of the United States. He brought Mrs. Bates several souvenirs, one of them a hemp rug of most beautiful design, woven by hand by a native Filipino woman.

BIG BAND CARD.

That Donatelli's Italian band will prove a big drawing card for Long Beach was demonstrated today at the opening concerts, when the crowd filled every seat in the sun pavilion, and overflowed on the dance floor until standing room was at a premium and the police were forced to rope a space around the musicians to give them elbow room. Every number was encored. Hundreds of people who could not get upstairs sat around on the railing of the lower pier, and the open space was packed with carriages and autos. Free concerts will be given every afternoon and evening except Mondays.

NOTES OF THE TOWN.

The Edison Electric Company has notified the City Trustees that it will install 1700 lights in the new convention hall without cost to the city.

J. B. Heartwell, president of the First National Bank, and Mrs. Heartwell, leave tomorrow for the East, where Mr. Heartwell will attend the National Bankers' Convention at Washington, D. C. Mrs. J. F. Heartwell will accompany them to Colorado Springs.

Monday morning the United Improvement Company begins work on its gas plant in the San Gabriel River district. The company will enter into competition with the Edison and Lowe companies and furnish gas at $1, with a further reduction to subscribers of its debenture bonds. The principal main will enter Long Beach from the west between Ninth and Tenth streets and extend to Alamitos.

Dr. T. G. Harriman yesterday received a telegram announcing the death of his brother, Fred A. Harriman, at Hampton, Iowa, in an auto accident; No particulars were given.

With appropriate ceremonies the corner-stone of the new Psychological Temple was laid this afternoon on Second street between Pine and Locust.

The Board of Trade will hold a regular meeting Tuesday evening, at which time steps will be taken to incorporate and organize a Chamber of Commerce to further enlarge on the work of the Board of Trade for the development of Long Beach.

OCEAN PARK.

DAUGHTER OF ROYALTY.

OCEAN PARK, Oct. 1.—Julia B. Lawrason, who died recently at the home of her brother, Paul Bettridge on South Second street, was descended from blue blood. She was the daughter of Rev. Canon Bettridge, dean of St. Paul's, Woodstock, Canada, who was a direct lineal descendant of the Earl of Warwick. She was born in Southampton, England, in November, 1829. Her father served on the staff of Wellington at the battle of Waterloo, and among his prized souvenirs was an autograph letter from the Duke of York. As a mark of distinction for military service by special mandamus of the King, he was retired on half-pay for his lifetime. Her sister was the wife of Lord de Blaquiere.

Mrs. Lawrason several years ago suffered a severe attack of typhoid fever. This affected her mind, and for the past few years she has been making her home with her brother on this beach, having come here from London, Ontario, Canada, where her husband died, he having been a son of the Mayor of that city.

SANTA MONICA.

BUY FOR LUMBER YARDS.

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 1.—The Consolidated Lumber Company of Los Angeles has purchased a tract of four acres in Santa Monica, and is to at once establish yards here. The purchase of the property was made by W. H. Wheatley, vice-president of the company. The tract acquired consists of the Machado property, lying between the Southern Pacific tracks and Colorado avenue and Second and Fourth streets. The plot will at once be leveled and ample sheds and buildings will be erected.

MISS SUTTON RECEIVED.

The reception and ball given at the Third-street Casino in honor of Miss May Godfrey Sutton, champion wielder of the racquet, was one of the most pleasing affairs in the social life of Santa Monica in recent years. The scene of the affair quite appropriately was located on the tennis courts on which Miss Sutton had five years before begun to acquire a knowledge of the game. The courts and Casino had been prettily arranged, palms, pampas grass and geraniums being generously used in the ornamentations. The entire company joined in the grand march, and at its termination all came to a stand in a great circle about the dancing hall. The music ceased, and Mayor T. H. Dudley stepped forward, and in a happy speech of good cheer presented to the honored champion a token as showing the high esteem in which she is held by her Santa Monica friends. This token consisted of an oval berry bowl of wrought silver, carrying this graven inscription: "May Godfrey Sutton. From her Santa Monica friends. Southern California champion 1900, American champion 1904, Champion of England 1905." Befitting response was made on the part of the champion by R. O. Bruce, her brother-in-law. The committees on reception, banquet, music, decorations, favors and invitation consisted of the leading society ladies of the city, and to them great credit is due for the complete success of the affair.

SEASHORE JOTTINGS.

The Theta Sigma Society, whose membership includes High School graduates, has organized for the winter's social events by the election of officers as follows: Miss Zoe Watkins, president; Vincent Shutt, vice-president; Moe Fogel, secretary; Miss Alice Spies, treasurer. Meetings are to be held regularly and frequently.

The Lincoln High School Athletic Association has organized for the season, and will promote athletics. The officers are: Alfred Reed, president; Moe Fogel, vice-president; John Henry, treasurer; Miss Buelah Wilson, secretary.

The four-masted lumber schooner Volunteer has arrived at Port Los Angeles. She is from Coos Bay, Oregon.

Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Hall, New York City; Miss E. C. Boardman, Los Angeles; P. J. Grogan, Ventura; Mrs. Ella H. Goodrich, St. Louis; Miss Dorothy M. Grace, St. Louis; W. M. Evans, Worthing, Minn., are at the Arcadia.

DOWNEY.

TWO PRESIDENTS LOST.

At a meeting of the Los Nietos Bank directors Clinton Blythe of Long Beach was elected president and Dr. J. J. Rowly, vice-president. The election was necessitated by the bank's misfortune in losing two presidents by death within one month, S. W. Blythe and D. P. Smart.

Walnut growers are jubilant. The association has set the price for the present crop at 13 cents for soft shells and 12½ cents for hard shells.

POMONA.

REMEMBERED BY MASONS.

POMONA, Oct. 1.—About fifty of Ira C. Carter's Masonic friends surprised him after a lodge meeting last night with a banquet and presented him with a silver tea service. Mr. Carter will soon leave with his family for Honolulu.

G. W. Knesthardt and family are soon to remove to Northern California.

A. W. Rickards left today for Zanesville, O., having been called there by the sudden illness of a relative.

Rev. T. J. Cornish preached in the Redlands Baptist Church today and Rev. Mr. Fuller of Los Angeles occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church here.

THE PEERLESS TALKING MACHINE furnishes great sport and amusement for the children. If you don't believe it just get one of the handsome 10-inch disc machines that The Times is giving away to its subscribers. You can make your selection of records from a large stock, which The California Music Company have on hand. Funny pieces of all kinds, Martial music and band pieces all of the latest composition. Nothing old or out of date.

Every subscriber who wants a machine is requested to purchase a certain number of records, but they are given plenty of time in which to do this, in order that it shall not prove a burden to them.

Full particulars may be secured by communicating with the Times Office, corner First and Broadway, and from any of the regular agents out of town.

Original California Cooking Recipes.

Prepare your food in California style. The 1200 recipes in The Times Cook Book are the original contributions brought out by the Prize Cooking Recipe Contest conducted by The Times. They are from the pen of the best chefs and housewives in the Southwest. Among them are 76 showing how to prepare and serve old-time Spanish and Mexican dishes. Just delicious! Price, cloth-bound, 25 cents; in oilcloth cover, 35 cents. Postage, 5 cents extra.

If You Want to Go East C. Haydock,

Agent Illinois Central R.R. 234 S. Spring.

The Home Circle.

The home can be furnished with excellent entertainment by one of the large PEERLESS TALKING MACHINES. If you are a subscriber to The Times you can get one of these machines absolutely free, with the understanding that you are to purchase a certain number of records on contract from The Southern California Music Company, 332 South Broadway, distributors for The Times.

There is nothing like this Talking Machine for a cheap and at the same time instructive form of entertainment for the family in the evening. Call up Press 1, for full particulars.

"Do you feel you are growing weaker?"
"Is there a burning pain in the throat?"
"Have you a pain behind the breast bone?"
"Do you cough worse night and morning?"
"Do you have to sit up at night to get breath?"

More than 90 per cent. of all sickness is due to neglected Catarrh.

Symptoms of Ear Troubles

"Is your hearing failing?"
"Do your ears discharge?"
"Do your ears itch and burn?"
"Are the ears dry and scaly?"
"Have you pain behind the ears?"
"Is there throbbing in the ears?"
"Is there a buzzing sound heard?"
"Do you have a ringing in the ears?"
"Are there cracking sounds heard?"
"Is your hearing bad cloudy days?"
"Do you have earaches occasionally?"
"Are there sounds like steam escaping?"
"Do your ears hurt you when you blow your nose?"
"Do you constantly hear noises in the ears?"
"Do you hear better some days than others?"
"Do the noises in your ears keep you awake?"
"When you blow your nose do the ears crack?"
"Is hearing worse when you have a cold?"
"Is roaring like a waterfall in the head?"

WHY I CURE ACUTE AND CHRONIC DISEASES

It's by personal attention and skill that I accomplish definite results

Weakness

Decline of functional activity, strength and vitality is nearly always traceable to a disturbance in the functions of the reproductive system. Under my treatment functional equilibrium is restored, the nerve irritation reduced, the circulation increased and strength renewed.

Contracted Diseases

Become chronic through improper treatment; painful, caustic remedies are the direct cause of stricture, ulceration and deep-seated inflammation of the urinary tract. Chances are that every case now chronic could have been cured in one week to ten days with the right treatment, scientifically applied. I am confident I cure these ailments more quickly than anyone, with less pain or inconvenience to patients.

Varicocele

My treatments effect a cure in four to six days and the cure will be PERMANENT. Normal circulation is quickly restored, the pains cease, the swelling subsides, the patient's strength and vitality improve immediately.

SALES OF REALTY.

Several Week-end Transfers of Property—Deal on Figueroa Street at Record Price.

The following sales of realty made late last week reached this office Saturday too late for the Sunday issue:

Murray & Stewart have sold for Mrs. O. P. Posey, to Walter J. Trask, a lot 73x180 feet, with fine house thereon, 1113 South Figueroa, formerly the home of Herman Silver, for $25,000. This establishes a new plane of values on this street at that point.

Leavitt & Geller have sold to Jennie M. Winchester for John Shingler, the northeast corner of Budlong and Thirty-ninth street, 102x145 feet, improved with modern nine-room residence, consideration $7500; also to Geo. W. Adams for F. M. Simpson & Co., a five-room cottage at No. 3415 Hough avenue, on lot 35x70 feet, consideration $2500. They also sold for Bruce Hess and W. A. Geller, to Alice J. Loughbrough, lot 25, Harry L. Bennett's Figueroa Place, 45x135 feet, consideration $500; and to C. O. Hawley for Horace J. Cline an eight-room residence, No. 823 South Union avenue, consideration named $8000. To E. Wilcut, for J. P. Carter, a two-story eight-room house at 213 West Thirty-ninth street, lot 50x150 feet, for $4500.

Frank A. Tetley has sold for James W. Smith to Edward W. Smith of Riverside, 25x122 feet, on west side of Main street, between Eighth and Ninth streets, Riverside, containing one brick building occupied by the Boston Shoe Store, for $11,500. Fred Vallon of Los Angeles to G. M. Carrigan, Riverside, 70x170 feet, south side of Seventh street, between Main and Market streets, Riverside, for $2100. Mr. Carrigan will improve this lot by erecting a building for business purposes and also a livery stable. William Pardy of San Francisco to W. E. White of Riverside, lot 15 and the westerly 31 feet of lot 16, block 7, White's addition to Riverside, for $1700. Mr. White will build an addition and improve the property.

Following are the recent transfers reported by Millsap & Maynard: G. Hage to H. B. Smith, lot in Vernon Park Tract, $1000; H. T. Johnson, lots 24 and 25, Compton Avenue Tract, $1900; Mr. Warren to A. T. Baldwin, lots 14 and 15, Moneta avenue Walnut Grove Tract, $1600; to A. H. Duvall, lots 5 and 6, Strong-Dickinson Central Park Tract, $3800; Mrs. J. Dorsey to Bowen & Dalton, 10 acres on Thirty-eighth and Compton avenue, $20,000. John Gorman to Ben Colling, lots 1 and 2, Central Park Tract, $4150; L. S. Shepherd to Bowen & Dalton, twenty-eight acres lying on Vernon avenue close to Central and running back to Thirty-eighth street, for $65,000. Mr. Shepherd purchased the tract four years ago for about $17,000, and thus clears $48,000. Ben Colling sells to A. K. Macomber, lots 1 and 2, Strong & Dickinson's Central Park Tract, for $5000.

MURPHY REOPENS.

Immense Crowd Greets the Gospel Temperance Hero on Commencement of Fall Campaign.

Francis Murphy began his winter gospel temperance campaign with an auspicious opening in Blanchard Hall last night. The hall was crowded and people filled the doors and stood in the vestibule in their anxiety to once more hear the noted speaker, who made his first appearance since illness compelled him to close his meetings several months ago.

Arthur Letts presided at the meeting, and besides the well-known people associated with Mr. Murphy in the work, Judge York, S. P. Mulford and many others swelled the crowd on the platform.

Murphy was greeted with applause when he appeared and again when he got up to speak on the subject of "Liberty." The old warhorse of temperance was as vigorous as ever and kept his audience in laughter and tears by turns with his "Murphyisms." In referring to the fact that when he was a lad they put liquor on the table, he said: "We had the liberty to put it on the table, but we didn't have enough to take it off."

He pleaded with men and women to take an interest in their neighbors. "A good many of us will go up to heaven and fall to get in," he said, "because we've never done anything for our neighbors. We've always been gone on God and ourselves, as if God was very dependent upon us."

Judge York, Frank Finlayson, S. P. Mulford and others made short congratulatory talks upon the recovery of Mr. Murphy and the character of the work he is doing for humanity. Mr. Mulford suggested that if the people who are so anxious to give ground for a City Hall will give the Murphy Association a lot, the latter will build a Murphy Hall. The suggestion was received with great applause.

The vocal numbers were all fine last night. Stella Callendar sang in a beautiful contralto voice, "The Lord Is Mindful of His Own;" Mr. Carroll a fine baritone solo, "The New Born King," and little Annie Row, who received an ovation when her name was announced, sang most tenderly and sweetly "The Nazarene." As an encore she sang "The Slumber Song."

A "Run"—and Runs

It takes a lot of runs to enable a baseball team to win in a walk.

The "run" that the English Walking Coat (or as it is otherwise known—the Cut-away Frock) has enjoyed has enabled it to win in a walk from all other styles worn by professional men.

The English Walking Coat is not becoming to all men, but to those that it does become, it lends a distinction and a different-from-the mob air that can be given to the wearer by no other suit style.

We Will Receive Bids For Our Clothing Stock.
As advertised, we have retired from the clothing business on the first of October. Today and tomorrow we invite bids from clothing dealers in Southern California on the balance of our stock.
During the period of these negotiations we have retained several of our salesmen, and, while our department is practically closed, we will in the meantime allow the public to make selection from the stock at the lowest price named—$7.50 for your choice of any suit or overcoat in the stock.

Timely Tailor Talk
To the particular man we would say that we are just as particular about the clothes we sell as you are about the clothes you wear.
To the professional man we argue that we can please you because we are "professional" tailors.
To the business man we say that we can "suit" you because we are business men ourselves. The man of taste will find our handsome fall woolens as tastefully selected as he could wish.
To the economical man we say—smart suits at $30 and $35.
